The Plebiscite. A great mistake will be made by any prohibitionists who take time at the present crisis to discuss the coming plebiscite.

The government is not only committed to the taking of a vote, but by the definite declaration of the First Minister, is committed to the promotion of legislation for the total suppression of the traffic in intoxicating beverages.

The liquor traffic recognizes this. Al ready there is sore anxiety in the ranks of our opponents.

This is the crucial year. On every Christian woman and man a heavy responsibility rests.

In these facts we have the highest kind of incentives to earnest, determined, judicious work.

For the sake of thousands of sin-cursed homes, for the salvation of thousands of imperiled souls and bodies, for the emancipation and elevation of our country and our people, let us go forward in the strength of God with this single inquiry. "What can I personally do to help in this serious crisis?"

The good example set by Canadian prohibitionists, in the wise method of bringing together from time to time representative prohibitionists to consult regarding the best methods of carrying on the prohibition movement is bearing fruit in other places.

This great gathering will be of a thoroughly representative character. National, provincial and denominational organizations, county, district or town associations and local societies and congregations will have proportionate representation in the convention.

We cannot afford space to record the many names that are published in these connections. The following is a list of titles of the divisions under which the many themes presented will be classified.

1. Historical and Legislative. 2. Prohibition in other lands. 3. Economic and Statistical. 4. Hindrance to Prohibition. 5. Industrial and Commercial. 6. The Church and Prohibition. 7. Prohibition Organization. 8. Women's help for Prohibition.

Whittier Finished It. In the main Whittier's life was one of earnest, serious thought, says the Arena.

A young girl who was in the house with Mr. Whittier and of whom he was fond, went to him one day with tearful eyes and rueful face and said: "My dear little kitty, Bathsheba, is dead, and I want you to write a poem to put on her gravestone. I shall bury her under a rosebush."

Without a moment's hesitation the poet said in solemn tones: "Bathsheba! to whom none ever is dead!"

No warbler cat Ever sat on a mat Or caught a rat Requisite.

The same little girl's pony broke his leg, and again the poet was called upon to comfort the child with poetic sentiment.

"She said: 'I have written some lines myself, but I can't finish the verse.' " "What did you write?" asked Mr. Whittier.

My pony kicked to the right, he kicked to the left, The stable post he struck it, He broke his leg short off— And then added Mr. Whittier: And then he kicked the bucket.

With the "Diamond" Success is Fully Assured.

The world-renowned Diamond Dyes are put up for every color, with special dyes for cotton and all kinds of mixed goods, and are so simple and easy to use that even a child can dye a perfect color with them—colors that will not fade, crack or wash out—equal to the best colors made by professional dyers.

If women are induced to buy imitations of Diamond Dyes they must be prepared for failure and loss of goods.

Insist upon getting the Diamond Dyes from your dealer; they cost no more than the poor imitation dyes sold for the sake of large profits.

For facial neuralgia this is the very best plan to secure quick relief: Heat a freestone hot and roll it up in a cloth, wetting one side of it, and turning about a teaspoonful of essence of peppermint on the wet surface. Lay the face against this and cover the whole head up warmly with flannel. It will give relief in almost every instance. Or heat a basin of salt very hot, put it in a bag and apply to the face; there is something about the salt that seems to relieve the pain where simply the heat will not help it.

Lady Tourist (to the cottager's wife)—And are these three nice little boys all your own, Mrs. MacFarlane? "Yes, my men; but him in the middle's a fella."

Literary Industry. Motley took six years to write the "Rise of the Dutch Republic."

Mrs. Gordon Clark required 16 years to prepare the "Concordance to Shakespeare."

Newton spent over eight years in experiments and the collection of data for his "Principles of Natural Philosophy."

Young wrote his "Night Thoughts" in less than six weeks as a means of comforting himself under his bereavement.

Longfellow turned out about one volume of poems a year for many years. Nearly four years was required for his translation of Dante.

Cruden labored 19 years on his "Concordance to the Bible," and immediately after its publication was sent to a lunatic asylum. He never entirely recovered from the mental disease induced by this gigantic undertaking.

Living wrote the first 120 pages of "Brockbridge Hall" in ten days; the "Alhambra" was mostly written during the three months he spent in that palace; his "Life of George Washington" required nearly five years.

George Elliott is said to have written "Middlemarch" in four months. Some doubt is thrown upon this statement by the fact that she commonly worked slowly, writing with great care and deliberation, and making few erasures after her work was done.

Pride Goeth Before a Fall. When a concern is in the heyday of its prosperity, when business is good and competition is not fat, it is an unusual thing for the advertising solicitor to be informed that the concern is so well known and its business already so extensive that advertising is a useless expenditure of money.

We have known a number to argue in this way. In almost every instance where this has happened we have seen younger competitors by judicious advertising a step pass them in the race for business. These concerns that were too well known to advertise would awaken to the situation and their advertisements would again appear; but while they were sleeping their wide-awake competitors must necessarily have made inroads into their business which, with fair treatment and business-like methods, they will hold. Let the largest house in any line stop advertising and note in what incredibly short space of time a larger business will be built up by somebody who works while they sleep.

As Well as Ever. A Brickmaker Listens to Reason—Uses Six Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and tells it.

Brockville, Mar. 8 (Special)—Mr. W. H. Odell perhaps one of the best known citizens of this town has lately recovered from a long continued and painful kidney ailment. He tells the story of his experience to the correspondent as follows:—

"I have suffered for over a year from kidney disease, the pain in my back being so severe that I was unable to stand to my work."

