The census enumerators may ask you one question which you may think impertment—What are your earnings? It may be noted that this is a question that need be answered by wage earners only. Professional and business men do not need to tell how much they make, or perhaps just as correctly, upon how little they "keep up appearances." The intention of the government apparently is to find out what wage carners get, in order no doubt to lead to an improvement in nditions for them It should be remembered that people on foot have as much right to the use of the highways as the drivers of sleighs and other conveyances have. Foot passengers have a right to walk in the roadway and persons riding or driving must take reasonable care o The careless driving, which is sometimes seen, would lead one to in fer that the drivers had exclusive use of the roadway, and every person crossing a street must do so at the risk of their lives.
