MAYOR MAY OPEN ROLL FOR HOME DEFENCE VOLUNTEERS

His Worship Considering Matter in View of So Many Representations Made to Him

"I have no wish to overstep the bounds of the work of the militia department but there has been such a demand for the formation of a home defence corps by men of middle age that I feel it my duty to give the opportunity for these men to get together if they wish to do so." This was Mayor Frink's comment this morning when asked about a suggestion which he had made at the meeting of the common council yesterday afternoon.

"So many men have come to me with the suggestion that a strong corps should be formed of men over the military age limit that I have been convinced there is an actual demand for the formation of the corps. In addition to the men

CONTRIBUTIONS FROM PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Oct. 20.—While the required quantity of oats for the island's contribution to Britain has not all been sent in yet, about $12,000 cash has been raised for this branch of the island people's war donation.

The Red Cross Fund now amounts to nearly $6,000 and there are also many contributions of clothing and food. The first shipment was sent away last week.

For the Belgian Relief Fund $1,800 in cash has been quickly raised and several car loads of clothing and other supplies contributed.

The Women's Patriotic Society has raised $2,400 in cash.

These funds are being allowed to advance well before the Canadian Patriotic Fund is taken up. There will be an organization meeting this week.

P. E. I. POTATOES

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Oct. 20.—Meetings are now being held throughout the island to discuss plans for dealing with the "powdery scab," which prevents, at present, the admission of our potatoes into the American market. The crop will be one of the largest for years, and with the embargo removed, our farmers will cease to worry. This year inspectors report that the scab is still here and steps must be taken to fight the enemy.

At a meeting in Montague, John Adams, M. A., assistant botanist of the experimental farm, Ottawa, advised the farmers not to plant any potatoes in any "diseased" ground for at least ten years, when it would have then become dead

TWO STEAMERS HERE FOR HORSES

Anglo Columbia and Anglo-Saxon In Port

The first of the steamers that will carry the horses now being sent to St. John for the British army at the front, arrived in port this morning and preparations will be made immediately for fitting them out as horse transports. The steamers are the Anglo-Columbian and the Anglo-Saxon, both about 2,000 tons net register and owned by the Nitrate Producers Steamship Co., operated by Lawber, Latta & Co., of London.

The Anglo-Columbian and the Anglo-Saxon, together with eight other steamers of the same type, have been lying between ports in Chili and Peru, in South America and the United States and continental ports, carrying nitrate. At the outbreak of the war, however, as Germany was the chief country of exports the nitrate business was adversely affected, all the factories were closed and the hands laid off.

The chief officer of the Anglo-Columbian said to a Times' reporter this morning that his vessel had been brought through the Panama Canal on her last trip from South America to Charleston, S. C., with cargo. She had the distinction of being the fourth British vessel and the thirteenth vessel of any nationality to pass through the new waterway.

"The thirteenth" asked the reporter, "Does that have any significance with you?"

"Only inasmuch," replied the chief officer, "that thirteen has always seemed to be my lucky number, rather than otherwise."

The Saxon, the reporter was told, passed through the canal two days before the Columbian, and would therefore be higher up among the first steamers to go through the locks.

A notable incident in connection with the war was related by the chief officer of the Columbian. "When we were leaving Cardiff for South America on June 10," he said, "the steamer Barfield was in the stream and on our departure took our berth to load cargo. She sailed to South America and about a month ago, with a cargo of sugar aboard, was sunk off Eten, Peru, by the German cruiser Leipsig."

"Since our sailing from South America we have visited ten or eleven neutral ports, and in every one we have found German merchant vessels tied up or anchored."

The Anglo-Columbian, although she was behind her sister ship in passing through the Panama canal, was the first to arrive here, docking at the Sugar Refinery pier about seven o'clock this morning. The Anglo-Saxon tied up at the Pettiball wharf a little after six o'clock. Both are in ballast with quite a quantity of bunker coal, loaded at the Pettiball wharf for the reception of them fitted out for the reception of remounts will be commenced immediately, but it is expected that it will be two or three weeks before they will be ready for sailing. Each will carry between 700 and 800 horses. The vessels are consigned to J. T. Knight & Co.

OUT OF HOSPITAL AFTER HIS FALL OF 100 FEET

Ralph Smith, a painter, who fell from the eighth story of the Sugar Refinery several weeks ago, when the staging on which he and another man were working, gave way and who dropped more than 100 feet to the ground, landing in a pile of rubbish—mostly bricks—left the hospital a few days ago, and is now almost entirely recovered from the effects of the severe shaking up. His companion, who was able to grasp the ledge of a window sill and haul himself in through a window at the time Mr. Smith fell to the ground, had been working as usual in positions equally perilous from the time of the accident until the painting was completed about a week ago.

TRAFALGAR DAY TOMORROW

It will be 109 years tomorrow since the battle of Trafalgar when the great victory gave the British the command of the seas. The importance of that is seen in these days of war when Great Britain has all her trade routes fully open. The day will be quietly celebrated in London by raising, or "hoisting," the decoration of the Nelson monument in Trafalgar Square with flowers and British and French flags. St. George's Society always celebrates the day, but this year, owing to the war, no demonstration will be held, but the society asks the citizens to display their flags in honor of Trafalgar Day.

Getting More Than You Pay For in Men's Clothing!

You don't often hear that, do you? Sounds unreasonable, doesn't it? But it's a fact, nevertheless, that the man who buys his clothing at Oak Hall actually gets more than he pays for—if other stores' prices are taken as a basis of calculation.

In the first place, buying at Oak Hall means buying directly of the makers and saving the middleman's profit. You get your clothing at practically the same prices other stores pay at wholesale.

A suit we sell at $15.00, for instance, would cost you $18.00 to $20.00 elsewhere, and there's a proportionate difference at every other price. For proof—just make comparisons.

Then you get clothes as smart and stylish and as up-to-date as the most fastidious college chap could wish for, or as conservatively correct as the most dignified man desires.

In each case we provide a variety that has no parallel outside of this store.

In short, you get all that you can get anywhere else, and you get it for less than you'd have to pay anywhere else.

That's why you get more than you pay for when you buy clothing at Oak Hall.

You can't lose anything by investigating, but you will lose if you don't investigate.
