

HOUSEHOLD NOTES

It is difficult to tell how many ill of death are due to unwholesome sleeping apartments. Science tells us that every person requires at least eight hundred cubic feet of air in his sleeping room, and that there should be the means of renewing the air at the rate of a cubic foot a minute.

The room in which two individuals sleep should be at least ten feet by six feet, if the ceiling is ten feet high, and a supply of two cubic feet of fresh air should be admitted every minute.

It is generally considered that a room with an eastern or southern exposure is a more wholesome sleeping room than one with a western outlook. A north room is to be shunned.

No baby will thrive in the winter unless it can play in the sunshine or breathe fresh air. Many children in heated houses, surrounded with all luxuries, pine for want of pure air and sunshine.

Do not allow draughts, but admit pure, fresh air to the sleeping room of the youngest baby. Let him bark and howl about often on a warm rug spread in strong sunlight.

Physicians advise people not to sleep turned towards the wall if the bed is set against it. Do not set a bed in this position if there is any other place for it.

The old-fashioned bed tester, which modern taste has revived, is not only picturesque but useful in shielding the eyes of the sleeper from the morning light, and the head from draughts.

The Most Wholesome Meats.

In the January Ladies' Home Journal Mrs. S. T. Rorer writes at length to show that Americans eat too much meat, but says she does not want to be understood as condemning meat entirely.

"After the day's work is over, and one can take time to rest and thoroughly digest a meal, dinner should be served. A warm beef soup, stimulating rather than nitrogenous, should form the beginning of the meal.

A DRUNKARD'S COMPLAINT.

Several peculiarities of human nature are illustrated by a brief notice addressed "To the Public," which appears in the Chattanooga Times. It reads:

"I hereby acknowledge myself an habitual drunkard, and warn every man connected with the liquor trade that he violates his oath by selling, giving, or allowing me to drink.

This warning is signed by Beverley C. Bass, who, says the paper in which it appears, is known to a majority of the people in Chattanooga as a man of good family and education, universally liked for his personal qualities, and until two years ago highly respected for his business ability.

I have drunk till I am nearly dead? he said, when requesting the publication of his card. "God knows I can get liquor. I take this method of cutting off the possibility of doing so."

The workman often eats his lunch on the same bench where he does his work. The olive man turns his desk into a dining-table. Neither gets the out of doors exercise he needs; neither takes the proper time for eating.

The cause of nine-tenths of the sickness of the world is constipation. From this one cause come indigestion; disorders of the stomach, liver and kidneys; biliousness, headaches, flatulence, heartburn, impurity of the blood, and the serious complications that follow. To begin with, constipation is a little thing, and a little thing will cure it.

"After the day's work is over, and one can take time to rest and thoroughly digest a meal, dinner should be served. A warm beef soup, stimulating rather than nitrogenous, should form the beginning of the meal.

DOES IT PAY TO TIPPLE.

You know it don't. Then, why do you do it? I know why. It requires too much self-denial to quit. Mr. A. Hutton Dixon's medicine, which is sold privately, is pleasant to the taste, and will cure you of all desire for liquor in two or three days, so that you would not pay five cents for a barrel of beer or whiskey.

Official statistics show that while the mortality amongst the Russians is forty per cent, amongst the rate amongst the Kazin-Tatars, who are abstainers from intoxicants, is only twenty-one per cent. These Tatars, who live in Russia, number 640,000. With the exception of their total abstinence, they live under exactly the same conditions as the Russians.

SEED GRAIN.

Of Interest to Farmers. Prof. Saunders, of the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa, has issued the following notice:

The annual distribution of samples of some of the best varieties of seed grain to farmers, for test in different parts of the Dominion, has during the past ten years, done much to direct attention to the importance of sowing the best varieties of seed in many sections of the country. This introduction of new sorts has resulted in a decided improvement in the yield and quality of the grain produced.

Having received instructions from the Honorable Minister of Agriculture to continue this useful work and make another distribution during the coming season, I shall be pleased to receive applications from all who desire samples.

Among the varieties of grain to be distributed during the coming season will be some of the more promising of the new cross bred sorts which have been produced at the Experimental Farm. All the grain sent out will be carefully cleaned and true to name.

The new cross bred sorts which have been produced at the Experimental Farm, are selected from among those which, after being submitted to general and repeated tests, have produced the largest average crops of grain of good quality.
