The case for the plaintiffs in the Taylor-Davis will case at the non-jury assizes having been concluded when the court rose for luncheon yesterday, the defense was proceeded with immediately upon Mr. Justice Meredith's resuming the bench.

Mr. M. H. Howland, manager of the Canadian Savings and Loan Company; Mr. John S. Moore, accountant of the Huron and Erie, and Mr. C. W. Woodburne, teller of the London Loan, gave evidence relating to the visits paid by Mrs. Burkholder to transact business matters, and each witness said he noticed nothing in her actions to inimitation creamery, 16c to 19c; state dairy, 16c to 24c. Four medical men were next called to testify as to Mrs. Burkholder's mental condition. Dr. George Wilson and Dr. Eccles had both attended the deceased. Dr. Eccles was her medical adviser from 1891 to 1896, treating her for stomach trouble. Mrs. Burkholder complained once or twice of dimness of vision and dizziness. Dr. Eccles found her a very intelligent woman and a little close. Mr. Meredith asked Dr. Eccles his opinion about Mrs. Burk-holder losing her way. The witness said that persons fix points to enable them to find their way home, and if Mrs. Burkholder failed to fix the points she might lose her way.
"Was there anything in her actions to indicate that Mrs. Burkholder was having delusions?' "Nothing that I noticed while I was attending her." "Or anything you heard in court?" "Except one witness, who said Mrs. Burkholder expressed a fear that she was going to be robbed or murdered. That would be a delusion."

"Not necessarily." The evidence of Dr. J. M. Piper, of South London, was distinctly favorable to the plaintiffs. Dr. Piper attended Mrs. Burkholder several times between April 1 and Aug. 30, 1899—the date of her death. She was suffering from stomach and liver trouble. old lady. Archdeacon Davis, the principal defendant, next took the stand. He made a sweeping denial of all charges of undue influence made against him by the plaintiffs. Mr. Davis became ac quainted with Mrs. Burkholder in 1880, when she first moved to South London. With the exception of the time she resided on Oueen's avenue, she was a regular attendant at St. James' Church. He never transacted any of her business affairs, except with reference to the placing of the memorial window in the church. It was only after some hesitation that she agreed to have the window placed in the edifice. The witness denied ever having received any subjection and restoring them to nor- payment for mamaging her estate.

Nor that she should not provide for her relatives? "Never. On the contrary, I urged her to get some of her relatives to come and live with her, as it would have been a great relief to me. The witness said he never attempted to prevent Mrs. Burkholder from doing as she pleased in all matters. It was untrue that he told her that she would not have any money left if she gave away what she desired to. The only suggestion he made to her was that in making her will she should make provision for her own proper care and nursing. He never attempted to induce her to change her intentions regarding the disposition of her Archdeacon Davis denied having called on Mrs. Burkholder more than twice while she was living with Mr. and Miss Smith. He had nothing to do with the sale of the Elmwood avenue property in 1892; neither did he know the contents of the will of May 3, 1899, by which the estate was left to his four children, until a week after Mrs. Burkholder's death. He understood the deceased had some relatives, but he did not kmow the mames or addresses of any of them until he was making arrangements for the funeral. Mr. Smith promised to give him the names of the relatives in order that he could notify them of the funeral, but failed to do so. Witness did not look after the graves of Mr. and Miss Burkholder. The statement that he told Mrs. Burk-true. He went to Mr. Fisher, by direction of Mrs. Burkholder, and told him he was wanted to draw up her will. Mrs. Burkholder repeatedly dewiff. Mrs. Burkholder repeatedly desired to leave her money to Mr. Davis, to which the latter objected. Witness told Mr. Fisher that he objected to any such action on the part of the deceased, and he also declined to take Mrs. Burkholder to Mr. Fisher, because of her desire to leave the property to him.

and the control of the control of the state of the state

Mr. Aylesworth's cross-examination of Mr. Davis was a lengthy and severe one, but the witness evidence was unshaken. He said he considered Mrs. Burkholder a very devout woman, and he knew she was not in need. He believed she had made a will in 1896, but he was not aware that he was named as an executor. He con-sidered that for a year and a half be-fore her death, Mrs. Burkholder was able to go to Mr. Fisher's office un-aided, and he declined to take her because she had been talking of leaving her estate to him.

"You were quite content that she should leave it to your children?" continued Mr. Aylesworth.

"I was." "Was her leaving it to them the outcome of your refusal to accept it per-sonally?"

"At first I made no objection to the property being left to the children, except that I urged her to make provision for herself in her old age.'

