

publication of a Report made by privy councillors in such an inquiry; and there could be no doubt respecting the law upon this subject, although it seems to have been utterly forgotten by those great lawyers, Lord Eldon, Mr. Perceval, and Mr. Plumer, when they themselves composed and printed "the Book" for general circulation.

Although "the Book" was suppressed, the unhappy Princess was received at Court, and was treated with much kindness and respect by her present protectors, till her husband became Regent and King, and they became his Ministers.

18.
viously
General,
filed an
a com-
n privy
nst her
ey had
; that
Sunday
Report,
urrilous
nted by e might General

d Chan-
He ad-
all to his
e Attor-
got, Sir
at an in-ant from
e Report
t or pro-
id come same."
the dis-
e, which
fidavits,
ne terms

uld have
ut I do
d Eldon
sion, for
ny orig-
a viola-
pyright,
vent the