WORK IN PHILIPPINES

MISSIONARY TELLS OF UTTER DESTRUCTION AMONG HIS PEOPLE

Cone of the most pathetic stories that reached the offices of the Catho that reached the offices of the Catho-lic Church Extension Society in many weeks was received from Father Jurgens, a Philippine mis sionary. Some time sgo he appealed to the society for funds, for on account of the war his mission was in danger of having to be suspended. Funds were sent him, among them Mass Intentions. Like every other missioner he has proven himself ex-tremely grateful. tremely grateful.

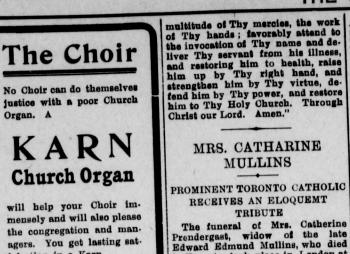

tremely grateful. "I wish to express my most sin-cers thanks for your goodness and kindness," he writes. "You will understand how welcome help is to us, now that Belgium cannot help us. My assistants and L assure you of My assistants and I assure you of our daily prayers in which our school children join.

"We have many reasons to thank God for His visible blessing upon our The conversion of the adults, which has formerly been so difficult is progressing very well now, and this year more than one hundred have been baptized. They are very have been baptized. They are very faithful to their Christian duties, assisting regularly at Mass and re ceiving the Sacraments frequently In the year 1910 we gave about four hundred Communions; this year, thanks to God, there are about ten thanks to Goa, there are about ten thousand. But I am sorry to say that with the growth of the missions there is not a similar growth of the means to maintain it. As soon as the money comes in, it goes out to pay outstanding bills. Our people pay outstanding bills. Our paopies are extremely poor. I can hardly think of a people in the world who are poorer than they. They have hardly enough to keep body and soul, together. Their clothing is nothing but a narrow loin cloth. On Sun days our church is filled with a heap of human flesh. It is rather shocking to see them approach Holy Com. munion in such a uniform, and I wish to appeal for clothing as well as funds. Clothing the naked is one of the corporal works of mercy. Our mission is under the special patron-age of St. Rita, the advocate of the Impossible. I hope she will move the hearts and hands of many Americans to help us. I am, as you know, thankful for any help you can send us We need money, and need it as badly as poor missionaries can need it. Mass Intentions also will be gratefully received."

Donations for this missionary, Father Jurgens, may be sent to the offices of the Catholic Church Ex. tension Society, whose offices are located in the McCormick Building, Chicago. They will be gladly and promptly forwarded to him.—Catholic Columbian.

BACKWARD CATHOLIC COUNTRIES

It is an old contention that Proous to his death. testant nations are thriving, whereas Catholic countries are decaying. When pressed for their proofs of this assertion, those who make it give a rather evasive reply. Germany is not exclusively a Protestant nation, for at least one-third of the population is Catholic. France, on the other hand, is, at least nominally, overwhelmingly Catholic. England, exclusive of Ireland, may be regard. ed as a Protestant country. Balgium is Catholic and had a Catholic adsonality won the friendship of all who knew him. Zeal and sincerity, ministration. These are the Euron nations which before the seemed to be most conspicuous for their economic initiative and enter To account for their comprise. mercial and industrial activity on denominational basis is clearly When thus pressed into a dilemma, the opponents of the Church release their old stock argument, pointing to Spain, Portugal and probably Italy as examples of Catholic nations are on the wane. But also these examples are unsatisfactory. Spain and Portugal, after the discovery of America, and before the Reformation, were the most enterprising maritime nations in Europe Evidently in those days, their Catho licity was no impediment to their It is further to be borne progress. in mind that Spanish blood was transfused to the American contin ent and that Spain was naturally weakened by this drain on her popuperso lation. It may be granted that some of the Catholic Latin races in Europe do not compare favorably in economic energy with certain northern races, but this is not due to the fact that they are Catholic, as we are about to prove. The application of steam and elec tricity to industry, agriculture and commerce has revolutionized the department of human economic activity. The races who benefited most by this transformation of economic conditions were those whose geographical position gave them immediate access to certain raw Spain, with its mines of materials. silver and mercury could not generate steam and electricity, for it lacked coal. The Catholic Church cannot be blamed for not having had the forsight of supplying these nations with plenty of coal and iron mines. As a matter of fact, it is not the mission of the Church to direct industry and commerce, but to save men's sculs.
