THE RING. KETCHELL HAS NO CHANCE. Philadelphia, July 29.—Stanley Ketchell showed in his recent bout with Bill Papke that he has only a remote chance of winning the world's heavyweight title from Jack Johnson.

Ketchell and Papke had met three times before. They first met in June, 1908, in Milwaukee. Ketchell getting the decision after ten rounds of milling. The following September the pair met again in Los Angeles. Papke became the champion by knocking Ketchell out in the twelfth round.

Papke did not hold his long, for the fourth time they met for the third time, and Ketchell shattered all ring traditions by battering Papke into a helpless wreck and obtaining the title on this. This bout, which was fought in Colma, lasted eleven rounds.

This year the same men were matched for fourth time. They met for the first time because of his triumph over Jack Johnson. Instead, Papke gave him the hardest kind of a lesson. Ketchell who absorbed all the punches Ketchell sent him and fought back vigorously. He had no trouble with Ketchell whose defence was next to nothing; and there were several times when the champion was groggy. Referee Roche gave a great decision to Ketchell, which caused a great protest, as fair-minded critics assert that Papke was at least entitled to a draw.

Ketchell is matched to meet Johnson for the title in the autumn. After Ketchell polished off Jack O'Brien so handsomely many believed that he would have a good chance of beating Johnson, who made a poor showing against the Philadelphia giant just a few weeks before Ketchell stopped him.

This recent bout has changed this. Now most fight sharps believe that there is little chance for Ketchell to add heavy-weight championship to his other title. They point out that Ketchell is getting a wide open fighter that Johnson will knock his head off with his counters. Ketchell's punches. There is no doubt that Johnson is a careful and wary fighter, and will make Ketchell do the leading.

If a middleweight like Papke can knock off Ketchell, what chance has the white man against the black giant, who weighs more than 200 pounds, and who carries a wicked punch. Another obstacle in Ketchell's path is Sam Langford. Ketchell is the type of man who is just built for the New England colored man. Sam is a one-punch knocker out with either hand, and besides is a very fast and scientific worker. If Papke's average against Ketchell's groggy how could he stand up before the cruelties of the black marvel?

THE RING.

BRITT BEATEN BY SUMMERS. London, Aug. 3.—Johnny Summers, the English featherweight pugilist defeated Jimmy Britt, the American light-weight in the ninth round at the Memorial grounds in Westham this afternoon. The contest was scheduled to go 20 rounds, and was for $500 a side, and half of the gate receipts.

Britt, who was somewhat fat and slow, was outclassed from the beginning, and was knocked down in the eighth round. He was knocked down in the eighth round, and took the count of seven, but came back fresh in the third round. Summers had the advantage in the succeeding rounds and when the gong rang for the sixth, he attacked Britt furiously, raining blows upon his body and face. The American was worn down and finally dropped flat on his back, and was counted out.

Freddie Welsh has challenged the winner. They met in the city by two different routes, the former coming by way of Spirit River, Dunvegan, Peace River, Crossing, Lesser Slave Lake, and Athabasca Landing, and the latter by pack trail to Sturgeon Lake, and Lac Ste. Anne. By the former route Grand Prairie is 500 miles from Edmonton, and by the latter 300. Mr. Diller left his home on July 12 and Mr. Diller on July 13. They arrived in Edmonton on the same day.

Mr. Diller whose homestead is on Bear Creek, and who is twelve miles from the post office, at Saskatchewan Lake, is in charge of the party. He is the ill-fated Lampan party from which he separated at Spirit River proceeding to Grand Prairie and joining on a quarter section of one of the two townships surveyed the year previous by Surveyor St. Cyr. He has established a horse ranch in what he says is the greatest ranching country out of doors.

In coming to Edmonton I hit the pack trail to Sturgeon Lake, crossed the Spirit River at the mouth of the McLeod and came on to Edmonton by way of Lac Ste. Anne. The trail is not quite impassable, but it is a great feat of the way a case of putting your horses up to their heels in the muckers and mud holes.

THE BIDDING COMMENCES. Visalia, Cal., Aug. 3.—An offer for a match between J. J. Jeffries and Jack Johnson was made today by the directors of the Yule County Agricultural association, whose officers claim to be backed by fifty business men who will subscribe a purse of $50,000 for the fight if it can be held on September 16th during the annual fair.

