

Brockville's Leading Clothier!

We are Ready—Are You?
Our immense stock of Fall and Winter clothing has just arrived, and we can say without any idle boasting that we have one of the finest selected stocks ever offered to the public, bought right as we can get it. We study the interest of our customers. We buy where we can buy the cheapest and at the same time quality.

Don't pay an ordinary price for an ordinary suit—not when an ordinary price will buy an extraordinary one. If you come to M. Silver's you are at headquarters, where there is no element of chance, where you are absolutely certain of finding what you want, and find it at a lower price than the same or similar goods are sold at elsewhere. Our goods are made and trimmed properly, and every garment is assured of satisfaction and our prices are as low as decent goods can be sold at. We invite your closest inspection before buying elsewhere.

BOOTS AND SHOES

We have just getting in our Fall Stock, and I must say they are very fine goods and our prices are lower than the lowest.

SEELEY'S BAY
SATURDAY, SEPT. 24.—An interesting event took place last Wednesday morning at the residence of Mr. Wm. Gilbert, it being the marriage of his third eldest daughter, Miss Eureka Gilbert, to Mr. Robert Gallinger of Watertown, N. Y. The bridegroom was Miss Jennie Loucks of Keelerville, and a little niece of the bride, Miss Blanche Bracken, acted as maid of honor and presented the bride with a beautiful bouquet of white carnations. Mr. Geo. D. Gilbert, brother of the bride, acted as best man. The bride looked charming in a dress of blue grey cloth, trimmed with braid, cream silk and tulle. The bridegroom was in a suit of dark blue cloth, and the ceremony took place at 9.30 a. m. The presence of Rev. T. B. Brown, in the person of a large number of friends and invited guests. After the ceremony was over nearly fifty guests partook of a splendid wedding breakfast, ample justice being done to the good things provided in abundance. At the conclusion of the repast, the happy couple, with their bridesmaids, returned to the residence of Mr. Wm. Gilbert, where they will be their future home. The bride was the recipient of many handsome and costly presents, too numerous to mention. The Seeley's Bay band was present and played several fine selections.

REPORTER HUNT CLUB
The annual preparation meeting of the Reporter Hunt Club was held in the B & W Railway offices on Friday last. Owing to the rain storm that raged all day the meeting was smaller than usual, the Rev. J. S. Reynolds, Dr. D. A. Coon, B. Loverin, Byron Loverin and Wm. Dawson being present. Some slight changes were made in the personnel of the various committees, and the 25th of October was fixed as the day on which the party will leave per G.T.R. for Lake St. Lawrence, where they will pitch camp for three weeks. Seven hounds, four boats and a full complement of camp equipage will be taken. The scribe of the Reporter has been commissioned by the proprietors of "The World" Magazine" London, England, to secure a large number of kodak views and write up a full account of the incidents of the section of country in which the party sojourn during their trip to the northern wilds of Ontario. The incidents of the trip will also be published in full in the Reporter, and from the marked favor with which Reporter readers have received former "annuals of the chase," the demand for the paper will largely increase during the next few weeks. Already a large number of new subscribers have been received, and in order to give every one who has any curiosity to learn how the Club hunt for big game in the wilds of Ontario, the Reporter will be sent to any address until Jan. 1st, '99 for only twenty-five cents.

CLIPPING RATES FOR 1898-9
We have made arrangements for clipping the Reporter and the Montreal Daily Herald one year for only $2.00, or the Reporter and Weekly Globe for $1.50.

