FELL DOWN STAIRS.

Cobourg, Ont., Oct. 13 .- A most disressing accident occurred here this morning, when one of Cobourg's American tourists, Mrs. G. S. Lovett, of Washington, D. C., met with a most tragic death. About eight o'clock Mrs.
Lovett left her room to go to the bath room. It is supposed that she mistook the door leading down a back flight of stairs for the bath room door, opened it and fell to the ground floor. She received such injuries as to cause instant death. Mrs. Lovett has been coming to Cobourg during the tourist season for many years, and was universally respected, not only by the American colony, but by the citizens generally. The remains will be taken to Washington for burial.

CHATHAM TOWNSHIP.

GUESTS OF THE KING

London, Oct. 13.-Ambassador Choate and Generals Corbin, Wood and Young were the guests of King Edward at a luncheon at Buckingham palace today in honor of Lord Kitchener, prior to the latter's departure for India, where he is to take command of the British forces. Lord Roberts was also a guest of his Majesty.

Among others present were Generals Ian Hamilton and Kelly-Kenny, brilliant uniform. Mr. Choate sat at the King's right, and General Corbin on His Majesty's left. General Corbin delivered to the King a message from President Roosevelt, expressing the hope that King Edward would lend his assistance in creating interest in Great Britain in the St. Louis Exposition. The King replied that he would answer the message personally in the the same kindly spirit in which it was

At the conclusion of a rather elaborate luncheon, His Majesty arose and proposed the health of President Roosevelt. The King spoke in most admiring terms of the President, and expressed his delight at seeing such to add M. J. Wilson, Alister McKay, His Majesty announced an adjourn-Sam. BOTHA TALKS

The Boers will not allow Them selves to be "Dragged in the Mud."

They Had to sign a Peace which was a shock to them and their Sympathizers.

Paris, Oct. 13 .- The Boer Generals, Botha, De Wet and Delarey, arrived in Paris to-day. Senator Pauliat and the pro-Boer committee received them at the railroad station. After speeches of welcome had been delivered, the party drove to a hotel. The precincts of the station and the route to the hotel were thronged with spectators, who heartily cheered the Generals, though the crowds present and the enthusiasm manifested were nothing like the assemblages and de-monstrations witnessed on the occasion of Mr. Kruger's arrival here two years ago.

Delegations from various provincial pro-Boer organizations also greeted he Boer generals at the station. The reception was held in the waiting room, which was decorated with flowers and tapestries. The generals appeared very grateful for the warm speeches of welcome and replied with a few words of thanks. They then entered carriages and were driven through the centre of the city to their hotel, escorted by a mounted detachment of Republican guards and amid shouts for Botha, De Wet and Delarey, General De Wet, who is always the most popular in France, receiving the greatest acclamations. The visitors bowed their acknowledgements. Traffic along the boulevards had to be suspended till the carriages passed. The generals will be received by Foreign Minister Delcasse and Premier

General Botha, replying to Senator als Ian Hamilton and Kelly-Kenny, Pauliat, said: - "We have suffered and Private Secretary Knollys, all in greatly and had to sign a peace which was a great shock to you and us. I hope self-government will soon be given to the Boer people, for they loyally laid down their arms and took the oath of allegiance. But it must not be inferred from this alliance that they will allow themselves to be dragged in the mud."

This statement was greeted cheers. On the arrival of the generals at the hotel, a woman, on be-half of the society for the aid of Boer children, handed General DeWet

$15,000. A HINT TO THE KAISER

London, Oct. 13.-There is excellent authority for stating that intimation was recently conveyed to Emperor William from an exalted British personage that if he insisted on granting an audience to the Boer generals he would have to give up his plan of visiting King Edward on the latter's birthday. The German Foreign Office was informed that if the Boers asked for an introduction to the Emperor through the British Ambassador Berlin, the Ambassador would be instructed to refuse to grant it. The Burgomaster of Brussels, says the Times' correspondent, has refused the application of the pro-Bser committee to be allowed to take a street coilection in aid of the Boer fund. Such collections are prohibited under municipal regulations, and the burgomaster fails to see why he should establish a troublesome precedent.

The Penguin's Bump of Locality. On shore the penguin is an awkward creature. Water is its element. When hunted on the ice floes, the birds generally try to run away in an upright position, but just as the hunter thinks he has got one the bird lies down on its white belly and paddles along over the snow very quickly, the hard, smooth quills slipping over the snow crystals almost without friction. A remarkable characteristic of the penguin is his bump of locality. Both on shore and in the water he never loses his way. To human eyes one ice floe is precisely like another, but under that roof of similar ice floes I have seen a penguin of the larger species find its mate on a floe after diving and swimming for a full mile under water.-Leslie's.

Eternity. An unconventional preacher undertook to give his hearers a vivid conception of eternity. This is the way he did it: "If a little sparrow were to dip its bill in the Atlantic ocean and take one drop of water and then take one hop a day across the country and put that drop in the Pacific ocean and then hop back to the Atlantic, one hop a day, until the Atlantic was dry as a bone, it wouldn't be sun-up in hades." Bad Beginning Makes Quick Ending "So the engagement's off?" "Yes; she advised him to practice

Hot Cross Buns. Sir Rowland Hill, to whom Great Britain is indebted for the pennypostage system, used to spend most of his spare time, while a boy, in an out-building, attached to his father's house. He had a taste for mechanics, and the building contained a bench, a vise and a forge. Rowland and his elder brother, Matthew, who also liked to dabble in iron, soon discovered that the indulgence of their taste required materials and materials cost money, and cash was scanty. Though their father, a Birmingham schoolmaster, could not afford to buy materials for his son to play with, an accident provided them with the means. One Good Friday morning the two boys were sent out with a basket to buy hot cross buns for the family. As they went along they were amused by the cries of the

Sugar 'em and butter 'em and clap 'em in your hums, One a penny, two a penny, hot cross buns.' On the way, with their basket filled, the boys began in fun to repeat the cry. To their surprise, people bought their buns until not one was left. They returned to the bakery for more, and found that the difference between what they paid for the buns and what they sold them for amounted to a considerable sum, wherewith to buy tools and materials. Accident as well as necessity is often the mother of invention.
