Canada's Population

Is Over Eight Millions, According to an Official Estimate.

Ottawa, July 16.—The total population of Canada at the beginning of the present year, according to an official estimate made by the census department, was 8,075,000. This is the first time that the eight million mark has been passed and in the total was included, of course, Canada's soldiers at the front. The growth of population since the census was taken in 1911 is officially estimated at approximately 850,000, or an average of about 200,000 per year.

It is worth noting that the total immigration of the past four years since the taking of the census, has been in round numbers 1,330,000. It is apparent, therefore, that since the immigration exceeds the estimated increase in population by nearly half a million, there is still a considerable annual exodus of Canadians to the United States or other countries.

The total immigration for 1914 is given as 168,930, a decrease of over 50 per cent as compared with the preceding year. For the present year it is expected that there will be another large decrease, as, with the exception of new settlers still coming into Western Canada from the United States, immigration has practically ceased on account of the war, and the existing financial depression. It would not be surprising if at the end of the present year the official estimate of the population of the Dominion shows the total to be again under the eight million mark.

What is Tonnage.

To find the "tonnage" or "displacement" of a ship is rather puzzling. The tonnage of a ship is the measure of its cubic or carrying capacity expressed in tons. At the present time there are four methods in use of expressing the tonnage of a ship, known respectively as the gross tonnage, the net register tonnage, the deadweight tonnage, and the displacement tonnage. In calculating the gross tonnage the whole interior capacity of the ship below the tonnage deck is found, including that of all covered in spaces on deck used for stowage, and the result in cubic feet divided by 100. The net register tonnage is the gross tonnage minus all the spaces used for the accommodation of the crew and instruments and the working parts of the ship. It is on the net register tonnage that, almost invariably, dues are paid. The deadweight tonnage is the measure of the exact amount of cargo that a ship can carry without sinking too deep in the water. The displacement tonnage is the space occupied by the ship in the water; the amount of water displaced by a ship is, of course, equal in weight to the ship and all it contains. As one ton is equal to thirty-five cubic feet of water, the displacement tonnage is found by dividing the number of cubic feet of water displaced by thirty-five, when the ship is immersed up to its draught or loadline.

Harnessing Volcanoes.

Italy's newest product is electric energy from volcanic steam. Not far from the little city of Volterra, in Tuscany, is a region of volcanic hot springs that for a century have been a source of boric acid, and that in addition supply heat for drying the crystals and for the power needed in preparing the material for market. Borings of 30ft. or 40ft. are said to yield an unflinching supply of steam at pressures up to more than 700 Fahrenheit. The steam has been waste-fully used in small engines of an old, non-condensing type, but in recent experiments the heat of the springs—on account of the impurities contained—is made to generate steam from fresh water, and this is employed in low-pressure turbines for driving electric generators. The large area to be served with electric energy from the earth's own heat, if present expectations are realized, will include the neighbouring cities of Volterra, Siena, and L'ghorn.

LONSDALE HEARD FROM.

Leeds, England, July 20.—A letter received here from Private William Lonsdale, who is a prisoner of war in Germany, says that he is in good health and that he is undergoing a sentence of fifteen years in prison. The last previous news received concerning Lonsdale was that a sentence of twenty years' imprisonment which had been imposed on him had been revised and the death penalty substituted.

KAISER HAS COUP ON WESTERN FRONT.

London, July 20.—The Morning Post's Petrograd correspondent says Emperor William has sent his sister, the Queen of Greece, the following telegram: "I have paralyzed the Russians for at least six months and am on the eve of delivering a coup on the western front that will make all Europe tremble."
