BIBLE QUESTIONS FOR JANUARY.

SCRIPTURE SCENE.

XXVI. Two great men are in earnest conversation, a king and a commoner. The king had passed through great trouble, and in the time of his adversity, when others forsook him, this man acted generously toward him. Now the king's good fortune had returned, and he insisted on taking this man to his capital, and rewarding him for his fidelity. The man would not go. He pled that he was very old, that he had lost his taste for fine viands, and cared no longer for grand music. The king yielded, took his son in his stead, and honoured him.

SCRIPTURE WOMEN—AN AROSTIC.

XXVII.

A woman whose house once a shelter did prove.

A woman of beauty, sense, patience, and love.

A woman whose son saved the life of a nation.

A woman of kind deeds though lowly in station.

A woman from whom sprung a nomadic race.

A woman who held at Christ's birth a high place.

A woman to whom an epistle was sent.

A woman whose heart was with bitterness rent,

A woman whose soul on base treach'ry was bent.

A woman whose son a great rebel became.

A woman a type—and Mount Sinai the same.

A woman whose life once did hang on a thread.

A class whom Paul wished should be soberly led.

The INITIALS the names of two women will spell,
Whose lives in true beauty and love did excel.
