

ARTHUR VAILLANCOURT.

Arthur Vaillancourt, of Waterloo, Que., died there in his 39th year. He was born in the country of Lotbinière. He was educated at Laval University. He leaves a widow and three children.

---

JOSEPH A. CHARETTE.

Dr. Jos. A. Charette, of Montreal, was killed on 18th September while returning to his home from the trial of Bourret, Beauchamp and Foucault for the murder of Constable Bourdon. The doctor was one of the leading witnesses for the Crown in the trial. His death resulted from an accident to a motor car, driven by Joseph Girard, who, along with Alphonse Deguire, an occupant of the car, received injuries that are thought not to be serious. The machine smashed into a fence, turned turtle and crushed Dr. Charette beneath it.

---

BRUCE L. RIORDON.

Dr. Riordan, of Toronto, died on 29th August. Dr. Riordan was born in 1859 on 17th March. His father settled at Port Hope, where the doctor was born and where he received his early education. His medical education was obtained at McGill, where he graduated when 21 years of age. Subsequently he graduated from the University of Toronto. For two years he acted as a ship's surgeon on the Allan Line. He settled in Toronto in 1881 and became one of the surgeons for the Grand Trunk Railway. He held at various time honorable positions in medical societies. He was on the consulting staff of the General Hospital and was Dean of Grace Hospital staff at the time of his death. He was at one time president of the International Society of Railway Surgeons. He married a daughter of the late Dr. James Thorburn. His widow and son survive him.

---

J. R. RUTHERFORD.

Dr. John R. Rutherford, 74 years old, a practitioner at Aurora, Ont., for 35 years, and one of the best known men in that town, died recently of pneumonia, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Richardson, 229 Ouellette Avenue, Windsor, whom he came to visit a few weeks ago. He is survived by two sons, who live in British Columbia, and Mrs. Richardson. The body was taken to Aurora for burial.

---

J. M. SHAW.

Dr. J. M. Shaw, a well-known physician of Leeds county, died suddenly on 22nd September, at his home in Lansdowne Village.

---