Canada is Still in the Ring.

When your liver isn't working right and you come down to work in the morning feeling down hearted and blue and you think business is all going to pot in Canada on account of the war, just take a glance at the following facts.

Canada's exports in the year ending May, 1916, were $320,000,000, nearly double the record for either 1915 or 1914.

The United States, with a population of 100,000,000, (about twelve times the population of Canada) does less than five times as much foreign trade as Canada.

In the United States there was a yield of about 10 bushels of wheat per head of population, while in Canada the yield was 44 bushels per head in 1915.

Canada's export trade in manufactured products was over four times as great in 1916 as it was in 1914.

Railway earnings for July, 1916, were over seven and a half millions of dollars ahead of July, 1915.

Bank deposits in Canada show an increase of $162,000,000 up to July 1st, 1916, over the same period of 1915, while Bank Clearings show an increase of 445 per cent. for the year up to July 1st, 1916.

Wheat shipped in July, 1916, was 28,201,369 bushels, while in July, 1915, only 3,195,242 bushels were shipped.

Looks as though Canada was still in the ring.

Who Am I?

I am more powerful than the combined armies of the world. I have destroyed more men than all the wars of the nations. I am more deadly than bullets, and I have wrecked more homes than the mightiest of siege guns. I steal, in the United States alone, over $300,000,000 each year. I spare no one. I find my victims among the rich and poor alike, the young and old, the strong and weak. Widows and orphans know me well.

I loom up to such proportions that I cast my shadow over every field of labor, from the turning of the grindstone to the moving of every railway train. I massacre thousands upon thousands of wage-carriers every year. I lurk in unseen places and do most of my work silently. You are warned against me, but you heed not. I am relentless. I am everywhere—in the house, on the streets, in the factory, at railroad crossings and on the sea. I bring sickness, degradation and death, yet few seek to avoid me. I destroy, crush or maim. I give nothing and take all. I am your worst enemy. I am careless.

Painted Paragraphs.

Laziness is sometimes mistaken for patience. There's nothing more unsatisfactory than an unskilled clerk. The man who sleeps in church doesn't always dream of heaven. It's awfully hard to be grateful for a gift that doesn't please us.

When the star boarder marries his landlady he becomes a fixed star. When a mother tells the truth about her children she whispers it to herself. Many a man would rather lie when asked for information than say: "I don't know."

Chief is a bad thing for a man's temper—especially if his wife doesn't know how to make it. Any small boy knows more about his big sister in a minute than a man can find out during a whole year of courtship.

A good printer is truly a man of the highest type. He attends to his own case and makes it a rule never to be out of sorts.

Tired and Discouraged.
Mrs. Warren Randles, Rothsay, Kings County, N. B., writes, "I have three small children and had to stay in the house all winter. So when spring came I was all run down doing all my work and looking after the children. I felt all tired out and looked on the gloomy side all the time. I decided to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and the result was most satisfactory. I feel fine now, and am recommending the Kidney-Liver Pills to others."

A Frenchman was waiting at a railroad station in Ireland when a couple of natives sat down beside him. Said one: "Sure, Pat, it's down to Kilmorey I've been and I'm on my way back to Kilpatrick."

"Ye don't say," said the other, "It's me that's just after being down to Kilmorey and I stop here before I go to Kilmorey."

"What assassins!" exclaimed the shocked Frenchman, "Would that I were safely back in France!"

"I'm sure," said Chollie Saffell with a drawing flip, "that I don't know what I shall do when I get out of college. Mother wants me to be a minister, but I have a leaning toward lithography."

"Did you ever think of becoming an actress?" she asked cruelly.

The Curse of Germany.

The Emperor deceives his people. No "enemy Government," no neutral country, no man of sanity desires the destruction of Germany, but of that brutal, conscienceless wicked spirit of militarism represented by the Kaiser and the Crown Prince and their bloodthirsty advisers. The curse of Germany and of the world is the Hohenzollern rule. If the time ever comes when it can be broken Germany will enter upon a splendid future of peace and prosperity and the rest of the world will be at rest.

West, 1916, Special Day—Philadelphia Inquirer.

"Please sign your name there," said the post official to the woman who wanted to start a savings bank account.

