

Rimless Spectacles

WEARERS of this form of spectacles get the greatest degree of satisfaction. The mind being relieved of the slightest cause for worry about their stability.

The construction of the mountings is such that they show the least possible amount of gold consistent with durability. We supply them with the ordinary wire temples, but would advise the use of cable temples, which make the pressure on the ears and nose much lighter. Taking all things together, for perfect comfort nothing approaches this standby style.