Mrs. Burkholder and Mr. Fisher were not told the names of the four children by the witness. They were Llewellyn, Llanarth William, Gwendoline and Evans G. The witness said he expected the church, Miss Robinson and his four children would benefit under the will. He never heard Mrs. Burkholder say she was afraid her nephew, Dr. Payne, would poison her. He heard her say some of her relatives had either wronged or robbed her. To Mr. Cronyn, the witness said Mrs Burkholder refused to act on his suggestion to have some relatives come and live with her, as they had wronged or robbed her. He did not notice any signs of insanity on the part of the deceased either before or after the There was nothing will was made. more than a weakness of memory. Rev. Canon Richardson, the next witness, having been rector of the Memorial Church while she attended the services there, said he saw nothing to lead him to believe that she was not mentally sound. In March, 1892, Mr. Richardson heard her speak of having made a will.

Fred Pope, who lived at Mrs. Rob-inson's while Mrs. Burkholder board-ed there, testified that he never noticed anything strange in the actions of the deceased.

Sarah E. Keffer, of Toronto, a niece of Mrs. Burkholder, produced correspondence to show that she was on good terms with her aunt. In one letter written in 1895, the old lady asked list. Mrs. Keffer if she would accept her household effects in the event of her death, as well as some money. At 6 o'clock the court adjourned until Saturday, when the case will be resumed. Mr. Justice Meredith goes to Chatham to take a court there today.

SAUNBY CASE POSTPONED. The suit of J. D. Saunby vs. the Water Commissioners and the City of London, was laid over to be heard at a date to be arranged between Mr. Justice Meredith and the parties conhear the case this week, nor could he name any time that would not conflict with other engagements. In view of this, and the fact that each side was under heavy expenses in the matter of expert witnesses an arrangement has been made whereby each party is to appoint an engineer, the two to such control of the waterworks dam and the plaintiff's mill as may be necessary for the making of experiments to ascertain to what extent, if any, the plaintiff's property is affected by back water from the dam and splash boards. The engineers are to report the result of their experiments to the court, and determine whether the plaintiff's mill-race is affected by the back water or from any other cause. The question of the extent of the damage, if any, suffered by the plaintiff by reason of the dam and boards, is to be reported upon by the engineers. In the event of their being unable to agree, Mr. Justice Meredith is to name a third engineer. If necessary the experiments will be made a second time. No expert evidence other than that of the two or three engineers, as the case may be, is to be adduced at the trial. but evidence as to fact may be given. People often say: "Oh! Constipation doesn't amount to anything. It cures itself if you leave it alone. But they make a terrible mistake. There is no more fruitful source of death than constinution. And the evils it always brings cause the most agonizing tortures. Constipation maralyzes the muscles of the bowels, which are then unable to perform their duties Foul, decaying waste matter lies in the bowels, instead of being expelled.

It causes irritation, inflammation and Again with such matter decaying in the bowels, the liver and kidneys become diseased, the blood is poisoned, heart disease and death result

We see, therefore, how vitally important it is to keep the bowels in Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the only medicine on earth that does this effectively.

The large white Tablets insure prompt, thorough digestion, and a proper regular working of the digestive organs. The small brown Tablets reduce the late the bowels to a regular and perfect working. Perfect health often depends on a small matter. Keep the bowels in good order. There never was, and never will be. a case of constipation, no matter what its cause, no matter how dangerous,

Why a Cold "Hangs On."

Stop and think a minute. The tickling in the throat, the tight feeling in the chest and that racking cough are only the results of the pold, not the cold itself. To apply a soothing medicine to the irritated membrane does not cure the cold. The lungs, throat and nose are nature's exits for the poison, but the cold is in the system.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure will Cure a Cold.

It will cure a cold when it has developed so far as to be Consumption. "Shiloh's" supplies the blood with the vitality necessary to kill the germs and drive the dread disease out of the system.

Why keep on treating the results of the disease. Take "Shiloh" and you will cure the diesase itself, and leave the system strong to resist future attacks. "Shiloh" is guaranteed to cure. If you are dissatisfied after using two thirds of the bottle take the remainder back to your druggist, and he will refund the whole of the purchase money.

James South of Vancouver, writes: "S. J. Wells & Co., Toronto—I suffered for years from a cough and tried scores of remedies. Occassionally it would disappear for a few days, but would inevitably return—worse than before—I tried Shiloh's Consumption Cure and from the first day my cough was relieved and finally it left me. For over eleven months I have been quite well and I never tire of praising your grand medicine." Sold in Canada and United States 25c., 5oc., and $1.00 a bottle. In Rugland
