Boundaries Unsettled.

Though there is no controversy with Japan over the northern bound aries of the Philippines, the matter of sound boundaries is yet unsettled with Great Britain and the Netherlands. Although British authorities are administering the local government of three small islands just outside of Sandakan Harbor, North Borneo, America claims sovereignty over them. The same claim is made for Palmas Island, which the Dutch are administering as a result of counter claims that it is a part of Dutch Borned. The islands are valuable on ccount of tortoise shells. The Datch base their claim to Palmas Island on a lease obtained from the father of the present sultan of MOTHERS DAY. Sulu; who is an American subject. The former sultan in 1878 also gave the British North Borneo Company a lease on a large area on the Philippine mainland in return for $5,000, Mexican, annually, which is still being paid. The American state department has frequently attempted to settle the matter of jurisdiction over the disputed islands.