The directors assert that the money will be deposited in any bank designated as soon as the pugilists agree on terms. PULLIAM'S SUCCESSOR CHOSEN. Louisville, Ky., Aug. 2.—At the meeting of officials of the National League at Zeebuck Hotel within an hour after the trial of Harry Clay Pulliam, J. C. John A. Heydels, secretary of the league, and Mr. Pulliam's warmest friend was chosen to be his successor. The officials returned from the funeral and immediately went into session. There was considerable resentment voiced by some over too hasty action in this matter.

The directors chose Charles Murphy, Chicago, Garry Herrmann, Cincinnati and Frank J. Glavin, St. Louis, to a committee to select a suitable monument for the Pulliam grave. In addition, they provided that every player in the league should wear a cap for thirty days.

BIG MONEY IN BASEBALL. Baseball is a $30,000,000 business proposition. The national sport is certainly a lusty infant and baseball is an infant. Despite the phenomenal development of the past ten years, the game is just getting a start.

Last year 30,000,000 paid to see games in organized leagues. While the statement may appear radical, it seems certain that within a decade this will be multiplied by five. Cities and towns in the United States have a total of 30,000,000. Estimating upon 20 games a season for every fan, it is easy to see the total multiplied not by 5, but 10.

In the organization phase of the game, 32 leagues, 416 teams, and 6,500 players. At Forbes field, Pittsburgh, the other day, 32,000 paid to watch a game. Conservatives believe the total baseball attendance this year will be 100,000,000. From the dollar side, baseball is one of the world's greatest industries. The estimated value of the major league's clubs is $40,000,000. Big league parks represent an equal value. Pittsburgh's plant represents an outlay of $1,600,000.

What causes this tremendous increase in values, when 10 or 12 years ago, leagues were near desolation and fought with a bitterness that would have made Marlon, the "Smack Fox" weep? Business men have systematized baseball until the organization companies with a Harriman raised who 15 years ago loose policy kept all but a dozen or so clubs from making money, today it is hard to find a team not on a paying basis.

Instead of being looked upon with suspicion as a man who attends a ball game, as was once the case, we now hear of baseball as a pulpit throne, and some of the most partisans of "fists" are found among divines. Baseball attracts clean-minded, clean-limbed athletes, and had-headed business men. In its march to the front the rough edges have been knocked away. Tennis, golf, hockey, football, basketball, all have class following—baseball has mass following.

The game has been developed by three organizations—the National and American leagues and the American Association. The organization bearing these names represents the business organizations, that have struggled, flourished and often died. They have led the way because they have systematized and controlled the big trade have. Success demands organization, for the major leagues do a $500,000 business every month. Last year the attendance in the majors was 7,069,122 and the weekly disbursements $100,000, which in six months means an expenditure of $2,000,000. And so it is all down the line in lessening figures.

There is a business unique in itself. A business conducted upon a cash basis, that is paid for what it sells at the time of sale and pays for what it buys at the time of buying. Baseball expenses are many and high. Salaries range from Hans Wagner's $12,000 a season down to the $1,800 of the recruit. If one team was to secure the men regarded as leaders in their positions, the salary list for the nine would be $550,000 a week, while necessary salaries would run the sum up to $100,000. Every day during the season 300 balls are used. This means 30,000 a season, and at $15 a dozen they cost $3,500,000. Babe average $150, and the 416 teams manage to buy 15,300 every year, at a rate of $30,000. Uniforms average $12 and every player must have two, which means $156,000. Gloves range from 4 to $7 a pair, and $70 for every player runs the glove bill up to $500,000. Shoes cost $8 a pair and two or three pairs are worn out every season. The shoe bill near $100,000. Protectors, masks and other incidentals cost $50,000, while salaries are estimated at $6,000,000.

GRAND PRAIRIE IS THE CANAAN OF THE WEST

W. M. Bernard and G. Diller, Ranchers, tell of This Great Country. Undeveloped Because of Lack of Roads—North Behind Its Merit—In Campaign for Better Roads.

There are at present in the city two ranchers from the Grand Prairie country. W. M. Bernard, of Beaver Lodge, and G. Diller, of Bear Creek. Each of them has his story to tell of the marvelous possibilities of the Western Canadian, and each a tale of woeful concern for the roads by which this land flowing with milk and honey is accessible to settlers.

They tell of the city by two different routes, the former coming by way of Spirit River, Dunvegan, Peace River, Crossing, Lesser Slave Lake, and Athabasca Landing, and the latter by pack trail to Sturgeon Lake, and Lac Ste. Anne. By the former route Grand Prairie is 500 miles from Edmonton, and by the latter 300. Mr. Diller left his home on July 12 and Mr. Diller on July 13. They arrived in Edmonton on the same day.