"Having used only six boxes I can say that I am perfectly cured, and well so that I can attend to business as well as ever I could."

I was talking with a lady the other day, who is interested in missionary work on the outskirts of the northern portion of the city, and she related an incident which shows an ignorance worthy of the Middle Ages. The lady was visiting the wife of a market gardener, and in the course of conversation, asked if the woman was a Christian.

"No, was the answer."

"Don't you know that Jesus died for her?"

"There, broke in the woman, I was just telling John to-day that if we didn't take a paper, everybody in town might die, and we wouldn't know it."

And you have the assurance to tell me that you discharge your laundry because of her belief in divided skirts? A new woman like you!

You didn't let me finish. I was going to explain that she had an idea that it was the proper thing to divide my supply of skirts between herself and her eighteen-year-old daughter.

Minards Liniment Cures Diphtheria. Did we win? I repeated the quarter-back of the North End Shopping Club. Did we win? I say! The buying was almost all done in their territory. And she smiled a glad smile while the doctors sent a few of her ribs.

Mr. Bickers—The talkativeness of women is universally acknowledged. Mrs. Bickers—Oh, it is, it is! Mr. Bickers—Yes! "Mother tongue" is idiomatic in all languages.

To Get Good Color Effects.

In furnishing a house make up your mind as to the color of your furniture, carpets or curtains, for says the New York Journal, it is essential that there should be harmony of color, even if suites of furniture are discarded in favor of odd bits. But here again be careful you do not run to the extreme of an indiscriminate whole. That is to say, do not arrange a portion of a room in Moorish fashion, for instance, or with bamboo, while near by are strictly modern English chairs and tables.

If you begin to decorate a room in one distinct style carry it out within those four walls, though odd rooms may represent totally different periods. It is very important that the tints of the carpet, of the paper or paint of the walls and of the window curtains blend together in each room; that is, either possess a general resemblance of color or various colors in pleasing contrast of harmony with each other.

Scraps for Odd Moments.

Lola—Did you effect a favorable settlement with your creditors? Wholesaler—Yes; they allowed me to keep my wheel.

You see things in a different light since you are married, do you not? I ought to. There were fifteen lamps among our wedding presents.

Why are ladies the biggest thieves in existence? Because they steal their petticoats, bone their stays, crib their babies and hook their eyes.

The eye-glass, says a philosopher, is worn by the miser. The theory is that he can see quite as much with one eye as he can comprehend.

Why do you think so much more of your father than you did before you were married? Because I had never lived with any other man up to that time.

Minards Liniment Cures Colds, etc. Mr. Higgins—I can't understand it. This gas bill is smaller than I have had in months. Miss Higgins—You must remember, ps, I had a great deal of company last week.

"Mr. Whoopie, if you only say that I saw his very boy as I am willing to wait for her forever." "It's a go, young man. You can have her when the time's up."

"Beginnin' at de bottom of de ladder an' wakin' up," said Uncle Eben, "am er good 'ting ter do oncer er twice. But dah's some dat make de mistake er doin' nuffin' but dat, ovah an ovah agin."

An exchange says that a man named Moon was presented with a daughter by his wife. That was a new moon. The old man was so overcome that he got drunk. That was a full moon. When he got sober he had only 25 cents. This was his last quarter.

Minards Liniment Cures Distemper. Hostess—Well, Tommie, you can tell your mother for me that you are the best behaved boy I ever saw.

Tommie—Thank you, ma'am, but I'd rather not.

Hostess—Rather not. And why, pray? Tommie—She'd think I was ill, ma'am, and would send for the doctor.

Every mother should keep Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in case of case of croup and sudden colds.

"I'll give that man Windham credit for being truthful." "Why?" "His got up to speak last night, and he said he wouldn't read the audience a minute."

"And is that all as he kept them?" "Yes; it's all they got up and left the hall."

Jack and Tom, when they first went to school, were asked what were their names. Tom, who was first, replied: "Tom, sir."

"You must not say that, my boy; you should say 'Thomas'."

Jack determined that he would not fall into that mistake, and when he was asked, proudly replied: "Jack, sir."

Minards Liniment Cures Garget in Cows. When sweeping a room there is nothing better to do than collecting the dust than newspapers. Take a page of newspaper at a time, wet it in hot water and press it between the hands until it ceases to drip then tear it into pieces and sweep them around over the dust will gather on the wet paper. On mopping, if large pieces of wet paper are pushed ahead of the broom, they will take the light fluff that is likely to fly back and lodge.

If you want a reliable eye that will color an even brown or black, and will please and gratify you every time, see Buckingham's Dye for the Whiskers.

A story is told in Pictou county of an amusing case of liberality. Soon after the happening of a great accident, which many people lost their little all the world went round the county that a citizen who usually clings close to his shekels had suggested a public subscription to make up the poor people's losses, and had promised to subscribe largely himself. The population was amazed at the report, and inquiry was begun to learn his truth. "Did you offer to give $25,000 to pay these losses?" the citizen was asked. "Well, no," he said, "I didn't put my offer in just that way. What I did say was that I would willingly give $25,000 if the thing had never happened."

Messrs C. C. RICHARDS & Co. YARMOUTH, N. S. GENTLEMEN,—In January last, Francis Pelear, one of the men employed by me, working in the lumber woods, had a tree fall on him, crushing him fearfully. He was, when found, placed on a sled and taken home, where grave fears were entertained for his recovery, his hips being badly bruised and his body turned black from his ribs to his feet. We used MINARD'S LINIMENT on him freely to deslen the pain, and with the use of three bottles he was completely cured and able to return to his work. SAUVAGEUR DUVAL.
