Warning Is Issued.

The Chief Constable asks all owners of boats and canoes to see to their proper and safe mooring, as many children's lives have lately been endangered by their taking the craft upon the river and accidentally upsetting on it. Only last week a little girl took a canoe which was being carried away by the current towards the dam, when she was rescued by a man, who modestly vanished into thin air after he had saved the child. It is preferable to have boats put where they cannot possibly be reached by mischievous children, and Chief Slemin utters this timely warning.
