

42ND YEAR. NO. 17713

THE ADVERTISER, LONDON, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, JANUARY 2, 1906.—TEN PAGES.

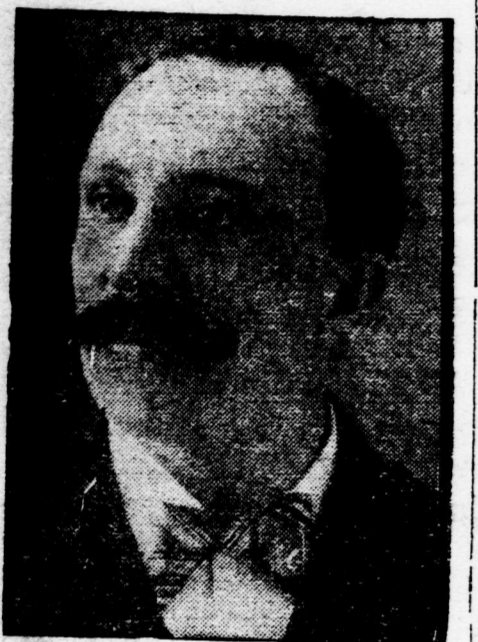

PRICE TWO CENTS.

MR. JOSEPH C. JUDD ELECTED AS MAYOR; MUNICIPAL ELECTION RETURNS IN DETAIL

Saunders an Easy Winner for Water Commission—New Blood on Both Council and School Board—Waterworks Bylaw Snowed Under—License Reduction Carried.

The election yesterday resulted in the return of Mr. J. C. Judd, an ex-alderman, ex-water commissioner, and well-known lawyer, as mayor. Mr. Judd was elected over his opponent, ex-Ald. Stevely, by a majority of 323 in a total vote of 6,405, or exactly 100 less than in 1905, when Dr. Campbell defeated Mr. Judd by a majority of 23.

Nine of last year's aldermen were returned, as well as one ex-alderman, and two of what are known as "young blood." Mr. W. E. Saunders defeated Mr. J. R. Minihnick for the water commission, and for the next two years will represent the people on that body. Trustees W. T. Strong and Dr. Teasdale were returned to the school board, while two new-comers are elected—Mr. J. W. Westervelt and Mr. G. N. Weekes.

The bylaw to reduce the number of liquor licenses in London to 26 was carried, but the bylaw to issue $445,000 debentures for an extra main to Springbank was snowed under.

Not Much Interest.

Interest in the election did not appear to be very great at any time during the day. Last year Mr. Judd claimed that his defeat was due to his not having sufficient vehicles to carry voters to the polls, and yesterday he appeared to have made up his mind to take no chances on this score. Everywhere were rigs with Judd banners.

As compared with the support given Dr. Campbell, a year ago, Mr. Stevely's support showed a falling-off in nearly every subdivision. No. 11 of ward 1 furnished the surprise of the day, however, by giving Mr. Judd a majority of five. A year ago this subdivision gave Mayor Campbell 79 majority.

Every ward in the city gave Mr. Judd a majority, as follows: Ward 1, 110; ward 2, 8; ward 3, 118; ward 4, 58. The following is the vote by wards:

Ward	Judd	Stevely
Ward 1	839	729
Ward 2	547	541
Ward 3	928	820
Ward 4	1,040	951

Totals 3,364 3,041

Majority for Judd, 323.

Mr. Stevely's Statement.

When the result had been made known from the subdivisions, Mr. Stevely gave out the following statement to the newspapers:

"Though defeated, I am satisfied with the result. During the years I was on the council I did my best for the citizens of London, irrespective of creed, class or color. Now that the fortunes of war have decided that I shall be retired from municipal life, I feel that it is perhaps as well, and that I shall have at least more time to look after my own business. I desire to heartily thank all who supported me. I have no complaint to make of the result."

Mayor-Elect Judd Speaks.

In front of the Free Press a number of electors were gathered, and the enthusiasm was largely the effervescence of the small boy, who had to express himself in some way. Confidence in Mr. Judd's election was soon in evidence, and as the returns came in that impression was soon verified.

