Churry Singled London's Two Counters In in the Eighth-Two Double Plays Cut the Tecs' Scoring Chances-"Dad" Sherman Outpitched Haines.

Special to The Advertiser.

Kalamazoo, Aug. 20.—The Kazoos evened up the series with London today, Dad Sherman outpitching Haines. The locals were able to hit the ball in the pinches, while the visitors were stopped by the local flinger. Score 7 to 2. Sherman held London to five hits, and in only one inning, the eighth, did the visitors get to him. In that frame after Schaefer had filed out, Mackey walked, Ruane singled and Churry came through with the necessary single to send both runners across. In the other innings the visitors were rolling easy grounders to the infield.

Two fast double plays aided the Kazoos at critical times. The locals were after Haines all through the afternoon, getting two in the second when Sherman tripled with two on, adding three in the sixth on four solid smashes, and completing the performance in the seventh with a pair of tallies of hits by Bubser and Viverous, coupled with Ruane's error.

BRANTS TO ENTER RUGBY.

Special to The Advertiser.

Brantford, Aug. 20.—Indications are that rugby this year will have the best majority of the players who composed last year's team will be found available, and there are several new prospects in sight who will make an effort to land a place on the team. The Brantford Rugby Club will meet on Tuesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. to get things started for the opening of the season here. Brantford will probably be grouped with Kitchener, Gelph and Galt, making a well-bal-anced league, with plenty of competition.

Navin Denies Buying Wingo

Special to The Advertiser.

Detroit, Aug. 20.—Word from Toronto this afternoon that the Detroit Tigers had purchased Adelbert (Red) Wingo, left fielder of the Toronto International League Club, for $50,000, was emphatically denied by Frank Navin of Detroit Club.

"There is not a word of truth in it." said Navin. "Ws have been dickering with Dan Howley. manager of the Toronto team, for some time, but nothing definite has come of it. The price quoted is ridiculous. We have never even thought of paying such a sum for hir and we never will. It is wrong to handicap a player by putting such a price on him, when he has yet to prove his worth."

There have been many rumors during the past month of various big league clubs signing Wingo, but that has been all. Nothing concrete has yet appeared in these negotiations.

Have Fought Down Everything in League Excepting Cleveland and Philadelphia.

RETAIN 1922 TEAM

By JOHN B. FOSTER.

New York, Aug. 20.—When a base ball club gets the lead that the Yankee have in the American League, a different kind of lead than the ordinary, because it is a lead over seven clubs and not a runaway from one or two, give it the pennant. It is time to analyze to see what happened that was different from the pennant. It is time to analyze to see what happened that was different from the year before.

Team to team the Yankees have fought down everything in the American League except Cleveland and Philadelphia, with the identical team they had in 1922, except for the addition of a successful left-hand pitcher. Cleveland, Detroit, St. Louis (until the news of Siser's retirement came out), and Chicago, were figured on as being a big four strong enough to wreck the Yankees, even if the eastern side couldn't help much in the dynamiting. Last season Detroit won eleven games from the Yankees and latter won eleven from the Tigers. Already the New Yorks, have won ten games from Detroit. That's at least a plus five in the nominal rating for New York. More than that it is mighty unexpected.

Yankees Have Chance.

The Yankees won thirteen games from Chicago last season. This year they have won nine with two more series to play. They are better off against the white Sox this season because they have a chance to increase their total of victories. have a chance to increase their total of victories.

Fifteen victories were scored against Cleveland last season. It is different this year because the Yankees have won seven and Cleveland has won eight. There is a battle showing that the Yankees can be stopped if the strength is made against them to do it—plus the determination. The showing of the Clevelands against New York is the most significant thing of the baseball season in the American League, and yet the Clevelands with all the fine ball they have played against the chamball they have played against the cham-pions, cannot summon much more that ,550 per cent winning, which wouldn't corral a championship in a month of

The Yankee won fourteen games from St. Louis last season. That was one of the principal reasons the Browns were thrashed for the pennant. This year the Yankees have won their fourteen and there are more to play. Athletics Do Better. Passing to the east, the Yankees have already won as many games from Boston as they won all last season. The

"My Fight With Dempsey" By Tom Gibbons

This is the second of a series of six articles by Tom Gibbons which detail his fight with Jack Dempsey on July 4th. He explains why he went the distance with the "irresistible champion" and why he didn't accomplish his aim of winning a fistic championship. The third chapter will appear got a chance.

Both blows—the foul ones and the ones on the back of the head-are not real ring blows. The former is barred everywhere in the boxing world; the nd is barred in New York, and should be universally barred. So the facts are these:

Took Dempsey's Worst.

I took everything which Dempsey had to deal out with his so-called irresistible right hand and his crushing left—took 'em on the chin, took em in the body—and I was on my feet at the end. What does that mean? Can it mean other than one punches-huh! I never felt 'em when they landed or afterward. In one of the early rounds Jack banged my chin with a solid right-hander coming out of a clinch. That wallop carried everything he had be-hind it. The punch was the kind that had dropped many men in the past. When it didn't floor me Dempsey became puzzled-and something else I shall always believe, because I took that punch and stood under it Dempsey changed his battle plan. Up to then Dempsey had it all figured out that the moment he landed one solid crasher to my chin the fight would be as good as over. He landed—and not only did I stand up, but went into him and landed a left.

Never once during the whole fight was I in any trouble; never once did I feel any sense of real pain beyond what happened in the first round. It was then that Dempsey hit me the hardest blow he landed during the whole fight, and for two rounds afterward I had something akin to a headache.

Went into him and landed a left.

From then on Dempsey's style changed. He tried oftener than before to get me into clinches where he could hammer me with lefts and rights to the body and the back of the head. I guess he became convinced that I wasn't of the sort who could be dropped by one or two punches. So he set about in the attempt to weaken me in the clinches. eadache.
It all happened before I had a to a point where he finally could
