

SHOOTS HIS WIFE'S LOVER.

Then He Cares For Victim Until Help Arrives.

Erring Spouse Said to Have Admitted Her Improper Conduct.

Traverse City, Mich., Aug. 30.—Pursuing his recent wife, a bride of but six months, and her paramour, until he caught them in the woods near Maple City, Asa Allen, 21 years old, last night shot William Knickerbocker, aged 24, through the neck, then carefully attended him until a physician and officers arrived.

Knickerbocker is dying, the bullet having severed the spinal cord. Allen lived on a farm near Millers Hill, Leelanau County, and Knickerbocker, who is his second cousin, was hired hand. For some time Allen was suspicious that all was not right and kept watch. Yesterday morning Allen discharged Knickerbocker and told him not to come on the farm again. Knickerbocker left immediately.

Early last evening, Mrs. Allen eluded her husband and joined Knickerbocker, who had been waiting for her near the farm. The husband missed her a few minutes afterward, and 15 minutes after they went was on the trail, armed with a revolver. Handicapped by a woman, Knickerbocker, who became aware they were being pursued, sought to hide with her in a thicket. Allen found them, however, and at the point of the revolver made Knickerbocker come out.

"Where is my wife?" he demanded. "In there," answered Knickerbocker, and that Allen fired.

As Knickerbocker dropped, John Humsberger, 14 years old, who had heard the sound of the shot, came running up. "Get the sheriff and a wagon; I've killed a man," said Allen, who was perfectly calm.

When help arrived Allen was found attending Knickerbocker, having placed his coat under his head.

Knickerbocker, who could not talk, whispered to Deputy Sheriff Mike Horn, of Empire, and Dr. Fralick, of Maple City, that he would make no complaint against Allen, where he is in jail awaiting the result of Knickerbocker's injuries. He admits the shooting and gives his reasons. It is stated that Mrs. Allen admitted that his suspicions of her conduct before he discharged Knickerbocker were well founded. She is but 18 years old.

Knickerbocker has an aged mother at Manalona. Allen's parents live near Maple City.

A battalion of the guards, using the ground for drill purposes, ceased their manoeuvres to observe the strange sight of the aeroplane circling swiftly over the field.

The burglar made good his escape.

him in the sum of $200, which he will be allowed to go, providing he goes to work. If nobody comes forward he will come up for sentence next week.

The Terminal Station was again in danger by the attitude of a redskin, John Joseph, alias Lawrence Thomas. The old story of that yellow distilled water was the cause. Station Constable Stevens hurried the red man to the cells, and this morning he had to pay $10 or go down for 21 days.

The impelling personality of Victor Moore in "The Talk of New York" attracted John Mills, 13 Burrill street, to the Grand Opera House on Saturday night. After the second act he started to smoke a cigarette in his seat on the top shelf. He was requested to refrain from such a pastime, whereat he said many unkind things to the usher, and also smacked his face. P. C. Cameron took him away, and he donated $10 this morning.

It is a serious offence to get drunk on Sunday, but Mary Ann Wright, Robert Lacey, John Lacey, did, and each reluctantly paid $5.

The police say John Brown, 60 Locomotive street, loathes work, and hangs around haunts of disrepute. He was charged with being a common vagrant, and was remanded till to-morrow. His mother attempted to plead for him, but broke down, and when John went to testify himself she rushed out to embrace him, imploring him not to go on the stand.

When the prisoners were removed Mrs. Brown caused a commotion in the courtroom by crying loudly for her boy.

William Carson and George Galbraith tried to argue about their dogs' tendencies to wander being excusable, but it was no use. Each paid $2.

The case against George Allen, 182 Hughson street north, was adjourned till to-morrow.

Ed. Syers, Bartonville, was charged with assaulting Evangeline Dyer. It appeared that she was on his property on a load of hay, and he told her to go away, and lifted her down by the arm. He was fined $2, which he refused to pay.

"You will go to jail for 14 days," said His Worship. However, friends persuaded him to pay.

Josephine Visheau was brought up again, and was sent to the Mercer for 12 months, instead of St. Mary's Industrial School, as she is past the age limit to go there.

1,400 DEAD.

Mexico City, Aug. 30.—A conservative estimate of the damage wrought at Monterey by the flood places the dead at fourteen hundred and property loss at $12,000,000. The river has now gone down, and the danger is over.

Up to the present time 650 bodies have been recovered. One entire quarter of the city of Monterey was destroyed, and 15,000 persons to-day are homeless. The water mains are useless and the city is consequently without drinking water; neither is there light or street car service for the power plant has been seriously damaged. It will be impossible to resume traffic service for a week, and as a result the city is threatened with a food famine.

The slaughter houses have been destroyed. Ten thousand persons are being fed on bread, coffee and soup by the municipal authorities. Thousands of persons have taken refuge in the cathedral and the churches.

Notices of Births, Marriages and Deaths which are inserted in the Daily Times also appear in the Semi-Weekly Times. 50c first insertion; 25c for each subsequent insertion.

LYNCHES TWO.

GEORGIANS BURN AND SHOOT ONE COLORED MAN.

