Oh, touch my hand as I wearily pass And call up the vanished May!

The people of England desire to learn what Canada thinks about naval defence, they will find in the utterances of the Liberal press the assurance that so far as the Liberal press the assurance that so far as the Liberal party is concerned there is no disposition to shirk imperial responsibility, but an earnest desire to share in the great burden which Mr. Winston Churchill declares must grow even greater if the Empire is to be preserved. Mr. Borden need not have been so vague in his statements, if he had not been thinking of his friends the Nationalists. The Liberals of Canada agree with the Toronto Globe that Mr. Churchill's utterance on the naval situation on Monday points the way for Canada. The fact that Mr. Balfour, for the Unionist party, assented to the proposal of the government for a largely increased naval expenditure is an evidence of the gravity of the situation. The peril is not immediate. Britain is still supreme, but the feverish activity of Germany, and her settled policy of naval expansion, make it imperative that equal activity be shown by the British admirally. The overage Dominions, in view of the situation as Mr. Churchill has stated it, cannot hesitate, if they would retain their self-respect. They must come to the rescne. Since the naval policy adopted by Sir Wiffird Laurier was cancelled, Canada has been doing nothing. Mr. Borden cannot too soon take up his responsibility, as premier and indicate a definite course of the graval to the stream of the same and indicate a definite course of the graval to the victor of a Sunday schiol class in premier and indicate a definite course of the graval to the victor of a Sunday schiol class in premier and indicate a definite course of the graval to the stream of the same responsibility. THE FRUIT CROP

The fruit crop report of the Dominion department of agriculture for July states that small fruits brought high prices this season. With regard to the apple markets it says the European markets will be goodbut that the United States has a better than average crop and may have a large surplus for export. The Canadian northwest will require more than usual this year, but British Columbia will have a large surplus, and the American Pacific states are well organized to invade the market of the Canadian west. The report says "it is not at all improbable that several hundred carloads of Nova Scotla fruit will be distributed in the western markets this season. The report on the

to the marketing of the apple crop, that the largest shippers this year will be the co-operative associations. Consequently, the danger of over-loading the markets is greatly minimized. The prospects, therefore, in a general way look favorable for a fair year for fruit growers and, though a fair year for fruit growers and, though the high prices obtained for small fruits will not compensate for the short crop, conditions are likely to be much better conditions are likely to be much better arbitration. Mr. Lloyd-George is the bold for all varieties of tree fruits."

the directors decided to bring out the wives and families of the 34 applicants who were present. There are now 23 branches in Canada of the Home Reunion movement, which originated in Winnipeg. Since the work started a year ago, 1,500 people have been brought over by the Winnipeg branch. The tickets purchased have cost $50,000, of which sum about $40,000 has been repaid by the families assisted."

This is a very satisfactory showing. It is also noted by Canadian Finance that farm laborers are likewise being given a better opportunity to bring out their families. An immigration official thus states the case:—

The sentence of death pronounced upon the unfortunate Mrs. McGee of Prince Edward Island is not likely to be carried out. They took it up for conduits. We are further told that a campaign to induce the very best class of settlers to come to Canada from Great Britain next season is to be begun at once by the Canadian Northern. Thomas Hewell, general emigrant agent for the company, will leave for the old country to make preparations for carrying out a successful campaign. Most of the work will be centered in the west of England, where some of the most desirable settlers are to be found. Still another interesting item is the following:

"Mr. J. J. Golden, superintendent of immigration, arrived in Winnipeg last week bringing with him in the neighborhood of 900 prospective settlers from the state of New York and Ontario."

Referring to the departure of 3500 persons from Toronto for Winnipeg and points west in one day recently an official of one of the railways said. "They are the DIFFERENT DROUD EDITOR REBUKED

Regarding the crop prospects at the middle of July the report says:—

"Taking 100 as a standard or full crop, the percentages for the Dominion stand at 67 per cent for early apples, 69 per cent for fall apples and 65 per cent for winter apples. The average, for the Dominion, of all kinds of apples, therefore, would be 67 per cent."
