Mrs. Tucker and Delaney on the Half-Holiday.

Mrs. Tucker is simply mad because the half holidays are cut out, and last night she held forth in all her ancient glory.

Delaney, who is a nice quiet man, tried to show her that all would be well and instead of the half holiday business we'd have our hour off early every evening. Delaney went estimating and figuring how it would pan out in the end, and was multiplying so many days at an hour a day when Mrs. Tucker opened out on him and withered poor Delaney till he looked like a sign on a tent the day after the races.

I thought, too, said Mrs. Tucker, that we were getting too civilized and now we were becoming too happy and people were getting to look on us. We must go back to the dark ages, I suppose, and this is the first back in that direction. Once starting backward, Delaney, and you'll soon find this like rolling off a log you're submerged in the darkness of "away back" and you'll become covered with barnacles and get the chill of hard times in the country in less than no time. But keep moving in the grand procession that is travelling along the road of success, find amusement, good, cheap, healthy amusement for the people, and what will you find. Why you'll find your people healthier and happier, you'll find them more energetic and capable of working better, and the man that thinks otherwise is needing extensive repairs to his mental organs.

How said it, says Tucker, think of

SEVEN YEARS OF MISERY

How Mrs. Bethune was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Sikeston, Mo.—"For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month, and so weak I could hardly walk. I had cramps, backache and headache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me at those times, and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband's told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it.
Now I look the picture of health and feel like it, too. I can do all my own housework, work in the garden and entertain company and enjoy them, and can walk as far as any ordinary woman, any day in the week. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl, and tell them what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Mrs.
DEMA BETHUNE, Sikeston, Mo.

Remember, the remedy which did this was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means have failed. Why don't you try it?

the many happy holidays we had together last summer; think of our quiet walk at a quiet gait, I lugging my basket filled to overflowing with spruce beer and bologna sausage; think of the side of Kenny's Pond, don't stop there but think of the pond itself. See me again flicking the ham-boo and watch me land the "two and a half inches"; see the kettle boil and behold the immaculate cloth spread out upon the green; notice the square-faced bottle of Day & Martin's chow-chow, enough for a sealer's crew; perceive the half-pound of roasted bologne and likewise the tempting soda biscuits; hear the chirrup of the half-starved Robin Red Breast as he sauntered overhead and envied me my happiness, and then think of the sun setting in the golden west and get your peepers ready to watch the skimming automobile lest in the midst of your rejoicing you'd me made into kitty. Think said Tucker that all this must be wiped out. Oh, arise, Mr. Anderson, you say you are the Great Provider, then for goodness sake arise as you never before arose, speak out in all your silvery lingo and re-procure for us the freedom that we once enjoyed. Give us a chance to again get bored to death at a Garden Party; we thought 'twas a little in order that we may regain what seems to be slipping from our grasp,

Looking Up Records

IN CONNECTION WITH THE
CHURCHILL ESTATE.

Mr. Maurice Foley, formerly a resident of the West End of the city, who left here 33 years ago and settled at Fall River, Mass., arrived here by the S. S. Florizel accompanied by his nephew, Mr. E. F. Sloan. Mr. Foley who holds an important position on the Fire Department of Fall River, came here to obtain all possible information as to the now famous Churchill Estate, and examined the registers at the R. C. Cathedral yesterday for data as to records of his progenitors. Mr.
Foley claims to be one of the heirs to the estate he being a descendant of the Bolans. Mr. Foley made a careful search of the Church records, going back to 1814 and noted the date of his grandfather's marriage, his father's birth and other interesting information as to his deceased ancestors which will be of great benefit to him in making his claim for a share of the estate. A Mr. Halfyard who is coming on a similar quest to that of Mr.
Foley is now on his way here from Boston. Mr. Foley is remembered by many in St. John's West, and yesterday visited the Fire Station there where some of the men knew him well, and was delighted to note the great improvements made in the fire fighting service in St. John's since he left. Having obtained the information sought, Mr. Foley will likely leave for Fall River by the Florizel sailing tomorrow. Mr. Foley is a man of fine physique and is one of the many Newfoundlanders who have made good since leaving St. John's.

"Romeo and Juliet."

Shakespeare's great love tragedy, Romeo and Juliet, was presented by the Selman Stock Company at the Casino Theatre last night to a very large and appreciative audience. Mr.
Joseph Selman gracefully impersonated the amorous Romeo, and often received the plaudits of those present.
His work was especially effective where the hero mourns at the bier of Juliet. Miss Gertrude Arden was in excellent form as Juliet and won great praise for herself, her delineation of the role in the balcony scene being especially effective. Messrs.
Barrett, Montserrat, H. Selman, A.
Thomas, J. J. O'Grady and A. Kelly were very pleasing in their various roles, and Misses Lawrence, Courin and Irving cleverly portrayed the roles assigned them. The stage settings and scenic effects were of an order calculated to make the rendition of the piece most realistic, and the orchestral selections were appropriate and splendidly executed. There will be a repetition to-night and none should miss it.

Schrs. Arriving.

Since Saturday quite a number of schooners have arrived from the westward and Southern Shore to get supplies for the season's fishery. A fleet of schooners from Trepassy and St.
Mary's passed Cape Race on their way supplies for the Cape fishery and it herring bait is procurable will be at work early this season.

"I often have a pain in the pit of

"A Teacher's Troubles."

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir—It strikes me very forcibly that if any person wants to show to the public his pleasures or his sorrows he need only write to your universally esteemed paper, and his ideas are quickly sent not only over our dear old Island Home but to other countries. With these convictions, therefore, I ask you to kindly give me space for a few of my ideas.

My ideas are on the teachers of this Colony, what impediments they meet, and yet if we come to think of them and their work we shall find they fill one of the most important and responsible positions of this or of any other land. Where would any country be but for education? Who brings this education? The poor miserably paid teachers, partly. Without education I think we would be but very little better than heathens. Think of all the young intellects the teacher has to train and mould to do the future business of the country, and to face the vicissitudes of life. Who knows but among many teachers' pupils there is the material fit to make another Shakespeare, or Milton? Who has a better chance of nurturing that tender plant and raising it up so that one day it may be a boon to its people?

How is the teacher's work appreciated? Well, in many ways.—Sometimes he receives as a compensation for his labours the handsome sum of $130; while Morris tried to make this same poor teacher pay as much towards his pension fund as a teacher who is perhaps getting $400, and who will get perhaps three times as much pension as the $130 teacher. Sometimes the poor teacher has to put up with the most degraded abuse, while the calumniator has perhaps never gone to school; for instance, Uncle Pat comes along some fine morning and says: "Look here, master, you must not punish the good little boy, he is the favoured one of the family." Then, perhaps, Aunt Maria comes along next day and tells you: "You did not mark Patricia's work correctly," and that "you do not know how to do so," while Aunt Maria does not know "B" from a "bull's foot." Then just as you are going home in the evening, feeling very tired, another gentleman comes along: "Be gob," says he, "you're a nice feller to put my Tom back in Number 2," and before you know where you are this fellow gives you a challenge to show your ability as a fighter. Well, it may not be much trouble to finish him up, but as a rule teachers cannot do much fighting so he has to walk away feeling very disconsolate. I should just like for some of our people to read Lord Brougham's tribute to teachers.

Thanking you in anticipation, Mr.
Editor, I am,
