Lionel joined Mr. Pratt, making his home at Danesbury House.

Robert came down to the marriage of his brother William, and took the opportunity to press for more money for his extravagance, but Mr. Danesbury refused to supply it. He could no longer afford to do it, and peremptorily informed Robert that he must make his allowance and his pay—not a capital income—sufficient for the future.

Robert returned to town, and there—there—the infuriated man put false bills in circulation and obtained the proceeds, forging his father's business signature, "John Danesbury & Sons," and making them payable at their London banking house, Roberts, Curtis, & Co.

The news came upon Mr. Danesbury like a thunder-bolt. What he would be called upon to make good and save exposure, unless he suffered Robert to be presented as a felon, amounted to £1,000, but it was not the loss of the money that crushed him. The facts stood out, broad and hideous: a son of his had committed a crime, for which he was liable to nearly the worst punishment of the law; but a few years previous, it would have been the worst. Many a man, for a far less offence in amount than this, had heard the awful sentence passed upon him, that he should be hanged by the neck until he was dead.

"Father," asked Arthur, when the first shock was over, "what is to be done?" "The sorrows of my old age are telling upon me," said Mr. Danesbury in a hoarse voice. "May they not become too heavy for me to bear?"

"We must seek out Robert," said Mr. Danesbury. "Seek him out and bring him home. I question if he will allow you readily to find him."

"Bring him home, did you say?" returned Arthur. "What else can be done with him?" asked Mr. Danesbury.

"He can not remain in the army to disgrace it. Were this to come out, think what his position would be with his brother officers. He must come home, Arthur. He may not be left amid the evils of that great city—he might ruin himself and ruin us."

"It had better so to London at once and see what I can do," said Mr. Danesbury. "Yes, Act as circumstances shall require. Do the best you can. I give you full authority. When you have arranged about his commission, bring him home."

"He must come. Use any means. Threats of consequences, if persuasion fails. I was always against his joining the army. It would lead to a life of idleness, probably of vice. It has done so."

Arthur Danesbury proceeded to London. His first visit was to Robert's in Leinster street, from thence he proceeded to the West End, to Robert's old lodgings. The people said Lieutenant Danesbury had left them some time, and they did not know where he had gone. Arthur expected this would be the probable answer, and he drove to the quarters of his regiment, Colonel Neeve stood at the entrance as Arthur came, and to enter they had a slight knowledge of each other, and shook hands.

"I am in search of my brother," said Arthur. "Does he happen to be here?" "No," replied Colonel Neeve. "He has never once condescended to pay us a visit since he left."

A puzzling speech to Arthur. "Is he absent?" he inquired. "Absent from where?" asked the colonel. "From London. From his duty."

Colonel Neeve looked quite puzzled, and the two stood for a moment gazing at each other.

"I have come to London to see Robert," explained Arthur, "but the people where he used to lodge tell me he has left. I cannot find him, hoping to catch him. Will he be at the mess this evening?"

THE U. S. CONGRESS.

Secretary Foster Presents His Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 7.—Secretary Foster in his annual report estimates the total revenue for present fiscal year ending June 30, 1893, at $468,350,350, and expenditures for the same period $461,336,350, leaving an estimated surplus of $7,014,000. It is estimated the cash balance available on June 30, 1893, will be $120,992,377; that the revenues of the Government for the fiscal year 1894 will be $499,121,365, total estimated appropriations exclusive of a sinking fund of $457,461,335, or an estimated surplus of $41,660,030, to which add cash balance above gold reserve, making an estimated available balance of $83,852,407, from which deduct accrued and accruing obligations estimated at $8,000,000, leaving $75,852,407.

The estimated receipts are based upon conditions prevailing prior to the last election. "Public opinion having decreed a change in policy," says Secretary Foster, "resulting in the tariff changes would have upon the future revenues of the Government. Under all of the circumstances it would be inappropriate in me to make an estimate other than as already stated; but it is not out of place to remark that the business community, having a full knowledge of tariff reductions, the inevitable result will be a falling off in importations and a corresponding decrease in the revenues. The extent of this decrease no one will be able to measure until business shall again adjust itself to the new condition."

BERKHAM'S PILLS cure Bilious and Nervous Ills. The phrase "not in it" is not new as many would suppose, but was used long ago in England, when he says, "Cowards do not count in battle; they are there, but not in it."

The Australian consume more tobacco than any other nationality or race on the globe, civilized or savage. Give me a pound can of Pure Gold Baking Powder, said a customer to a grocer the other day. A can of another kind was handed out because it gave the grocer a larger profit. No respectable grocer, of course, would do this. When you ask for Pure Gold Baking Powder see that you get it.

Untold Misery—What a Well-Known Commercial Traveller Suffered, and How He Was Cured.—Gentlemen, About five years ago I began to be troubled with dyspepsia, and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at that time traveling for Messrs. Walter Woods & Co., Hamilton, and treated by some of the best physicians in the country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine, and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure is complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint, I can heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, believing that the persistent use of it will cure any case of dyspepsia. (Signed) T. S. MCINTYRE.

There is one Chinese, one Portuguese and one Cherokee newspaper published in the United States. A man's wife should always be the same especially to her husband; but if she is weak and nervous, and uses Carter's Little Liver Pills, she will be cured, for they will make her a different person, at least so they all say, and their husbands say so too.

There is an age at which it does not become a woman to act girlish, but no one seems to have the courage to tell her so. Give Holloway's Corn Cure a trial. It removed ten corns from one pair of feet without any pain. What has done once it will do again.

When a man is sober he knows he has no sense, but when he gets drunk he forgets it. Carter's Little Liver Pills must not be confounded with common Cathartic or Purgative Pills as they are extremely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority.

Married couples in Norway are privileged to ride on railroads at a fare and a half. Nothing impure or injurious contaminates the popular antidote to pain, throat and lung remedy and general corrective, Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. It may be used without the slightest apprehension of any other than salutary consequences. Coughs, rheumatism, neuralgia, sprains, cuts and sores succumb to its action.

Health is one of those things that people are always either hunting or throwing away. A recent discovery by a noted physician, successfully used for many years, is the only perfectly safe and reliable medicine discovered. Beware of unprincipled druggists who offer inferior medicine in place of this, ask for COOK'S COTTON ROOT COMPOUND, taken as directed, or in case of a three-cent can, take five cents in letter and we will send, by return of mail, full sized particulars in plain envelope, to ladies only, 2 stamps, Ad Dress Peter J. H. Campbell, 25 Fisher Block, 131 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Mich. Sold in retail and drug stores by all wholesale and retail druggists.

After a lapse of seven years the following letter explains itself: Toronto, Ont., April 17, 1887. "I would state that your remedy, St. Jacob's Oil, has the desired effect of which I suffered in 1880. I have never had any return since of the pain which I endured for months previous. It affords me great pleasure to say I have recommended it to a great number of friends. Too much praise cannot be devoted to its healing qualities." J. ABRAHAM, Passenger Agent, 51 York Street. Hundreds certify that once cured, the cure is permanent.
