

EXEMPT
Sec. 15(U)

Over-the-Counter Medicines

The manufacturing of over-the-counter medicines in the world is dominated by about twenty multinational companies. Such companies often have the world mandate for the production of an active ingredient in just one of their establishments, from which it is exported to other countries, primarily to the United States. Canada has no establishments with such a world mandate. In fact, Canada manufactures virtually no active ingredients and the exports of