THE JOURNAL OF HIGHER EDUCATION is distinctive in that the great majority of its contributors are administrators and professors outside the special department of education. The Editors believe that the development of higher education is the interest and concern of all university and college departments rather than of a single group of specialists. The following incomplete list of contributors to the JOURNAL in its two years of life will illustrate the breadth and range of content which its Editors are seeking.

DEANS AS AUTHORS: C. S. Boucher, Chicago; Max McConn, Lehigh; H. E. Hawkes, Columbia; Harry Bigelow, Chicago; J. B. Johnston, Minnesota; Carl E. Seashore, Iowa; R. E. Buchanan, Iowa State; Douglas Waples, Graduate Library School, Chicago.

COLLEGE LIBRARIANS WHO HAVE WRITTEN FOR THE JOURNAL: Frank K. Walter, Minnesota; Charles Harvey Brown, Iowa State; Dean Putnam Lockwood, Haverford.

WRITERS OF BOOK REVIEWS: F. J. Kelly, United States Office of Education; F. P. Graves, New York Commissioner of Education; William Lyon Phelps, English, Yale; Henry W. Holmes, education, Harvard; Willard G. Bleyer, journalism, Wisconsin; A. E. Twentyman, London; Frederick Koppel, Carnegie Corporation; Tucker Brooke, English, Yale; E. C. Moore, University of California at Los Angeles; G. R. Mann, American Council on Education.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE: The subscription price for the JOURNAL OF HIGHER EDUCATION is $3.00 for nine issues. The JOURNAL is not published in July, August, and September. During the last academic year our subscription list grew 44 per cent. Such growth seems a recommendation of merit.
