FIRST OFFICIAL PHOTOGRAPH OF PRESIDENT WILSON AND HIS SECRETARY, JOSEPH TUMULTY, TAKEN IN THE WHITE HOUSE OFFICE IN WASHINGTON.

Because his brother took splendid position after 21 days study, Edward Balfour enrolls for Moon College 30-day stenography. Ask him, 284 Yonge street.

Looked Beyond Him.
Sad one (jauntily)--Would you like a nice partner for the next dance?
Glorious one (innocently)--Why, yes! Bring him up.--Princeton Tiger.

A Tightwad.
Gerald: "Prattley is an awful tightwad!"
Geraldine: "Is he?"
Gerald: "I should say as much! He won't even tell a story at his own expense!"--Judge.

"IN OLD KENTUCKY."
When "In Old Kentucky" returns to the Grand Opera House playgoers will have another opportunity of witnessing one of the most delightful and entertaining dramas on the stage. "In Old Kentucky" has been a standard amusement enterprise for many years, but it never grows old and never ceases to charm with its manifold merits. It remains today, after a decade of continuous prosperity, one of the most stirring and forceful dramas, as well as one of the most wholesome and most entertaining, in the entire list of stage offerings seeking favor at the hands of the playing public. Its reputation is world-wide and its record of success amazing. There is yet no abatement of interest in it and it remains today as fresh, as bright and as new as on the day of its birth. Its attractive features are many and diverse. There is a thrilling horse-race scene, there is the rollicking fun of a score of little colored lads in their songs, dances and band music. There is good, vigorous, red-blooded action, sparkling comedy and a charming love romance. The story thrills and glows and stirs. It has fun and childish gaiety, it has intensity and heart throbs, and comedy and genuine laughs. Tender people cry and laugh alternately as the tale unfolds, and there is a touch of rugged nature, a glimpse of flying thoroughbreds, a strain of appealing sentiment--all revealed in four acts of good, honest drama. Miss Mildred Johnson will appear in the leading role. Miss Johnson has played the central figure of the brave mountain girl in the piece for four seasons and is a charming and talented young actress. The engagement at the Grand will begin with a special Easter Monday matinee.

Of all sad words of women or men--I read of Moon College but didn't attend. But even yet, brother, they'll consider your case. Stenography in 30 days or 12 to 20 weeks' evenings. 234 Yonge street.
