Mining Stocks Generally Firm Hollinger Develops Strong Tone

Some Advances in Porcupine Stocks, But List Eases Late in Day—
Cobalts Quiet at About Unchanged Prices.

World Office.
Wednesday Evening, April 5.
The mining markets moved along quietly to-day, trading being of substantial volume, but not sufficient to bring about any material change in sentiment. On the morning board, advances were current in several of the Porcupine stocks, but most of these were lost when realizing came into effect later in the day. Cobalts were but little changed, and the general trend to these securities was somewhat easier.

Hollinger was the only feature evolved in the operations. This issue sold back in the morning to $8.50, a drop of some 25 points from yesterday, but a rapid recovery was made late in the day, the shares touching $9.15 under the improved buying, and closing strong at $9.12 1/2.

The cheaper gold mining stocks were somewhat irregular, but there was no lack of buoyancy, and at times prices advanced to a substantial extent. Vipond moved up to $2, but was under pressure at the top figures, and reacted to $1.90 at the close. Dome Extension was in good demand, and a broker on lot changed hands as high as $1, with other sales around that price. Pearl Lake held between $2 and a point higher, and Preston was firm around $2.40. Moneta and Apex among the cheaper issues were not so fortunate, and both of these issues were quoted below the previous levels.

There was little doing in the Cobalt stocks, and prices were in the main unchanged. Green Meacham made another fractional advance on the assumption that recent news from the property warranted a better price, and Beaver and Timiskaming were firm. Great Northern and Peterson Lake were easier, and the former issue lost $2.50 to $2.40 at the close. Sellers are over a point under profit-taking sales. About the only idea that could be gleaned from the list of transactions was that the public were responsive buyers at the lower prices. Sellers are still offering freely, however, consequently the floating supply of securities continues a drawback in the market.
