

testily, having a shrewd suspicion that the fellow was laughing at him.

But the fellow fairly rocked with merriment, until feeling thoroughly offended, Elgar caught at the handle of the truck and started home in silent fury.