THE INSULTED ENGLISH FARMER

Why is the peasant nearly always idealized or degraded by people who don't know him, or caricatured by people who ought to know him? Even Richard Jeffries was not always to be trusted. There is only one careful and serious study of a peasant's life in the language, so far as I am aware, and that is contained in Mr. Bourne's "Batesworth Book" and "A Surrey Laborer." These two volumes, however, are not fiction but truth, and are more engrossing than a cartoon of trashy novels about a society of which most of the authors obviously know nothing. There is a peasant aristocracy vastly more self-respecting and pure of blood than most other aristocracies; but you can't get to know it by regarding it from the outside. Yet how strong, human and virile it still is!—From the London Chronicle.CLEVER COIN TRICK.Ask a friend to put a quarter in one pocket and a dime in the opposite pocket. Tell him that the quarter represents 20 and the dime 5. Now ask him to triple the coin that is in his right pocket and double that which is in the left pocket, and then add these two products together, simply telling you whether the result is odd or even. If it is even, then the quarter is in his right pocket, and the dime in the left; if it is odd, then the quarter is in his left pocket and the dime in his right.
You may give any value to the coins either 20 and 5, provided that one number is odd and the other even, the even number being given to the quarter. And you can, of course, use any other coins, so long as you give them odd and even values.—Strand Magazine.SNOW AT MONTREAL.

Chatham, April 8.—Albert Sonenius, a young man, who came out to this country from France, two years ago, and was employed as an expert in the Wallaceburg sugar factory, met with a serious accident last evening, which will likely cost him his life. He was working in the factory, when his apron caught in the machinery. He was drawn in, and could not get the garment off. His right leg was cut and bruised from the foot to the hip. He was brought to this city, and this morning it was found necessary to amputate the leg at the hip, as the bone was bare, and the whole leg had been cut up. He is a single man, 22 years of age, and has no relatives here.A Saving of 25% in Meat.
Thrifty housekeepers appreciate this saving in buying CLARK'S CORNED BEEF instead of uncooked butcher's meat. A saving of the cost of one pound in three means a big economy in the year. This is an economy in cost with equal or greater satisfaction in using. Join the household economists and buy CLARK'S MEATS.A safe remedy for want of sleep, and suited almost to everybody, is the eating of onions. The late Frank Buckland once said: "Everybody knows the taste of onions; this is due to a peculiar essential oil contained in this most valuable and healthy root. This oil has, I am sure, highly soporific powers. In my own case it never fails. If I am much pressed with work and feel I shall not sleep I eat two or three small onions, and the effect is magical."5,000 PEOPLE AT*ARMORIES SHOWMade-in-London Exhibition a 4,800—visited the "Made-in-London" exhibition in the armories yesterday.This was one of the best days of the week, and when midnight came there was a dried lot of ladies. The many visitors kept them busy from noon until midnight, and from every standpoint it was a most successful day.The exhibition will be closed tonight.

This afternoon a special programme was given by Tony Cortese's orchestra, and at night the Seventh Regiment Band will render a programme of unusual interest.There will be an auction of unsold goods tonight also, and the drawings for the prizes will take place. A monster crowd is anticipated.Children's Day.
"Children's Day" at the "Made-in-London" exhibition was a memorable one.It was a busy time, both for the youngsters and the ladies in charge, who had their hands full with the "Kiddies." The first of the day the place was literally swarming with the youngsters, and they certainly made themselves heard. A squad of policemen had the time of their lives keeping the little ones from removing anything from the big show. They annexed themselves to countless flowers, but on the whole were well behaved.The Punch and Judy show attracted large numbers of youngsters.
The booths, particularly the ice cream section, had a busy time, and altogether 75 gallons of cream disappeared.A fine programme of music was rendered by Tony Cortese's orchestra.
The members have been very popular during the week, but their programme yesterday particularly appealed to the boys and girls, and they made the fact known.A Big Crowd.
In the evening there was another great crowd. The armories were jammed, and it was with difficulty that a person moved about the hall.The booths were patronized well. In fact it was almost impossible to get in any of them for an hour or two until the crowd showed signs of thinning out.The Seventh Regiment Band, under Bandmaster Slater, furnished the music, and it was heartily appreciated.
The "Bijou Theatre" was crowded all evening. Two very clever playlets were presented. The first was "My Uncle's Will," the parts being taken by Mrs. J. E. Kerrigan, Mr. Kerrigan and Mr. F. H. Seratone. The cast was a particularly strong one. Mrs. Kerrigan especially showing ability of a very high order. The playlet was very popular."A String of Pearls."
"A String of Pearls" presented earlier in the week, was repeated, and proved more popular than ever.Mrs. Harry Rehnitz showed much ability in her difficult role, and Miss Ethelwyn Johnson scored as on the previous occasion. Mr. Harry Rehnitz was excellent, and Miss Ida Weldon acted her part most satisfactorily. Mr. Gordon MacLaren and Mr.
Ed. Shuttleworth did well.The Concert Hall.
The Concert Hall was crowded to capacity also. A very fine musical programme, arranged by Mr. Cyril Dwight-Edwards, was given, and it proved to be one of the most popular of the evening. Among the artists contributing numbers were Miss E. McBride, Miss Macdonald, Miss May Ashplant, Miss McLeod, Mrs.
McGee, Mrs. Stewart, Miss Chapman, Miss Annan (St. Thomas), Miss Eggleston, Mrs. T. G. Dochstader, and Mr. Haines. Mr. W. A. Bleuthner acted as accompanist for many of the artists in clever fashion, while Miss Lisle was also splendid in the others.Miss Graydon, treasurer of the ex-
