I stood upon the ocean's sandy beach,
And with a reed I wrote upon the sand these words:
"Agnes I love thee:
But the winds came and the waves rolled mountains high
And blotted out the fair impression;
Cruel waves, treacherous sand, fragile reed
No longer will I trust to thee;
But from the mountain's peak
I'll pluck the tallest pine,
And, dipped in the crater of Vesuvius, with it I will write
Upon the high and burnished heavens,
These tender words:
"G. H. McKay of 49 Charlotte St. is selling prints lower than any other house,"
And I would like to see any vagrant wave
Wash that out.

Married in the Police Station.

The case of the young couple who were arrested in the old Burying Ground on Sunday evening by officers Ring and Covay is one that excited a great deal of sympathy among the police force generally. The young man and the girl belong to different parts of Kings county, and have been acquainted for over a year. They were engaged and were to be married about a month hence. The old burying ground has lately become a resort for loose characters and the police are making an effort to break up the haunt, and so it happened that this young country couple who had strayed in there were seen reclining on the grass in a position which the officers considered compromising. No serious misdemeanor had been committed it appears but under the circumstances and considering the character of the persons who frequent the place the officers arrested the pair and took them to the police station. They were locked up in separate cells and when they appeared before the court at nearly one o'clock it must have been with little heart, for they had of necessity been fasting since the night before. Through the kindness of some of the force they got something to eat in the afternoon. Although both were quite well spoken of by the few who know them, not a friend called on them, and the kindness of the policemen towards the unfortunate couple speaks well for their humanity.

No penalty was imposed by the court but it was decided that the couple should be married at once. They were willing, and last evening at 6 o'clock the ceremony was celebrated in the guard room in the presence of several policemen; officer Moore furnished the ring and Rev. Dr. Bennet performed the ceremony which made Edward Wright and Sarah McAfee man and wife, officers Moore and Ring acting as witnesses. The newly married couple before leaving the station were presented with a substantial token of the good wishes of the policemen in a sum of money.

About the Exhibition.

An adjourned meeting of the directors of the Exhibition association was held yesterday afternoon. The advertising committee recommended that a sum not exceeding $1,000 be spent in advertising in the newspapers published in the provinces; that the necessary tickets, blank forms, certificates, etc., for the exhibition be printed; that 100 electrotypes of the exhibition building be procured for advertising. The reports were adopted, and its several recommendations will be carried out.

A letter was read from General Superintendent Burditt with regard to the allowance of privileges to make and sell articles for consumption on the grounds. He could not see anything objectionable in the sale of confectionary, vegetable soups, condensed milk, soda water, lemorade, fruit syrups, tea, coffee, and other light refreshments and it would be a source of considerable revenue to the association. The report submitted at the last meeting recomending that this matter be left in the hands of the superintendent of space was than adopted.

The special attractions committee report that Mr. Peters had arranged to put in an organ and that it would be advisable to arrange some musical performances in connection with it; that Mr. T. H. Hall had consented to get up a concert, consisting of local talent only, and therefore at a trifling expenditure. With reference to bands the committee recommended that a grant of $600 be made as the expense of hiring these would be from $50 to $70 a day. The report was adopted, and it was further decided to appropriate $1,000 for the purchase of fireworks.

Equity Court.

In the case of Collier et al vs. Jones, counsel reported to the court this morning that a satisfactory agreement had been arrived at and the proceedings in court would be discontinued.

The Carritte Fertilizer nuisance matter is set down for tomorrow.

The matter of Charles J. Osman and Harvey Railway, William Willis, The National Improvement Company of New York and Charles H. Harmon; an application for a hearing to dissolve an injunction is also set down for to-morrow, and will be dealt with provided the Fertilizer case does not proceed.

Police Court.

John Brennan and Robert Queen were fined $4 each for drunkenness.

Harry Hatheway, a negro, who said he arrived here yesterday from St. Paul, had made the policebuilding his lodging house for the night, being sent there by "A tall thin policeman." The magistrate told him to beware of the tall thin man in the future, for if he appeared before the court in the same way again he would get 6 months in jail. Harry took the warning and left happy.

Among the Shipping

A telegram received at Halifax, Friday says that the schooner Susie E., previously reported as having struck on Seal Ledge, is full of water and is breaking up and that on the recommendation of the surveyors her hull and cargo were sold Thursday. Some of the sails and rigging were saved. The Susie E. was bound for St. John. She is insured for $2500 in the J. F. Kenny agency and for $1000 in the Nova Scotia agency.

ST. MARTINS' POST OFFICE BURNED.—About 12.15 last night fire was discovered in the post office at St. Martins. By that time the interior of the building was in flames, and these spread so rapidly that the structure was burned to the ground in a very short time. The office was kept in connection with a grocery store by Mr. F. Mosher, and the entire contents of the building were destroyed. The origin of the fire is at present unknown. The loss will be about $2,000, while the insurance is light.

THE FATAL TOBACCO PIPE.—On Friday week a girl named Wearton of Joggins having been to River Hebert started to walk to her home a distance of about 4 miles. Going along through the woods she took a pipe from her mouth and while it was still lighted placed it in one of her pockets which happened to contain several matches. The fire from the pipe ignited the matches and set the girl's clothing on fire. She at once set out on a run with her clothing all on fire and her sister who was with her could not catch her till she dropped exhausted some three-quarters of a mile from their own house. The sister extinguished the fire getting her own hands badly burned in so doing. The running in the wind had fanned the flames and the girl was so badly burned that she died next day. She was buried at Rgged Reef on the following Sunday.—Amherst paper.

