It is suggested that the members of the district committees arrange for a parlor conference in connection with the London convention. An impromptu would thus be given to the district work that would result in intelligent effort in this needy field."

A TRAVELER.

I have travelled the wide world over. In India, where I lived for years, I became afflicted with corns and bunions, and that more terrible disease of the feet by which so many natives are crippled, and known in India as "band Poot." I have lain in the hospitals for weeks under the best medical treatment, from which I received little or no benefit, and was all but reconciled to suffer for the remainder of my life, when happily I came across that great benefactor of this 19th century, the popularly known as BARKWELL'S SURE CORN CURE, on which I am very loath to say more. My Editor, but I have every reason to be so, and would be very ungrateful if I were not. I got a bottle three years ago and it cured me completely when everything else failed. I have every faith in BARKWELL'S SURE CORN CURE, and I publish it as far as we can. If Mr. Barkwell lived in India he would make a fortune out of his Corn Cure and I am happy to subscribe my name.

Liquor Cases in Court.
 A restaurant proprietor was charged at the Police Court yesterday with selling liquor a week ago Saturday night under the following circumstances: After the return of the commercial travelers' train three of the fraternity visited the restaurant in question for the purpose of obtaining a meal. During the course of and along with the meal two of them had a glass of beer. Mr. Saxe contended that he had supplied beer for them, and that he was entitled to do so. Mr. McKillop stated there was no dispute about the fact, the question was whether there was a contravention of the law. He contended that it was. The magistrate thought the matter ought to be disposed of by the county judge, and an appeal will be made to him. There were also two other liquor cases, but they were adjourned for evidence.

In a Hole.
 Henry Dunn, teamster for J. D. Saunby, was literally and figuratively "in a hole" yesterday for a length of time, when he must have seemed interminable. He was driving on Talbot street, and when in front of the Bernard House stables his wagon disappeared below the surface of the road. The vehicle was pulled out, but Dunn was hardly as fortunate, as the crust surrounding the hole was dangerous for spectators to tread upon. He finally crawled up, a holed up through by some kindly hand after half an hour's subterranean residence. The excavation is remarkably deep and right in the middle of the road. It was probably caused by the collapse of an old sewer. Mr. Dunn may be considered fortunate in having escaped without any injuries, as a fatality under the circumstances was possible. The reach of his wagon was smashed, but otherwise no damage was sustained.

BAD ECZEMA ON BABY.
 Head One Solid Sore. Itching Awful. Had to Tie His Hands to Cradle. Cured by CUTICURA.

Our little boy broke out on his head with a bad form of eczema, which was very troublesome. We tried three doctors, but they did not help him. We then used your three ointments, REMEDIES, and after using them eleven weeks exactly according to directions, he steadily improved, and after seven months his head was entirely well. When he began using it his head was a solid sore from the crown to the eyebrows. It was almost all over his ears, most of his face, and small places on different parts of his body. There were sixteen weeks that we had to tie his hands to the cradle and hold his head when he was taken up and had to keep his hands tied to his head to keep his finger nails out of the sores, as he would scratch if he could in any way get his hands loose. We know your CUTICURA REMEDIES cured him. We feel safe in recommending them to others.
