ONE OF THE NEW NET WAISTS.

2587.—The fashion lovers have taken up the dainty embroidered net which figures for the making of odd blouses. Here is shown one of simple style and real smartness which requires but a small amount of material and little time to make. The neck with its deep round yoke of plain Brussels net may be high or low round as shown while the sleeves with their single or double puffs may be long or end at the elbow. The suggestion offered here for the lower puff to match the material of the yoke is most effective. Any of the velvets, chiffon cloth, chiffon, lace or net organdie might serve for the waist as well as the net already mentioned. The medium size calls for 5½ yards, 21 inches wide.

2587.—Size, 32 to 40 inches bust mea sure. The price of this pattern is 10c.

Port Fairfield Review:—At least seven starch factories in Anroostock county are now grinding potatoes for starch—two owned by John Watson, of Houlton; one at Bridgewater; G. M.
Coburn's, Sprague's Mill; the Goodwin Starch Company's, and Killep & Richards, Port Fairfield; and Ward & Simonsen's, Limestone. Only one, the Goodwin Starch Company's, has been going any length of time. The price paid now is usually 20 cents a barrel, but varies from 5 cents to 25. The Goodwin Starch Company bought several car loads the other day, all loaded for 5 cents per barrel, but had to pay the freight on them from Caribou.

There proved to be rather more potatoes in the country than most people had any idea of. It is predicted that the factories will run till August.

MILITARY AIRSHIP

SAILS OVER PARIS

Under Perfect Control—Machine Sailed Both With and Against the Wind

PARIS, July 10.—An airship was navigated over the city today during a period of nearly three-quarters of an hour in full view of thousands of Parisians, who had not had such a spectacle since the memorable occasion when Santos Dumont succeeded in circling the Eiffel tower. The present feat appears to have been a much more important step toward the solution of the problem of aerial navigation.

The airship was the Patrie, the first craft of its kind built for the French government, and is constructed along lines developed by experiments made by the Lebaudy Bros. at Morsman. With a crew consisting of two officers and two men of the military balloon corps, the Patrie left the aerostatic station at Meudon, a few miles west of Paris, about 7.30 a. m., and travelled steadily against a fairly strong northwest breeze.

Passing near the Eiffel tower, it went over Montmartre Hill, then turned southward and went right across the city, hovered a few minutes over Place L'Opera, and returned to Meudon at nine o'clock. It appeared to be under perfect control, and throughout was navigated not only against the wind, but also broadside.

The highest speed attained was with the wind, of 31 miles an hour. The lowest was against the wind, of 18 miles an hour. The average height maintained was about 500 feet.

The army balloon department now has sixteen trained men competent to manage airships. The corps is to be increased to one hundred. Twenty airships in all will be constructed and stationed at fortified towns along the eastern frontier.

KRUPP GUNS FOR

JAPANESE WARSHIPS

Big Orders Were Placed With German Firm—British Works Too Busy

LONDON, July 10.—The Berlin correspondent of the Daily Mail says that Admiral Yamamoto's naval commission, which has just left Germany, has placed a big order with the Krupp for 12-inch guns for the new Japanese dreadnoughts, which are being built in Japan and England. The order will take nine months to complete.

It is stated that it was given in Germany because the British works are already working to their full capacity to turn out Dreadnought armament for British and foreign ships.
As many as 120 12-inch guns are now being built in England. The Japanese commissioners found that the British gunmakers had not expanded their plants proportionately to the demand for big guns created by the general adoption of the Dreadnought armament, while the Krupp, within two years, have enlarged their plant at Essen by extensions costing $15,000, and increased the staff from 24,000 to 30,000 men.

RICKSHAWS AND DANDIES.

In the mountain districts of India the principal vehicles of passenger conveyance are the rickshaw and the dandy, with which Rudyard Kipling has made us familiar. The rickshaw is pushed and pulled through the streets and on the roads leading out into the country by four coolies, and the dandy is carried on the shoulders of four and sometimes six coolies.
Saddle ponies are also used to some extent, but most of the inhabitants and quite all visitors use the rickshaw and dandy. The latter is constructed on the plan of a sleigh box, but longer. A pole is attached fore and aft, which is long enough to give a springy motion when the coolies are walking and carrying. A crosspiece rests on the shoulders of the coolies and is shifted now and then from one shoulder to the other for rest. By the command of the coolie in charge this shift is made simultaneously.

A LESSON IN ORNITHOLOGY.

A gentleman who rather overvalued himself, looking at a case of birds, said to an ornithologist who was with him.
"What is this bird?"
"That," said the other, "is a magpie."
"It's not my idea of a magpie," was the rejoinder.
"Perhaps not," replied his friend.
"But it's God's idea of a magpie!"

returned to the gallery by mail.

QUICKELY SUPPLIED.

There have been many strange things in English history. One of the most curious was recently mentioned by a little schoolboy.

"The hydra," said this much informed young person, "was married to Henry the Eighth. When he cut her head off, another one sprang right up."

SHE COULD SEE FOR HERSELF.

Mrs. Clitty—Bridget, who was that at the door just now? Bridget—A lady wantin' to know if we had furnished rooms. Mrs. Clitty—What did you tell her? Bridget—Sure, an' I told her that all our rooms were furnished. She lookin' at the libry now.