"Do you want me first name?" asked the woman, as she picked up the pen.

"Yes; your full name, please."

"Do you want me husband's name?"

"Yes; his last name," explained the official patiently. "But your own first name, please."

"Qb, I see! You want me name before I was married."

"No, your christian name—Mary or Jane."

"But it's not either of them," said the woman with a toss of her head, "it's Gwendoline Rose."

"Very well, then. Write that down, please, and remember that there are others waiting."

The woman raised the pen thoughtfully. "Oh, do you want me to put the Mrs.?"

"No, not that. Just your full name, please."

The woman laid down her pen and blushed. "I'd do it at once, sir," she said weekly, "if only I could write."

Minard's Liniment Co., Limited.
Dear Sirs,—I can recommend MINARD'S LINIMENT for Rheumatism and Sprains, as I have used it for both with excellent results.

Yours truly,

A young couple were engaged to be married. Mable there is something I ought to tell you about myself, said Tom soberly, as they were sitting in the moonlight. "What is it, Tom?" asked the girl. "Well, Mable—I have to tell you, but I don't think I would be doing right not to."

He glanced anxiously at the pale face of his promised bride. "The fact is," he continued hesitatingly, "Mable—I am a seismologist."

"Never mind, Tom," cheerfully replied the girl, "I am a Confectioner's."

"We've come," said the chairman of a political committee in a south of Ireland city, to ask you to take this combination. The city needs you—strong, brave, self-reliant, owning no master, leaving no man."

The great man was visibly touched. "I'll not deny," said he, "the fact that I have been shaken by your oration. I trust that, if elected, I may justify your confidence, and prove that I am indeed strong, brave, self-reliant, owning no master, and fear no man. Suppose you wait a minute till I see if my wife will let me accept?"

A merchant was visited by a friend and customer from the country whom he entertained by a visit to the theatre. When the lights were low the merchant drew forth a pile of opera glasses and handed them to his guest. A contented "Ah," slipped from the countryman and then his arms in the air were discernable.

"What's the trouble?" asked the host. "The answer came in a distressingly plain whisper of disappointment: 'Oh, nothing, only the thing's empty.'"

Two Irishmen were working on a farm. When dinner time came they were called to dine off a large basin of broth. The farmer's wife had only one spoon, so she gave Pat a fork. Poor Pat was getting nothing, while Mike was getting everything. When the broth was about two-thirds gone Pat said: "Arrah, Mike, you dig a bit now and I'll shove!"

"Dear sir," wrote the anxious mother, "I am afraid Johnny is not trying enough."

"Dear Madam," replied the harassed teacher, "I assure you that Johnny is quite trying enough. He is the most trying boy in the class."

In the Wheat.

His wheat is golden for the harvest blade; Amid its ranks red and white roses blow; And by the fringe his little maid Trips in and out; she is too young to know.

He left his binder canvased in the shed He left her mother, weeping, at the gate; His harvest yields a richer red And shouts for reaper; other fields can wait.

When in the Spring across the fragrant mould His seeder-shuttle wrought a richer zone; He did not dream how much a year can hold Nor what a field should ripen with his own.

His care was all for simple, selfish things; His home, his wife, his harvest and his child; No thought had he for conquerors and kings.

When Paul wrote "fervent in spirit he used a Greek word which means 'boiling in spirit.' The Christian will be so anxious for Christ that he cannot hold in, but will fiery boil over with eagerness to serve.

The Racking Pains of Sciatic Rheumatism

Were Well-nigh Unbearable—After Five Years of Suffering Cure Was Effected by Dr. Chase's Medicine.

For downright excruciating pain few ailments can be compared to sciatic rheumatism. Since this condition of the sciatic nerve denotes action of the nervous system, the logical cure is found in the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to nourish the starved nerves back to health and vigor.

Reports are continually coming in to us regarding the splendid results obtained in the treatment of sciatic rheumatism by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Nerve Food. This treatment was continued until I was satisfied that the cure was lasting.

This statement is endorsed by Mr. H. E. Woolley, R.F.D. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Nerve Food, 25 cents a box, for $1.00. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills 25 cents a box, all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.
