Zam-Buk's pain-soothing, discase-dispelling and skin growing powers create amazement everywhere. It stands supreme whether regarded as a first-aid for simple injuries or remedy for obstinate skin diseases.

Mr. B. Hager, of Edmonton, says:—'Zam-Buk's speedy healing beats me, but I recommend it everywhere.

"One day I was opening pineapple when the can-opener slipped and the rough jagged tin edge ripped open a two-inch wound in the palm of my hand. The pain was fearful and the blood simply spouted out.

"Having a box of Zam-Buk hasfily I immediately applied some, and to my great relief pain was quickly ended and bleeding stopped. For sores and wounds Zam-Buk leaves everything else far behind." Also for eczema, cold-sores, bad legs, ulcers, abscesses, piles, ring worm, poisoned wounds, etc. 50c. box.

PAPER?

The above qusetion is asked in nearly every weekly newspaper office in the country very often and the following from the Cass City Chronicle is about the best advice we have heard along this line:

The weekly newspaper game in a small town would be a much easier job if the work could be done as quickly as some people imagine. A young lady brought in quite a bit of copy late Wednesday afternoon, and when asked why she hadn't sent it in earlier in the week exclaimed, "Why they talk "Why, they told me you set the type for the paper on Wednesday night." Quite often part of the paper is print-ed as early as Tuesday and type for that portion of the paper was set on the linotype on Monday or even the Saturday before. The young lady acknowledged that she could have brought the paper earlier in the week just as well, and now that she knows the typesetting on a weekly newspaper is more than a "Wednesday night job" she says she will be the bearer of "early in the week" copy. and the printers will wear more smiles and forsake their grouchy ways when more people effect a like re-

So many seem to think that the mere act of doing the press work is all there is to it, that if they get their matter in at the time of going to press it can be handled, and there is no use getting in early. The fact is that as soon as one week's issue is off the press the work of getting ready for the next week commence and all that can be put in type early in the week is that much that is ready and is a great help to the

IF YOU HAVE A BAD COLD

To a statement telling people how to dress in order to avoid taking cold by exposure to excessively severe weather, Dr. Henry F. Vaughn has by exposure added this word of advice that can bear every emphasis: "Anyone catching a bad cold should forget his work, and take to bed immediately, and rest for a day or two in order to build up the body.

Generally a cold is a serious thing only when it is neglected. And the most flagrant neglect, is failure to rally physical resource in order to fight it and drive it out of the sys-tem. The man or woman who "keeps while suffering from a bad cold is courting pneumonia or bron-chitis or tuberculosis. That man or woman is flirting with death. While ordinary quiet at home helps a great deal in the fight for quick and thorough recovery, there is nothing quite so beneficial and sure as complete relaxation between the covers, with nothing to do but eat and sleep.

A good many people who are now in their graves would be alive and happy if they had not allowed themselves to be victims of the mistaken idea that a cold amounts to little and can safely be ignored. In a climate like ours that idea is a permicious fallacy.-Detroit Free Press.

ATTRACTIONS OF COUNTRY VERSUS THOSE OF CITY

The Farmer's Sun says that one of the outstanding differences between town and country is the presence of bright lights in the former and their absence in the latter. Therefore, to stop rural depopulation brighten up the country by the introduction of hydro.

By all means, let the country be made as bright as it is possible to make it; still it is very doubtful if rural depopulation will be stopped by any process of imitating the ways of city. They cannot hope to compet with the city in regard to certain attractions, nor should it try. The mere attempte at imitation is more likely to stimulate than to satisfy a desire for city life. The country has desire for city life. The country has attractions of its own, attractions in regard to which the city cannot compete. Would it not be better for dwellers in the country to develop the attractions peculiar to the country and to cultivate a keener appreciation of them, than to seek for things that are impossible?

It is possible to make a strong case for the advantage of country life; it would be possible to make a much stronger case if rural people were alive to their opportunities. There is much misery in the offices of which the country deadless are the case of the country deadless are the country deadless are the case of the country deadless are the case of the country deadless are the case of the cas which the country dwellers are hap-pily ignorant. It is not all a scene of joy that the city lights reveal; far from it. The average of human hap-piness is probably far greater in the country than it is in the city, and it might be made much greater still.—Glencoe Transcript.

It has Many Qualities.—The man who possesses a bottle of Dr Thomas' Eclectric Oil is armed against many ills. It will relieve a cough, break a cold, prevent sore throat; it will reduce the swelling from a sprain, relieve the most persistent sores and will speedily heal cuts and contusions. It is a medicine chest in itself, and can be get for a quarter of a dollar.

WHY NOT CANADIAN?

The Kingston Whig is strongly in favor of recognizing in the census re-turns that there is a Canadian race and a Canadian nationality. Persons whose ancestors for three generations were born in Canada are still classed as something else than Canadian. This is manfestly not only unjust but absurd. The Whig says:

"Think what it means to the new Canadian. Here, let us say, are a Swede and his wife who came to Canada fifteen years or so ago. They have a family who scarcely know the Scandinavian tongue or where Sweden is on the map. The census taker comes. Yes, he is a Swede and not ashamed of it, but his children, they are Camadians. No, says the Government of this Camada, they are Swedes If in the course of advances. Swedes. If, in the course of a dozen years more, one of the Swede's sons years more, one of the Swede's sons marries a young girl born in Canada of Scottish parents, their children are—what. Either Swedes or Scottish by choice—but not Canadians. About how long will it take to build up a healthy Canadian sentiment and articities and sentiment and articities.

patriotism under such absurd and grotesque methods?" Newcomers from foreign lands are "I'm not allowed much, but such sometimes accused of herding together and refusing to be assimilated; and yet the Government insists upon putting a European label on every citizen of Canada. In many cases, too, the label is misleading, even as an indication of racial origin. There may be three or four racial strains in an individual, and no earthly in-tellect can tell how far each enters into his physical, intellectual and spiritual make-up. It is mere guesswork. The best way is to recognize that Canada is a nation, and that everybody who is born here should be described as a Canadian, and nothing else.—Globe.

PASS THE BUTTER "Gimme some butter," more or less elegantly requested Pop Con-sumer at the head of the table.

"Sure, I'll send it up!" answered Old Si Producer at the other end of the table, as he handed a pound of the precious food to the dairyman on his right.

"I get a small hunk of this for my services," said the dairyman, suiting the action to the word and passing the dish on to the forlorn looking railroad magnate on his right hand.