CREES FEAR LUNATIC.

Leave Hunting Grounds and Are Now Staring at Moose Factory. Ottawa, July 31.—Because one of their number became "lunatic" which in plain English means a violent lunatic, a tribe of Cree Indians who make their trading headquarters at Moose Factory came near starving during the spring just passed. Word of this condition of affairs has reached the department of Indian affairs, and constable Groux, of the Dominion police, has been despatched to bring the insane Indian to an asylum at Hamilton. So superstitious are the Indians regarding insane persons that instead of continuing their usual fishing and hunting occupations, they flocked to Moose Factory. Having very little provisions, they soon became a serious encumbrance and officers of the Moose Factory decided to notify the authorities here. Constable Groux travels via the J. P.R. to Mission B.C. From there an Indian constable of 10 days on the Moose River to his destination will be necessary, some 300 miles. In the old days, this insane Indian would have been killed off without any delay, but in recent years the Indians have come to realize that they will suffer if they are not taken care of, they carry out any such action.

THE CEMENT MERGER. Amalgamation Caused by Attack of Big American Concern. Calgary, July 31.—D. P. McKinnon, general manager of the Western Canada Cement and Coal Company, Limited, and who is also interested in the International Portland Cement Company, was here yesterday regarding the arrangements at present being completed for the consideration of all the cement plants in Canada into one company.

Mr. McKinnon was not in receipt of any definite information regarding the formation of the merger, but he was aware that arrangements had been in progress for over a year past in regard to the proposed amalgamation. He said that the proposed merger was a very good thing for the cement trade in Canada, and it was very necessary. The information was given out that the merger was not to be carried out until August 31, when the steams away. Nevertheless, the merger has been discussed and deeply.

There never was such elaborate precautions taken to guard the life of a monarch. Six Dreadnoughts formed the guard of honor for King Edward and Queen Alexandra who met the Royal guests at Spitzhead. He was taken to the hospital and had the foot amputated. Blanche Sutherland, three years old, died last evening from poison. The cause of the death is supposed to be a poisoned article on the street and eaten it. The coroner viewed the remains and no inquest was held.

POPULAR SUPPORT FOR BRITISH BUDGET. Tactful Ministers Use Telling Arguments in Favor of Additional Dreadnoughts—Union Bill for South Africa. London, Aug. 1.—The government is showing vigorous in consequence of the evidence of popular support of the budget. David Lloyd-George has regained his fight, and is addressing a large audience at Limehouse and Winston Churchill whose prestige has increased since the war. The union bill for South Africa introduced in parliament, marks the achievement of the liberal ministry. It is a great stroke of imperial policy, creating a confederation based on common interests. CZAR IS GUEST OF KING EDWARD

Visit of Russian Monarch Protruded by Two Great Fleets. Cowes, Aug. 2.—The mighty naval power of Great Britain assembled off Cowes today guarding the Czar and Czarinia of Russia on their visit to King Edward. Accompanied by a powerful flotilla of Russian warships the Russian Imperial yacht Standart with the Czar and Czarinia, steamed into harbor this afternoon from Cherbourg accompanied by booming cannon. The present visit of the Czar is making international history. The mission is one of diplomacy, such as Alexander who was to be crated to even the ablest diplomats.

The usually peaceful harbor of Cowes today resembled the setting of a drama. The magnificent sight attracted thousands of spectators. The steers are thronged with police and government agents. Hundreds of Russian police watch to prevent socialist outbreaks. The visit of the Czar is the most portentous event England has experienced for a long time. Ever since it was first announced there have been a series of labor and socialist demonstrations and King Edward's tact has been sorely tested by the imperial visit. The information was given out that the merger was not to be carried out until August 31, when the steams away. Nevertheless, the merger has been discussed and deeply.

CUSTOMS SHOW INCREASE.

Total Increase Ten to Twelve Millions in Current Fiscal Year. Ottawa, Aug. 1.—The customs receipts of the Dominion for July indicates a continued rapid growth in the imports and a return to the record conditions of 1907, with regard to the trade and revenue. For the month just ended the receipts from customs totaled $4,913,166, an increase of $1,850,370 over July of last year, and within half a million of the record figure set in July, 1907. For the first quarter of the fiscal year the customs revenue was $18,003,153, an increase of $3,544,408. Indications point to a total increase in the Dominion revenue of ten to twelve millions during the current fiscal year.