Special Services for the O. L.
On Sabbath last at 2.30 p. m. the members of I. O. L. No. 331 a tendered service in St. Paul's Protestant church. The brethren formed in procession at their lodge room and marched to the church, the route being along Main, Elgin and Wellington streets. They were a fine body of men, and under the capable guidance of Marshall A. M. Chaswell, presented a very suitable appearance. The church, in its new decorations and the floral embellishments arranged for the occasion, looked very inviting indeed. The sermon was delivered by the pastor, Rev. J. Cameron, M. A. His subject matter indicated very careful preparation. It was an exceedingly fine discourse, interesting and instructive. The large congregation assembled as usual, the brethren were more especially interested in the subject matter. Basing his remarks on the 5th chapter of Paul's epistle to the Galatians, after describing the causes that led to the Reformation of the sixteenth century, he pointed out the principles which should be maintained by the church, which William Prince of Orange played in restoring the liberties which the Reformation meant. The right of private judgment, the right to think, to speak, to worship, to interpret God's word, works, not as bishop or priest or even the Church dictated, but according to the dictates of our own conscience. When these principles were impugned, the occasion of James to the throne of England, William was sent for to champion the cause of Protestantism. He then went on to describe the special blessings secured by William the first, the glorious battle of the Boyne, showing that what we commemorated was not the defeat there suffered by the Jacobites, but the triumph of the principles there won—individual liberty, loyalty to the reigning sovereign, respect for the laws of the land. He predicted that, judging from the signs of the times, such blood would never again be shed; that all nations would be united in freedom, and that the world would be settled no longer by the sword, but by friendly arbitration. He then specified the blessings which Protestant Christianity had brought to the world, and the temporal oppression, from intellectual bondage to creeds and confessions, and from spiritual tyranny, and then enumerated the means to be employed by which to train the mind to think and which would be the best safeguard of our liberties, the greatest foe to ignorance and superstition; (2) education, whose object was to train the mind to think and which would be the best safeguard of our liberties, the greatest foe to ignorance and superstition; (3) the proclamation of the truth in the spirit of love. He showed the way of driving out the darkness was by letting in the light, not by persecution or denunciation but by proclaiming the truth and illustrating in our lives the Gospel we profess.

FASHION AND FABRIC.
Cock's comb red is the newest shade of color. Serge and cloth jackets and even dresses in this bluish hue are among the new things in autumn modes.
Among the most generally becoming colors of the season before us will be the damson dyes and a varied class of similar plum tints, like dahlias, petunias, etc.
Superb white water silk such as delighted the stately dames of olden times will be a favorite material for bridal dresses next season. The moire fabrics of today, however, show much smaller waves.
For autumn wear beige and deep tans can hold of rough straw braids, trimmed with green velvet and shaded velvet ornaments or nasturtium blossoms, in all their glowing colorings, will be a favored combination.
The chief characteristics of fashion's present show is its infinite variety, its modified and graceful designs and outlines and endless styles, affording an unlimited choice of models suited to any peculiarity of form, face or feature.
Among the useful little additions to the toilet are close coat sleeves of thin silk, made to slip on and off the transparent sleeves proper of blouses and other hot weather waists. When the day is cool these useful, close-fitting undergarments give the needed protection less costly applied to the arms than about the neck and shoulders.
Very handsome fabrics for stylish autumn tailor gowns are those of soft, beautiful velvet, cloth, and moire. Light surface is like velvet—manufactured in shades of russet green, a red and dark blue, pale silver and black. The material is also in tone; damson, a superb reddish plum shade, golden brown, tan, grey and black.—New York Times.

TWO HUMOROUS BROTHERS.
They Won Wagers on the Strength of Their Own Homesteads.
Many years ago there were two brothers, named Joel and Jonathan, who were famous throughout Wayne county, Ind., because they were both such fighters. One day they were on their way to Cincinnati by wagon in the days of the old canal. The wagon was of the covered variety, and only Joel was visible to the natural eye as the vehicle plunged into and out of the chuk holes that infested the way. Joel was said to be the next to the agilest man in all the country round, and his brother took precedence.
The two brothers met a stranger, who, attracted by the appearance of the wagon, asked Joel to stop his horse and said: "Excuse me, my friend, but would you mind telling me your name?"
"Well, I guess I ain't never done nothing that would make me so well known as this," said Joel, "but my name is Joel!"
"Where do you live, if it is a fair question?"
"I live in Wayne county, Indiana," replied Joel, "but I ain't never seen nothing in the Scripture 'ar' bettin on a sure thing, an' I'll bet you $10 that you're the ugliest man in the state. Well, I guess I ain't never done nothing that would make me so well known as this, but my name is Joel!"
"Where do you live, if it is a fair question?"
