Many Wolves Captured.

Wolves in northern Iowa and southern Minnesota are more numerous this year than in any previous years. In most of the counties large bounties are being paid, and this has put regular wolf hunters at work with their hounds.

The unusual number being captured is due to the fact that the animals were driven out of the forests of Minnesota and Wisconsin last season by the fires which played havoc in those communities. J. B. Sanders, of Chapin, presented himself at Hampton, the county seat of Franklin county, with what would have been a wagonload of wolves had they been grown, thirteen in number. These were found in two litters—Mason City correspondence St. Paul Pioneer Press.

AMONG THE LEPERS.

Twenty-Two Years in India, the Burning Heart of Asia.

An interesting letter describing work of the missionaries among the lepers of India has been received from W. P. Byers, who started for his far-away field of labor with his sister in 1886. Mr. Byers' letter reads in part as follows:

I arrived in Calcutta, the "City of Palaces," in 1887, and at once began the study of Hindustani, at which I had made a beginning at the Missionary Training School in America. This Hindu language is spoken by 150,000,000—nearly the population of India.

During that first year in India I was kept fully occupied, preaching and ministering to an English congregation, as well as assisting in the publishing house. At the commencement of my second year I was appointed to Assanul, 132 miles from Calcutta, there to found a mission and at the same time be pastor of a European congregation. At the end of my second year I was married, and my wife and I have done twenty years of hard work together.

The first convert was my native teacher, a well-educated Hindu scholar, from Lahore. The Mohammedan contractor who built the church and mission house one day said to me: "Sahib (sir), you will never get any one to become Christians in this place; we all have our own religions. I told him to wait and see. Several years after this he came along at the hour of service and was filled with amazement when he saw the church full of people. "Who are all these?" he asked. "Christians," I replied. "Is it possible? It is wonderful! I didn't think you would make any converts in these parts."

The work grew until it became a district over which I have been superintendent for the past eight years. There are Christians in seventeen villages and we have four churches (besides four other regular preaching places, where the leper work is done), four mission houses, a boarding school for boys with about 90 in attendance, a boarding school for 120 girls, the widows' home, with 25 inmates, and a leper asylum, with 125 inmates—all we can accommodate.

Lepers work. At first I greatly feared the lepers, who are to be seen wandering about the streets and among the shops begging, and to excite pity, drawing attention to their awful looking sores. It is estimated that there are 500,000 lepers in India. Seeing a leper in the last stages of the disease lying by the roadside under a tree, aroused my sympathy, took away my fear and created a desire to alleviate their sufferings and make them more comfortable as far as possible.

Though the leper work in India and the East, which maintains fifty such places, an asylum was built and opened for them in 1891, and this work among the lepers never wanes in interest. We are continually giving thanks for this pleasant refuge for these poor outcasts, all of whom have become Christians.

One evening after the revival I went to see the lepers, which I do as often as possible. It was getting dark and they could not see me nor did they know I was coming. As I drew near, I could hear the song for which they are best at, "Whom Have I But Thee, Lord Jesus; Thou Art Mine and I Am Thine." It touched my heart deeply, and when I reached them it was to find all on their faces on the ground, kneeling in prayer with their hands in the air.

When occasional paragraphs are appearing in the newspapers about the unrest in India, which is confined chiefly to a few enthusiastic students, anxious, perhaps, for some political power or position for which they are not at all yet qualified, the following letter from one of the high officials of a native state (governed by a native ruler) in western India, was sent last Christmas Day to the principal of the School of Theology in the chief city—the capital of the state. The letter breathes a kindly, sympathetic spirit, and is especially interesting as indicating the attitude of many of the leaders of thought toward the missionaries of Christ:

"Dear Sir—Christmas has come and the New Year is in sight. Let me offer to you and all the other missionaries of your mission, ladies and gentlemen, and those whom you have succeeded in leading into Christ's fold, my sincere greetings.

I always welcome Christian pastors in India and appreciate their excellent work for the regeneration and advancement of India. We are a fallen people and deserve the sympathies of all the more favored nations of the earth. We Indians have been brought up for generations in a false religion, based upon a very logical philosophy, but generations of a deeply Christian life will alone raise us up to a higher plane of moral life. It is for this object I welcome Christian influences and offer my Christian friends every sincere wish for success in their Godly work."

India Tea Labor. The demand for labor is very much greater than the supply, and until this state of affairs is remedied some other means must be found of keeping the tea industry in the sound financial position that now obtains.

It is notorious that owing to the scarcity of labor the work on tea gardens is scamped to a very great extent, and the land upon which the tea is planted is not worked to give a fifth of what it is really capable of giving under a very high state of cultivation. The garden that produces ten maunds of tea an acre is considered to be doing wonders, but when we take into consideration the perfect manner in which the cultivation is carried out we might well ask ourselves what such a garden might give were the land properly worked, the bush properly treated and the leaf taken off always when it was ready.—From the Calcutta Statesman.

