The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

A "Letter to Editor" which appeared the other day in a New York paper, interested me immensely because of a certain very common feminine foible which it shows up most excellently. It is from a man who is struggling with the domestic help problem.

"During the last ten months," writes the sufferer, "I have been through a regular domestic 'hell' with no less than fourteen women houseworkers. To my several advertisements I have had over 700 replies. Of those selected, two proved to be drunkards, three were utterly incompetent as workers, two discharged themselves by remaining out overnight without either warning or permission, one admitted strange men to the house at two o'clock in the morning, and three left before their first week was out without giving either reason, notice or explanation; one proved to be subject to intermittent insanity; one was a runaway wife whose husband came to seek her, accompanied by a lawyer and a little child; one simply flatly refused to get up in the morning until half an hour after the breakfast hour, and still another was an incorrigible liar and thief."

The "common feminine foible" you may be looking for is in the next paragraph of the sufferer's plaint.

"The most exasperating part of it is that one and all of these failures came with seemingly first-class references from former employers and personal sponsors."

Isn't it a queer quirk of mind which permits otherwise conscientious and self-respecting women to do this sort of thing?

I wonder just how they can bring themselves to do it?

Perhaps because they find it's the only peaceable way to get rid of the discharged employee.

Perhaps they feel like Agnes Repplier, the well-known essayist and traveller, who, in her delightful fashion, tells of strewing recommendations of undesirable guides "broadcast over the earth to be a delusion and a snare to my fellow men," and naively explains her conduct by saying, "It never occurred to me that anyone would regard them seriously, until an acquaintance informed me with some asperity that he had employed a guide on my recommendation and had been cheated by him."

Most likely of all, they do it because they are sorry for the girl and just don't think far enough ahead to be sorry for the mistress they are foisting her upon.

To needlessly tattle to a prospective employer about a maid's small faults, such as inability to iron very well, or imperfection at cooking, is rather unkind.

To condemn a girl and give her a poor reference merely on suspicion is unfair.

To refuse to give a desirable girl a reference merely from irritation with her comes very near being criminal.

But to go to the other extreme and deliberately send out a girl whom you know to be a liar a thief or a drunkard, or in some other way untrustworthy, with a character that glosses over any of these charming little habits, seems to me to be just as unkind and unfair and near-criminal on the other side of the fence.

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—it pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in Plain English, or, Medicine Simplified, 1008 pages, over 1000 illustrations, newly revised up-to-date Edition, paper-bound, sent for 31 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only. Cloth-bound, 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Fads and Fashions.

Lace or velvet flowers are used to trim dresses and hats. A narrow edge of fur outlines each petal.

Bow-knots of brilliants are very smart, indeed, and have supplanted the pearl brooch of older days.

A fashionable coiffure is banded with gold tinsel, closing under a gold rose in back, slightly to the left side.

Plaid combined with plain cloth is an idea used by many of the French designers now.

Evening skirts are longer and have draped tunics. All lines are still Grecian and fabrics thin.

Gowns that combine white charmeuse with black satin are trimmed with jet and exemplify the vogue for black and white.

A coin-spotted tissue-weightingham resembling the embroidered dotted Swisses is a novelty in this class of cotton goods.

Not for several seasons have Swisses been worn to any extent, but this year may appear, and entirely new patterns are to be found.

The big muffs of the season are not only very deep and wide, but the openings are large. They are not puckered or gathered as in the past.

The sheer materials, such as batiste, dimity and organdie, are even more sheer and dainty than last year—the organdies especially so.

Empire lines are the favorite ones of the best designers of evening gowns and almost all of the waist lines are shortened, if not decidedly short.

A novelty is the Nottingham tulle. This a round mesh net which comes in white or tinted grounds, in floral designs resembling the organdie patterns.

And now the "trouser skirt," introduced by Paul Poiret, has received the name of the "flared skirt," but it has not been seriously introduced anywhere.

Velvet, satin and tulle give the new note to the winter neck-fixings, though they are seemingly incongruous and unsuitable after several seasons of net and lace.

Many of the unusual colors and color combinations previously seen in only the costly silks are now to be had in the silk-and-cotton weaves and in cotton fabrics.

Enormously wide and closely encircling bands of velvet ribbon are in many cases being worn to secure and accentuate the "small head" effect of the new coiffure.

A simple velvet band, with straight ecclesiastical tabs to be worn over a stock, for black, in some manner gives the needed smart touch to almost every piece of neckwear.

A pretty ribbon girdle is draped in soft folds around the waist, and tied in a short-looped rosette, in the form of a bow with long, fringed ends, drawn in loose knots.

