as a matter of fact we are now pushing business in foreign countries also, and our implements are meeting with marked success in foreign lands. We are confident that with the capital, facilities for manufacture, and reputation of our goods, that no other concern on the continent can have brighter prospects of success both at home and abroad."

"Come with me," continued Mr. Cotter, "and I will give you some idea of the extent and capacities of our business," and, suiting action to the word, the writer followed, and was conducted through the impresse works. was conducted through the immense works, covering over five acres of ground, the buildings so long, so broad and bewildering in exings so long, so broad and bewildering in ex-tent as to excite wonder and surprise at their very vastness. It may be stated, in passing, that the works are the largest in the Domin ion, with but one exception, and to attempa a complete description for readers of FARM-ING would be impossible here. The men constantly employed number about 300 and are increased to about 400 during busy seasons of the year. The general manager informed the writer that the firm are acquiring all the latest improvements and attachments in the different classes of implements they manufacture, and the present season will see them with the most complete and up to-date machinery in the Dominion. They are prepared to turnish to the farmers of Canada any style or design of implement desired, either American or Canadian patterns, "You can say," he added, "that we are making things hum, and there will not be a town, village or hamlet in the wide Dominion where we will not have an agent or where our lines can not be secured." It will be seen from the above that the new firm mean business and are prepared to meet the very strongest opposition if necessary.

OUR SEED PREMIUMS.

Our usual seed premium announcement should have appeared in last week's issue, but it has been crowded out by the unusually large amount of space devoted to advertising. We have some attractive offers to make which will include a number of new and valuable varieties of grains, field and garden seeds, as well as the best of those offered last year. If nothing happens to prevent, the announce-ment will appear in next week's issue. Please keep this in mind, as our seed premium offers afford our friends and subscribers an oppor-tunity of obtaining the latest and best varie-ties of seeds by a cheap and easy method, and at the same time enable them to confer a benefit upon those whom they induce to sub-scribe. Any farmer will be the better at the end of the year for having read and studied the pages of this paper. The weekly market reports and forecasts are alone worthy many times the subscription price. They are reliable and accurate, and keep the reader constantly supplied with complete information as to the prevailing prices in the principal markets at home and abroad.
