He sawisbly any other love is a love of the love is a love of the love of the love is a love of the right and privilege. Love is greater than hate. Let revenge. It is not revenge, it is justice we are seeking."

"Militarism must be crushed. This is a war of freedom. Let Britain remain true to herself. Those German military authorities who are responsible for the atrocities that have been committed in this war will be held responsible before the severest tribunal, but the people of Ger-, the common people, must not be enslaved."