At about 9:45 Mr. Judd appeared, and he was in a very happy mood. He was greeted with cheers as he appeared at the window. He said: "The corporation lawyer has been elected mayor of the city of London, and for the balance of the year will devote his energies to the interests of the corporation of London. I congratulate the electors of London on electing a native-born Londoner. I thank my workers most sincerely for the energy and enthusiasm they have shown in my support. I thank The Advertiser for the abuse it heaped upon me, as it largely increased my majority. I thank the Free Press for the splendid campaign they put up. We have fought a good fight.

"I have a great deal of sympathy for my opponent, as I have been in the same position. (Laughter.)

"I hope we are all satisfied. We shall devote all our energies to the corporation of the city of London.

"I must thank my Liberal friends in South London. (Cheers.) When all the returns are in from that section, there will be a majority for me, I am sure, or at least a very small one against me.

"I will advance the interests of the city as best I may. I wish you all a happy new year, and thank you for the way you have stood by me today." (Cheers.)

There were no other speeches, although several of the successful aldermanic candidates were present.

The Council.

The council includes nine of last year's aldermen and three new men. Two of these have never sat in an aldermanic chair, but the third, Ald. Armstrong, was an alderman several years ago.

The old aldermen are as follows: Matthews, Gerry, Greenlees, Cooper, Forristal, Wyatt, Gillean, Garratt, Saunders.

The new blood is made up of Ald. Armstrong, Stevenson and Booth.

Mr. R. S. Abram, who had sat for some years in the council, was the only alderman of last year who is counted among the slain.

A Few Facts.

Ald. Armstrong is the head of the London Brass Manufacturing Company, of Carling street.

Ald. Stevenson is the well-known Dundas street physician; and Ald. Booth is a master painter, residing on Colborne street south.

The occupations of those who compose the council are as follows: Two manufacturers, a printer, a builder, a lawyer, an auctioneer, a retired merchant, a jeweler, a contractor, a physician, a painter and a blacksmith.

Ald. Stevenson made a splendid run. A year ago he was a candidate for school trustee, and he gave a good account of himself, polling 1,801 votes, whereas the lowest elected man polled only 1,845. Last year he was a member of the board of health, and he was one of the most active workers on that body. His victory is a popular one.

Ald. Armstrong has the experience of former years to aid him in his deliberations in the council, and he will be sure to prove a valuable addition to that body.

The Other Winners.

All of the former aldermen, with the exception of Ald. Abram, made excellent runs. Ald. Matthews, who headed the polls two years ago, and who was in second place in 1905, heads the list again this year. He is a persistent advertiser and reaps the fruits of his persistence. Ald. Gerry, the sixth warder, comes next, with Ald. Greenlees, a close competitor, and Ald. Wyatt well up in the list. Ald. Cooper, as usual, made a good run. He has been so long before the people they appear to have become resigned and take him as a matter of course. Ald. Forristal, who stands sixth, found himself in the unique position of being supported by both political parties, though his name was on the Conservative ticket. He has made a good alderman, and has been fair, and was for this reason supported by Liberals in general. A year ago Ald. Gillean stood only eleventh, but this year his gain in public favor is shown by his promotion to seventh place. Ald. Garratt comes next, and Ald. Saunders is returned eleventh on the list.

Political Standing.

From a political standpoint, the council is made up of six Liberals and six Conservatives, as follows:

Liberals—Gerry, Greenlees, Gillean, Stevenson, Saunders and Armstrong.

Conservatives—Matthews, Wyatt, Cooper, Forristal, Garratt and Booth.

This is, of course, counting Ald. Forristal as a straight Conservative, but as a matter of fact, Ald. Forristal was brought out and supported by both parties, and is really an independent.

