A WIDE RANGE.

A wide range of painful affections may be met with liagrard's below Oil. James M. Lawson, of Woodville, Ont, speaks of it in high terms for rheumatism, lame tack, spraine, and many painful complaints too numerous to mention. It is used internally or externally.

TRY IT.

Two of the most troublesome complaints to rehere are asthma and whooping cough, but Hagyard's Fectoral linear seldom fails, either in those or in ether prevailing throat and lung troubles. All dealers in medicine have this remedy for sale,