Prominent use is now being made

Mr. Grace Notes.

Miss F. Ryan, has been confined to her hotel—the Cochrane—for the past four or five days suffering from la-grippe. She is being attended by Dr. Parsons.

Miss Wallace, of Victoria St. School, is also kept indoors by a severe cold, and the scholars of her school are enjoying a sun bath to-day, but are hoping their teacher will be sufficiently recovered to-morrow to be able to attend to her school.

A young man entered one of our barbers rooms on Saturday with the strange request, "My hair needs to be cut badly." The barber set to work to please him, and apparently did so, as when the operation was finished the man said, "That is the best hair cut I ever had." The barber hardly knew what to say, as the man asked to have it cut "badly."

Mr. Robert Peddle, while coming from the woods on Saturday, met with an accident on Kitchen's Hill, his slide going to pieces under the heavy weight of wood. Mr. Peddle escaped injury.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Quinn on Thursday last. Congratulations!

Yesterday morning we experienced a glitter storm, and everything around was coated with glitter. Walking was made very dangerous, and many people returning from church had quite a hard task to keep on their feet.

Several of the hands of the H. G. Boot and Shoe Factory are now laid off by lagrippe, and the work of the factory is consequently delayed.

A banquet arranged for an individual is something to feel proud of. Such was our experience on Saturday. Yes, a banquet was given us, the principal item on the menu being tongue. It was all because we referred to that young lady falling on Water Street, and due to the too cold young man who was escorting her home. Let other young men take warning and be careful of the fair ones, entrusted to their care, especially during slippery and treacherous walking. We were sorry for the accident, but we did enjoy the banquet.

8869. A New Frock for Mother's Girl.

Girls' One-Piece Dress With Body and Skirt in One.

The little dress shown here is dainty enough for a "party" or "best" dress if made of soft pretty material, and will also prove a serviceable model for general wear if developed in gingham, galatea, cashmere, serge or flannel. With a trimming of embroidery or braid put on as illustrated, the effect of a front closing may be simulated. The design may be finished with the tucker, or in low neck style. The pattern is cut in 4 sizes—2, 4, 6, 8 years. It requires 3 1/4 yards of 36 inch material for the 6 year size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

Indigestion & Dyspepsia

In all its Forms can be Cured.

It is quite a daily occurrence to hear persons say: "Oh, what a feeling of distress I have after meals! fullness of the stomach, heaviness and headache, I feel too tired to do anything. I have no heart to exert myself and at times I care for nothing. I often have a pain in the pit of my stomach, no appetite, my heart beats rapidly on the slightest exertion. I feel just as tired when rising in the morning as when retiring to bed. My sleep is often disturbed, and I often awake with a sense of suffocation and a difficulty of again going to sleep. I have to be careful of what I eat, and my life seems a veritable burden."

Now, it seems a shame and a pity for persons to be suffering like that when it is in their power to get cured by taking a Bottle of Dr. Stafford's Prescription A. A sure cure for persons afflicted with stomach troubles. It can be obtained at

DR. F. STAFFORD & SON,
 Duckworth Street and Theatre Hill.
 Small size, 25 cents; postage, 5c extra; large size, 50 cents; postage, 10c extra. Mail orders must be accompanied by remittance.—oct29,1m.

8863. Lady's Waist,

WITH OR WITHOUT YOKE AND YOKE TRIMMING.

This presents a pleasing and effective style. For general wear it may be finished with the yoke and high collar, while for dressy or evening wear, the yoke may be omitted, and the sleeve cut in short length. Challis, taffeta, satin, muscadine or other similar fabrics are suitable for this design. All lingerie materials, linen and cashmere will also develop it nicely. The pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 inches bust measure. It requires 2 yards of 36 inch material for the 36 inch size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

When Sleep Fails You

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD will bring rest, comfort and vitality by building up the nerves.

Mr. Jas. Wesley Weaver, a veteran of the Penian Raid, Fort Duhousie, Ont., writes:—"For years I was afflicted with nervousness and dreaded insomnia, so that I never knew for three years what a full hour's sleep was, never more than dozing for a few minutes at a time. Heart pains and headaches almost drove me wild. I had spells of weakness and cramps in stomach and limbs."

"Though I tried several doctors, it was money uselessly spent. Finally Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was brought to me and eight boxes cured me. It is simply wonderful what benefit I have obtained from this treatment." Sleeplessness and headaches are warnings of approaching nervous collapse. You can positively remove these symptoms and prevent prostration or paralysis by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes.