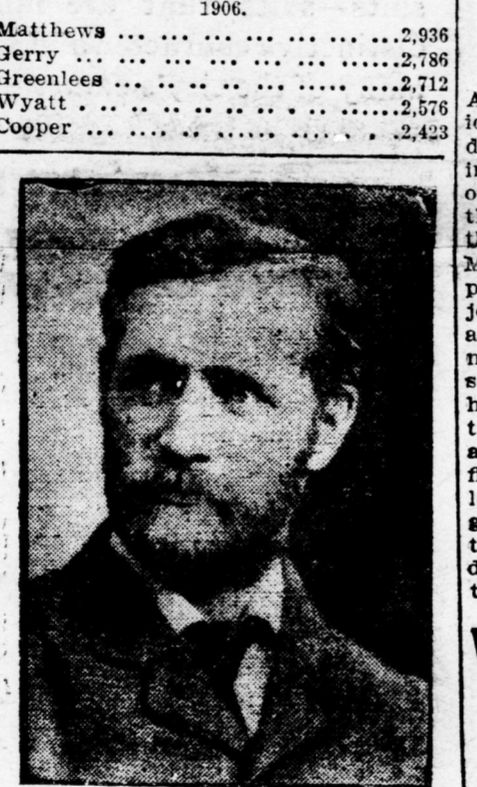

The temperance people elected seven of the twelve candidates they endorsed, as follows: Ald. Armstrong, Booth, Gerry, Greenlees, Matthews, Stevenson and Wyatt. Consequently, the liquor men elected only five of the twelve endorsed by them.

The aldermen, with the number of votes polled by them for the past three years are as follows:

	1906
Matthews	2,336
Gerry	2,272
Greenlees	2,212
Wyatt	2,176
Cooper	2,423

Christmas Greetings Reach Liner Plunging Through Huge Seas.

New York, Jan. 2.—Far out on the Atlantic, their ship lashed by a furious gale, and half-buried by tremendous waves, a cheery Christmas greeting was sent to the passengers on the Christmas Day by the liner La Touraine. It came to them by wireless telegraphy, having Majestic when flashed from an wireless station. The operator on the Majestic succeeded in reaching La Touraine, then far to the westward, and the message was given to the latter's passengers while the storm was at its height. La Touraine came in today, two days late, and her officers reported an extremely boisterous passage. For five days the wind blew with the violence of a hurricane, and at times the great waves swept almost entirely over the vessel. No serious damage was done, however, and none of those on the steamer was injured.

Jerome After Life Grafters

New York, Jan. 2.—The World this morning says:

"District Attorney Jerome will today begin the serious work of preparing for the prosecution of officers of life insurance companies who have abused their trust. It was stated yesterday by a man in a position to know what is going on with the various insurance companies that Mr. Jerome will undoubtedly receive aid from unexpected sources. He added that before the month was out Mr. Jerome would receive overtures from at least one 'squealer' in each of these companies: The Mutual Life, the Provident Savings Life, the Life Association of America, and the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association. While no promises of immunity are ever made by the district attorney to a 'squealer,' it is the unwritten law of Mr. Jerome's office not to prosecute those who give evidence which enables the people to convict offenders who might otherwise escape punishment."

BLIZZARD IN NEW MEXICO

Great Fall of Snow in Southwest and Inhabitants Suffer.

Albuquerque, N.M., Jan. 2.—After twelve hours of steady snowfall, one of the heaviest snows for many years now covers the whole of New Mexico. The depth of the snow varies from several inches on the mesas and in the Grande Valley, to as much as five or six feet in the mountains. Conditions are unprecedented. The zero weather is causing much suffering among natives and Indians.

WIRELESS DEFIES STORMS

Christmas Greetings Reach Liner Plunging Through Huge Seas.

New York, Jan. 2.—Far out on the Atlantic, their ship lashed by a furious gale, and half-buried by tremendous waves, a cheery Christmas greeting was sent to the passengers on the Christmas Day by the liner La Touraine. WALKED ON TRACK, STRUCK BY ENGINE

W. H. Smith Instantly Killed Near Komoka—Did Not Hear Engineer's Warning.

W. H. Smith, a farmer who lived two miles west of Byron, was killed by an engine running light on the Sarnia branch of the Grand Trunk a short distance west of Komoka about 8 o'clock last night.

Smith was walking on the track, and did not pay any attention to the signals of the engineer. He was thrown a considerable distance, and was badly mangled.

Coroner Ross, of Hyde Park, inquired into all the circumstances and concluded an inquest was not necessary, as Smith's death was clearly due to accident, with no blame attaching to the company.

WEATHER NOTES.

Fair weather prevails generally with cold conditions in Manitoba, Northern Ontario and Quebec, but little frost elsewhere. Another disturbance from the southwest promises snow and rain by morning in the lake region.

