A man who had been drinking steadily for 24 years, came to the Gatlin Institute for Treatment. He was a physical wreck and was so extremely herveus that his hands were always shaking. The habit was broken, the nervousness disappeared, his health improved, and he was even able to shave himself.

He left the Institute a new man with confidence in himself, and no more desire for alcoholic drinks. The Gatlin Institute has effected the cure of many men when their friends thought them incurable. No ease is too difficult for this treatment, even the most confirmed drunkards. Every privacy is maintained with private room and nurse in attendance.

In all the world there is nothing so joyless as such enjoyment. The people who indulge in it have v profoundest pity.

For they are unhappily caught in a vicious circle. The medicine they nost need is a mental effort, and that mental effort, by the very nature of their disease, it is peculiarly hard for them to make.

When the doctor says that there is nothing the matter with anyone except nerves, the patient's relatives often take that to mean that there is nothing the matter with her at all. In reality it means that she has a disease which is as difficult to cure as many organic troubles