One month of April has been a very windy month. Farmers are busy these days repairing buildings and fences after the wind storm, and preparing their land for seeding. Some have already sown.

Housecleaning and cleaning up lawns is quite popular employment these days. Mr. Wm. Johnson, of Round Plains, is spending a few days in this vicinity, visiting relatives.

Mrs. Benjamin Smith spent a couple of days last in Anaster with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Black, of Round Plains, spent Saturday with their son in this village.

Mr. Geo. Johnson has erected a wire fence in front of his farm, which adds much to its appearance.

Miss Alora Smiley is visiting relatives in the Telephone City at present.

Several from this village and vicinity attended the auction sale at Mr. John Utter's at Northfield on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Wm. Hays, of Brantford, was in this locality on business for a few days lately.

Mr. Charley Haw visited Mr. George Gilks last evening.

Mrs. MacNiven, teacher of S. S. No. 13, is nursing a sore hand.

Mr. John Smith is on the sick list. Dr. Sneath has been attending him for a few weeks.

Mr. John Armstrong has been laid up with the grip but is able to be out again.

Mr. Billie Fettes visited friends at Eger on Sunday and Monday.

Mrs. John Campbell visited his aunt, Mrs. M. Campbell, at Yeoville, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fettes have gone to Owen Sound for the summer.

Mr. M. Coulson was the guest of Mr. T. Watson on Monday last.

Mr. William Webb, with his little daughter, visited friends near his old home, Pelham Union, last Sunday.

Mrs. Hodges has returned from a two-weeks' visit with friends in Buffalo.

Mr. Frank Appleford is still on the road delivering large quantities of tea, coffee, etc.

Mr. Andrew Sensabaugh is running an engine for a saw mill company in Canboro village.

Mr. Nunnemakker, of Gainsboro, was moved with his family to the Abe Neville farm near here where he will make his home for the summer.

Mrs. Jane Wood, aged 83, and who has been very sick, is improving and she will live to eat new potatoes yet.

The young man, Mr. Hedden, who preached here on Sunday evening, gave a fine discourse and left a good impression.

Horseshoe Competition. In a thickly populated district of Burnley the clanging of the anvil late at night caused the policeman on the beat to call at a blacksmith's shop. He found a competition in progress between two smiths as to which could make seven pairs of horsehoes in the shortest time. Each man was allowed an assistant as striker.

The contest was for a wager and each contestant had his backers, there being nearly a hundred spectators. It was not until 1 o'clock yesterday morning that the competition was over, the winner having accomplished the feat in two hours and a quarter and his rival in two hours and a half.—From the Westminster Gazette.

For the Spelling Class. "I prophesy an agreeable ecstasy in perceiving the unparalleled embarrassment of a harassed postilion while gauging the symmetry of a potato peeled by a sibilant." Dictate this sentence and find how many of your friends will be able to spell it right!—From the Gentlewoman.

MOORE-MOYLE.

Popular Burlington Young People Were Married Yesterday.

A pretty wedding took place in the Baptist church at Burlington at 2:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when Miss Martha S. Moyle, only daughter of Rev. J. E. and Mrs. Moyle, was married to Mr. Ernest P. Moore, B. A., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Moore, of Cedar Lodge, Water street. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father, assisted by Rev. A. Carr and Rev. C. L. Melvill, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. H. B. Moyle, B. A., was becomingly gowned in a travelling suit of emerald blue broadcloth and tulle hat, and carried a bouquet of white carnations. She was attended by Miss Norah Burke, of Toronto, who was attired in a suit of natural color pongee silk, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom was supported by Mr. J. R. Kappel, of this city, Mr. Lloyd Moore and Mr. J. C. Callaghan, B. A., acted as ushers. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Ontario street.

The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl set cross, to the bridesmaid a pearl spray, and to the groomsmen gold engraved cuff links.

The bride was the recipient of a beautiful array of useful and costly presents, showing the high esteem in which she is held by her friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore left on the evening train for points west on a short wedding trip, and on their return will reside in Burlington.

YOUNG AT SIXTY.

There is no excuse for a woman who is not yet sixty years old complaining about pains in the back, stiffening in the shoulders and limbs, that tired feeling, weak back, nervousness, indigestion, constipation and failure of vitality, says an authority on the subject. At the big athletic entertainment to-morrow night in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium the Y. M. C. A. girls, assisted by the clever Y. M. C. A. gymnasts, will illustrate the exercises that keep man or woman young. Reserve seat plan now open at Y. W. C. A., Main street east.