The defeat of Mr. Alex. Stuart, K.C., came as a surprise to very many Londoners. Mr. Stuart would have made a good alderman and should have been elected. Mr. Charles G. Moorehead, made a magnificent run, and announces that he will be in the field again next year. Messrs. Buchner

MOSCOW IN MIDST OF MERRYMAKING

The Revolt Crushed and Grim Tragedy Forgotten.

BIG REBEL LEADERS CAUGHT

Voikov and Malinkoff in Hands of the Police—Short Skirt for Those Caught With Arms.

Moscow, Monday, Jan. 1.—Night—Via St. Petersburg, Jan. 2.—Except for the numerous military patrols in the streets, and the pillars of smoke lazily floating above the ruins of factories and houses in the Presna district, there is little to recall the nightmare of the past ten days. As if by magic in 24 hours the appearance of the city has changed. The stores everywhere have been reopened, and the streets are crowded with holiday shoppers, making belated purchases for the Russian Christmas, which, according to the Julian calendar falls on Sunday. As the early northern night fell the guards were doubled, but the electric street lamps brilliantly lighted the shop windows, reassuring the people who lingered on merry-making with the careless indifference of the Russians to the dramatic tragedy just ended.

The Presna district, however, presented another picture. There people by the hundreds, who had been burned out, were excitedly searching the ruins or bemoaning the loss of dear ones, while the police and troops continued their unceasing hunt for hidden revolutionists. A batch of Drujniks surrounded in a sugar factory in the suburbs, during the night, surrendered this morning, when they found that further resistance was useless. The attack made by a body of Drujniks upon a detachment of troops stationed at a bridge, with instructions to cover the work of the firemen. The soldiers when attacked turned right about face and fired a volley, killing three students and wounding several others.

Two Leaders Caught.

This was the coldest day of the winter, the thermometer registering 15 degrees below zero. The roaring fires at which the revolutionists were gathered to the streets. Two most important captains were made today, Voikov and Malinkoff, the chiefs of the fighting organization and members of the national revolutionary committee. The authorities are promising amnesty for information regarding the leaders and the hiding-places of arms, but only a few are believed to be complying. It is understood that the prisoners will be tried by court-martial and some of the papers say that those caught with arms in their hands will be given a short skirt.

MATTHEWS WILL RUN FOR MAYOR

"Dick" Says He Intends to Seek the Honor After Mr. Judd Retires.

Ald. Matthews, who headed the list of councilors, made a speech from the window at the Free Press last night, and gave the party to understand that he was going to run for mayor next year.

"Gentlemen and fellow-electors," he said, amid great applause, "you have done for me today in the same way you have now done for three years. As on two other occasions I have headed the polls. I thank you all for the magnificent vote rolled up for me."

"When are you going to be mayor, Dick?" asked an elector.

"When our good friend Judd has done all he can for you, then I will ask you to do for me what you have done for him now."

Ald. Matthews advised them all to read the papers, follow what is going on and then see whether the slanders uttered against good men of the council are not unfounded. He declared that Mr. Judd was a good man and would stand by the city.

Mikado Receives Komura.

Tokio, Jan. 2.—Baron Komura, the special envoy of Japan to China, who negotiated the Japo-Chinese treaty, returned here tonight from Peking, and was received in audience by the Emperor immediately after his arrival. This exceptional reception of the statesman on New Year's Day is believed to be connected with the impending change of cabinet.

Rev. Dr. Dougherty Dead.

New York, Jan. 2.—The Very Rev. Dr. James Dougherty, rector of St. Gabriel's Roman Catholic Church in this city, died suddenly Sunday morning. Heart disease was the direct cause of death. Father Dougherty was born in Rondout, N. Y., 63 years ago. He was educated at St. John's College, Fordham, and at St. Sulpice, Montreal.

Wife's Error Causes Death Of a Waterloo Street Man

Benson Winegarden Given Carbolic Acid in Mistake for Olive Oil, and Dies in Ten Minutes.

Benson Winegarden, of 729 Waterloo street, died yesterday morning as a result of drinking carbolic acid, administered to him by his wife in mistake for olive oil.

Winegarden has suffered from kidney trouble for upwards of eight years and has been practically an invalid during that time, although able to be up and around occasionally.