Take Other From Train—Seek One Victim's Wife—White Planter is Killed in Battle With Escaped Convict.

Soperton, Ga., Aug. 30.—Following the shooting and burning of Ben Clark, an escaped negro convict, by a posse early to-day and the killing of James Durden, a planter, who was a member of the posse, in the fight with Clark. John Sweeney, another negro, was taken from a passenger train near Tarrytown to-night and lynched by the posse.

Sweeney was accused of harboring Clark. The posse then set out in search of Sweeney's wife.

Intense excitement prevails in this section, and it is feared that more lynchings may follow.

Four other members of the posse were wounded in the battle with Clark to-day, and one—Sheriff James Lester, of Montgomery County—probably will die.

The negro continued to fire until his ammunition was exhausted. He was then overpowered and his body riddled with bullets. He wore a steel breast-plate that turned Winchester bullets. A pile of logs was covered with crude turpentine and the body was cremated.

In the excitement the woman escaped. Mr. Sweeney was caught near here late this afternoon. He was carried aboard a north bound train to a secluded wood near Tarrytown, where his body was riddled with bullets after being swung up to a sapling.

Feeling against Clark was intense because he had threatened, it is said, to kill Nicholas Adams, a merchant of Kibbe County, "and a hundred others."

At Mountain Theatre this week the Summer Stock Company will produce the English society comedy drama, "A Woman's Defence." This play is similar to "The Lion and the Mouse," and as the company has several new members appearing to-night for the first time, an excellent performance should be the result.

WAS MAD. Stoker Went Crazy With Heat on Liner. Woman Grabs Him Before He Got Overboard.

New York, Aug. 30.—Passengers on the Hamburg-American liner Graf Waldersee, which arrived to-day, told of a thrilling episode that occurred on Tuesday night when a heat-maddened stoker ran amuck in the first cabin companionway and was barely restrained from jumping into the sea by fifteen members of the ship's company. The stoker is Carl Hauschildt, a huge young German.

The heat seemed to unbalance his mind and a guard was set over him. Somehow he eluded the guard and rushed through one of the companionways of the first cabin. The first person he encountered was eight-year-old Frederick Berger, of North Hampton, Mass., a deaf mute. Hauschildt caught the little lad in his arms and rushed on ward with him. Miss Grace O'Shea, of Shanghai, China, threw herself upon the stoker, seized him by the arm and screamed for help. The young woman was being dragged along the companionway when Albert Mildeberg burst from his stateroom and grappled with the maniac.

The stoker dropped the boy, flung off Miss O'Shea and gave battle to Mildeberg. Fifteen members of the crew came to rescue. The madman fled to the deck and was diving for the rail when a sailor flung himself forward and tripped him.

LONELY LIFE OF A HERDER. His Only Companion a Couple of Dogs and as Many Thousand Sheep.

All farms of eighty acres and up ought to have a small flock of sheep. When fenced for them there is little expense in keeping them, as they eat mostly what would be wasted by the other stock. They kill out the weeds and bring in money for the wool at a time when the farmer usually has little else to turn into money.

Nearly all the wool raised in the United States is of one class, the Missouri River is medium wool. This is because the best mutton sheep are of this class. The Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana wools bring the highest price; they are cleaner and consequently shrink less and are mostly staple wools.

Wools from the above sections and neighboring States are called bright wools; those from western Minnesota, western Iowa and Dakotas and eastern Nebraska and Kansas are called semi-bright.

The range wools are usually known as western wools and are quoted generally by the name of the state in which they are raised, such as Montana, Oregon, Colorado and Utah wools. They all have characteristics which distinguish them, owing to the soil, climate and the range conditions.

The range wools, according to Fur News, are much better in breeding and staple than a dozen years ago, because the sheepmen have been steadily grading up their flocks with the best blood that could be secured, regardless of price. The result is that their wools are bringing nearly as if not quite as much as the eastern brights wools of the same grades.

Some of the wool growers of Montana and Wyoming own or control 50,000 to 100,000 sheep. Frequently these big flocks are divided up into half a dozen flocks in the hands of share men, who care for the sheep for a share of the wool and lambs.

Except in lambing time the sheep are divided into bands of about 2,000, each band in care of a herder. During the summer the mountains make the best range for them. In the winter there is some snow on the ground and lots of ranges can be used that at other times are useless on account of no water.

The sheep herder's life is a very lonely one. He is provided with a covered wagon, which is hauled out on the range, where he is left with his sheep and perhaps a dog or two and provisions for a couple of weeks. His duties consist of following and watching the band as they feed out (from the feed ground around the wagon) in the morning till about noon, when they lie down, rest and chew their ends. About 2 o'clock he gets them up and starts them back so as to graze back to the bed grounds for the night. In about two weeks the camp mover comes around and moves him three or four miles to another bed ground.

When shearing time comes the bands are driven up to some favorable spot in turn and shorn. Often times this takes place on the open prairie. The wool is sacked and piled up and sometimes lies there uncovered for a month before it is hauled, in some cases fifty to seventy-five miles, to the railroad.
