CHAPTER VIII.

REMARKS ON SOME CASES OF THE THIRD DECLENSION, AND ON GREEK NOUNS FOLLOWING THIS DECLENSION.

§ 28. The real ending of the Accusative Singular in this as in all other declensions is m, before which an e is inserted, as a connecting vowel, in all words with a consonantal stem. In words, the stem of which ends in i, the accusative might be formed in im instead of em. But, from the analogy of other words, em is usually preferred, and only the following make the accusative regularly in im: dmussis, a rule; ravis, hoarseness; sitis, thirst; tussis, a cough; vis, force; and the following names of town and rivers: Hispalis, Tiberis, Albis, and Baetis.

The following fluctuate between em and im: febris, fever; pelvis, a basin; puppis, the stern of a ship; restis, a rope; turris, a tower; secūris, an axe; clavis, a key; messis, the harvest; and nāvis, a ship.

§ 29. Nouns, the stems of which end in i, might form the Ablative in i; but such is the case only—

1. With those which make the accusative in im.
2. With the neuter nouns in e, al, and ar.

NOTE.—Masculine and feminine nouns in al and ar, as sal, salt; nectar, nectar; jubar, a sunbeam; far (genitive furris), spelt, make their ablative in ē. So also the neuter names of towns in e, as Praeneste, Caēre, Reate, regularly make their ablative in ē.

3. With all adjectives in is, is, e, and er, is, e.

Some nouns again fluctuate in the ablative between i and ē. Such is the case—

1. With those which in the accusative fluctuate between im and em: as puppis, ablative puppi or puppe; also with ignis, fire; avis, a bird; imber, a shower; vesper, evening. But restis has only reste, and securis only securi.