New Year's Eve he was very ill, and his condition did not improve as the night advanced. About 4 o'clock in the morning he asked his wife to steep some herbs which he thought would bring him relief.

Mrs. Winegarden proceeded to do so. This medicine did not aid Winegarden a great deal, however, and about 6 o'clock his wife arose to give him a dose of olive oil.

The Winegardens are members of the Latter Day Saints' Church, and as Mrs. Winegarden stated to the Advertiser this morning, she believed olive oil a balm for all suffering. Her husband had been using it for years. The cure did not lay in the medicinal properties of the oil alone, but depended on the faith in which it was applied.

It seems that some time ago a daughter-in-law of Winegarden brought a bottle of carbolic acid from St. Mary's. She had been using it to kill the poison in a slight wound. The other day a daughter of Winegarden injured her hand with a pin, and after using the carbolic acid on the wound, she placed the bottle, which was half filled, on the sideboard on the dining-room. The olive oil bottle had been nearly emptied previously and the two bottles were very much similar in shape, though one was slightly larger than the other. The bottle of olive oil was not left in its usual place, and Mrs. Winegarden, not knowing this, and also being unaware that the acid had been left on the sideboard, took the poison in mistake, and offered it to her husband. The latter drank about a teaspoonful before discovering his mistake.

"My God!" he exclaimed. "What is that?"

Mrs. Winegarden ascertained that the bottle was labeled poison, and became almost hysterical. She notified her son, who speedily secured Dr. McCallum and Dr. Macgregor, but Winegarden succumbed before they arrived. He only lived ten minutes after taking the dose.

The deceased came to this city about three years ago from Norfolk County, where he was a respected farmer. He was 56 years of age, and leaves besides his widow, a family of eight children—all living at home. They are Charles, R., James, Norman, Alfred, Nina, Bertha and Alice.

The funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon.

A physician stated today that Winegarden's life might have been saved had he been given a quantity of alcohol or whisky. The latter is the only antidote known to the medical profession for carbolic acid poisoning, as it unites with the acid in making a non-poisonous compound.

1,000 PRINTERS OUT

And Thirty-Two New York Houses Have Declared a Lockout.

New York, Jan. 2.—One thousand printers went on strike here today in support of a demand for the 8-hour day, and 32 printing shops declared a lockout against their employees. The strikers immediately placed pickets in the vicinity of all shops where the lockout was declared, and three halls were secured by Typographical Union, No. 6, to accommodate strikers who wish to make their headquarters in.

In 160 printing shops the Typographical Union gained a victory without a man quitting work, as these shops granted the 8-hour day and the closed-shop principle demanded by the union.

JUST WALKED STREETS.

Police Did Not Make an Arrest on New Year's Day.

Not a single New Year's drunk graced the police court this morning. On Saturday only one drunk was run in, and on Sunday another. Both were discharged Sunday, when they sobered up. Not one drunk was arrested yesterday. This is remarkable, and is the first instance of the kind in many years. It speaks volumes for New Year's resolutions.

The holidays have been remarkably quiet. On Christmas only three drunks were apprehended, while on that day in Toronto the Good no less than 122 were run in. There was scarcely any shoplifting, and other misdemeanors were few.

Police Magistrate Love had little to do this morning. Sidney Saxe has been in for over a week on a charge of drunkenness, and after being warned by the magistrate to turn over a new leaf he was discharged.

Elizabeth Rice, who figured in the Christmas fight with Mrs. Jacoby, was remanded another week, as she is still in the hospital. Mrs. Jacoby, her partner in the row, was also remanded for a week.

HERE ARE ELECTION FIGURES AS DECLARED BY CITY CLERK

City Clerk Baker today made his official declaration of the result of Monday's election. The figures are practically the same as those given by the Advertiser, except in the cases of the waterworks and license reduction bylaws, but in no case has the general result been affected.

According to statute, Mr. Baker made his way to the auditorium of the city hall at noon and from the platform read the result of the election. The audience was not large, but select. It was composed of the municipal reporters of the daily papers. The statement was as follows:

MAYOR.
Judd, Joseph C. 3,365
Stevely, Samuel 3,042
Majority for J. C. Judd, 323.
