Avoiding Quarrels.

RUTH CAMERON.

It is always interesting to hear of any of the little helps in solving the eternal problem "how to be happy though married" which successful husbands and wives have worked out.

The other evening I came across a particularly interesting one.

Someone had spoke of quarrels, and wondered if all married people had them.

The question was appealed to a woman who is an unusually successful wife, and she gave us this bit of autobiography.

"My Husband and I Never Have a Cross Word!"

"Yes, I think they do. I never can quite believe a woman when she says 'My husband and I never have a cross word.' I'm sure we quarrel sometimes; but if you think you'll be interested I'll tell you one thing that helped us to nip some of our misunderstandings in the bud."

We said we should be delighted, and she went on:

"One day when my husband and I had only been married a little while, I went out to greet him when he came home in his machine and he just leaned over and kissed me without putting his arms about me and hugging me, as he usually did. I didn't say a word, but I felt terribly hurt. He is very affectionate, and that was the first time he had failed to throw his arms about me when he came home at night. Of course I acted constrained and that made him feel something was wrong. He asked me what was the matter and I said, 'Nothing,—the foolish way we all do."

She Was Sure He No Longer Loved Her

"By and by he began to act constrained too, and I had myself quite persuaded that he didn't love me any longer, before things finally came to a head and we had it out.

"When I told him what started me being queer, he just laughed. The only reason he hadn't put his arms about me was that he had machine grease on his hands. I had gone into the house, so I didn't see him washing them in the garage. Of course I felt ashamed, and then he said the thing I want to tell you about.

"You see, dear, there's always an explanation."

Before You Make Mountains Out of Molehills

"It's true. There always is some explanation when anyone does anything unlike themselves. There's always some other side to the case that you don't think of. And if you could hear it before you begin feeling abused and making mountains out of molehills, a good many times, everything would clear right up.

"We promised each other that we'd try to remember that whenever either of us felt himself getting hurt or aggrieved, and that we'd ask for an explanation instead of nursing a grievance.

"And we have, and it's helped so many times."

It's an old theory of mine that we are all too prone to trust to appearances and distrust people, though everyone knows that appearances are chronically deceitful.

So I recommend "There's always an explanation" as an excellent thought, not only for married folks, but for all householders, and in fact for everyone.

Seamen Enlisted.

Some of the seamen belonging to St. John's who went to Russia in the S. S. Bonaventure and returned home a few days ago, offered their services for King and Country yesterday. They would have enlisted long ago if they had been here. They are splendid specimens, physically, and should have little difficulty in passing the medical examination.

KIDNEY DISEASE A MENACE TO BE GUARDED AGAINST.

Mrs. Peter C. Johnson Tells How Her Cold Grew Into Bright's Disease and Was Finally Cured By Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Luella, Sask., May 8th. (Special.) After suffering for about two years from backache that finally developed into rheumatism and Bright's disease. Mrs. Peter C. Johnson, a well known resident here, finally got all her troubles in Dodd's Kidney Pills. "I was troubled with a cold," Mrs. Johnson states. "That left me with a pain in the back. My muscles would also cramp and I had nasty backaches. My sleep became broken and unrefreshing. I had dark circles under my eyes and I was often dizzy.

"It was not till first rheumatism and then Bright's disease were added to my troubles that I realized that my kidneys were the seat of my troubles.

"Then I commenced to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Five boxes made me well. Now if I have any symptoms of kidney trouble I just get a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They never fail to give satisfaction wherever they are used."

If you follow Mrs. Johnson's example and use Dodd's Kidney Pills when your kidneys show symptoms of being out of order you will never be troubled with Rheumatism, Dropsy, Diabetes or Bright's Disease.

MINARD'S LINIMENT LUMBER-MAN'S FRIEND.

JOHN MASCO.

When modern people get together, they do not talk about the weather, as fellows used to do; but each one, in his conversation, describes some painful operation that lately he's gone through. The innocent bystander catches, while listening, disjointed snatches of talk that runs this way: "Oh, yes, I went to Dr. Sidney, and he removed my starboard kidney—his bill I've yet to pay." "When from the chloroform emergin', I clinched my fist and soaked the surgeon a dinger on the jaw." "That old Doc Faker is a wizard; the way that he cut out my gizzard, was something simply fine." "Doc Chestnut says my system's rusty, and he will take his busksaw trusty, and amputate my spine." "The doc assures me my salvation depends alone on amputation, if I would shake the gout." "I hear that Jeremiah Proctor has hired a famous eastern doctor to dig some organs out." "Twixt them and me the gulf grows wider; alas, I am a rank outsider—I never have been hewn! When my insides are in commotion I simply mix a dras-tic potion, and take it with a spoon.

Everyday Etiquette.

"How long should a formal call last and should the caller remove her wraps?" asked Mabel.

"Formal calls last from fifteen to twenty minutes and one should not remove her wraps as a general rule," answered her mother.

The Men of 90 Years

Met to Form a Municipal Council For St. John's—Their Resolutions, etc.

(By James Murphy.) The name of Mr. Trimming, the name of Mr. Howson was incorrectly in my notes in the Telegram. I am publishing it as it was copied from the minutes. There are no words of mine in it, whatever.

Following yesterday's meeting, Mr. John Broom, junior, to the meeting a proposal of regulation of fire companies water, but it not having been adopted, was of course withdrawn, however, handed over to the committee for their consideration. Brookings, chairman. Mr. Broom left the chair and Mr. Cross was called thereto, it was by Mr. Black, seconded by Mr. as and carried unanimously. Thanks of this meeting are due to Thomas H. Brookings, his able and impartial conduct of the chair.

St. John's, April 2nd, 1925.

We the undersigned have chosen members of the committee pointed by the meeting of the 2nd ultimo, but who, having withdrawn from the same, could not be our duty to declare the meeting upon which that declaration was founded. We accord most hearty act with those persons who have proposed to us in opinion relative to the Charter of Incorporation of the town, was an understanding of the repeal of the 25th Section of the Act of the 5th Geo. IV. was petitioned for, and the other plan for obtaining such a resolution as might appear desirable have been adopted. The resolution the unanimity which preceded the meeting in which our consent originated, was produced conviction of the same nature, firmly believe that by far the part of the persons then present under a persuasion that the Act of Incorporation contemplated, referred to had been passed. That as agents of that meeting we should be violators of trust which has been confided in us, we should be bound to withdraw upon any other grounds than which we believed to have agreed upon by both parties. A resolution to petition for a new clause above named having been negative in the committee, we refrain from expressing our views, what appears to us to be a resolution from the principles laid down by the government, and we therefore not be justified were we not to our constituents the power
