

I rejoice too that there is nothing, either in our principles, or our general practices, which would tend to exclude from our communion, the followers of Christ, who may differ in the circumstantials of religion. May our liberty and peace, our harmony and love, be increased and perpetuated : and the Spirit of peace and love descend and dwell among us ; that the glory of the Lord may be seen upon us !