seems to be for the overthrow of the present administration.
Personally, I think the Radical element could be won over to support a common cause with very little effort. Mr.
Lapointe set them right on one of their pet points by telling how he personally had introduced a bill for the removal of Sec. 98 of the Criminal Code, and that it had been passed three times by a Liberal Government, only to be thrown out by a Conservative Government.
If you would be so kind as to say a word in my favour to Mr. Patterson, I would be very grateful. You bring up Mr.

Dear Uncle Willie,-
I have taken

your suggestion of last December and written to Mr Jack Patterson with regard to securing a position on one of the P. S. Steamships next summer. Dad and Mother both seem to favour the idea - Dad says he can't keep me on the pay roll here for another summer, so I had