Athletic.

George Hosmer arrived in Boston Sunday from Duluth.

Nearly 20,000 people witnessed an athletic meeting held at Buffalo recently.

With the possible exception of the New York and Staten Island, all of the athletic clubs will have strong cross-country teams in training in a few months.

In all probability Sydney Thomas will run a match race of 12 miles with W. H. Morton. Last March Morton won the open 20-mile race, creating new records from 15 miles up.

The New Jersey Athletic Club has won nearly all the banners put up for competition this year, and have an interesting collection which probably cannot be surpassed by any other club.

J. S. Mitchell, formerly of the New Jersey Athletic Club, has joined the Irish-American Athletic Club which he will represent at the Championship meeting in Washington in October.

The Ring.

WHAT THE FIGHTERS ARE DOING.

The friends and admirers of the world's champion bantam weight, George Dixon, are preparing a reception for him on his return to this city. He, accompanied by his backer and trainer, Tom O'Bourke, sailed on Sunday from England for this country. The little fellow has made scores of friends and hundreds of dollars in the "tight little isle," but his head has not been turned by his success, writes his backer, and he is the same unassuming young fellow who left America three months ago. Strange to say, not a boxer has challenged Dixon in his absence, but it is probable that his arrival here will be the signal for at least two defiances. Cal McCarthy claims to have the backing and be anxious for another fight, and says he will endeavor to get on a match immediately. McCarthy wont fight with two-ounce gloves again, but will demand a battle with skin mits. Little Johnnie Murphy, the Boston feather-weight, believes he will stand an even chance with Dixon, and is ready to meet the colored boy if a match can be arranged. Many good judges of boxing believe that Johnnie could win from the colored boy, and nearly all agree that he would make a harder fight against Dixon than McCarthy.

Patsy Kerrigan is excited over the prospects of a battle with one of the tiptoppers in his class. The Erie County Athletic Club of Buffalo has offered a purse of $2,000 for a meeting between Kerrigan and any one in his class, and the young northender has accepted. Who his opponent will be is not yet settled, but it will be probably be Billy Myer.

MEAT ON FRIDAY.

A Dispensation From the Vatican for August 15.

The Catholic News of New York has received the following cablegram from Rome:

"ROME, August 2.—By decree of the holy office the faithful will be allowed the use of flesh meet on Friday, August 15. This dispensation is granted in honor of the feast of the assumption of the "Blessed Virgin."

Rev. Dennis O'Connor, of Sandwich, Ont., superior of the Basilian Fathers, has been appointed bishop of London, Ont., to succeed Most Rev. John Walsh, who was made archbishop of Toronto last year.

Death of Rev. Adin Ballou.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

MILFORD Mass. Aug. 5.—The Rev. Adin Ballou, pastor Emeritus of Hopedale Universalist church, died this morning aged 87. He was born in Cumberland R. I. and entered the Baptist ministry in 1821 and became a Universalist in 1823. He was founder of the Hopedale Community in 1842 and upon its dissolution in 1856 became pastor of the Universalist Society formed thereof. He was a prominent anti-slavery worker, became a mason in 1824, and was a Knight Templar. He is a lineal descendant of Marechal Guinebond Ballou, a general under William the Conqueror. The family settled in Rhode Island in 1646. He leaves a widow and married daughter.

The Brittany Girl's Petticoat.

In Brittany a curious matrimonial custom prevails. On certain fete days the young ladies appear in red petticoats with white or yellow borders around them. The number of borders denotes the portion the father is willing to give his daughter. Each white band, representing silver denotes 100 francs per annum and each yellow band denotes gold and betokens 1,000 francs a year. Thus a young man who sees a face that pleases him has only to glance at the trimmings of the petticoats to learn what amount accompanies the wearer.

EUROPEAN GOSSIP.

An English Outburst Against Prince and Cardinal—The Irish Feeling Against Italy—The Dunlo Case.

Harold Frederic in New York Times.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—A lot of solemn old tories are blowing out their cheeks with rage because the Prince of Wales has written a letter saying as a matter of courtesy that he thought Cardinal Manning ought to be giving precedence next to royalty in England.

The papers have been filled ever since with letters and indignant protests from Oxford and the scattered seats of the country gentry vowing vengeance upon the conservatives when the next election comes on account of this subserviency to Rome, but we all know the trivial importance of such an outcry. The parsons and their friends talk very londly toward the end of each parliament, but they always vote the tory ticket.

The real significance of this sudden revival of excitement about Rome turns, as most other contemporary movements in English politics turn, upon the Irish question. Readers of these despatches are familiar with the systematic manner in which the Irish people for generations have been whipsawed between the Vatican and the English government. The conditions of the bargain from time to time alter with varying advantage to the contracting parties, but there is always a deal on between London and Rome, and its purpose remains the same.

The Vatican gets exceptional favors in all sorts of ways from the British government and in return exerts all its power to use its church machinery and prestige in Ireland to bolster up the sinking fabric of landlord control. The existence of this standing bargain is no secret, but occasionally some peculiarly offensive sign of it comes to the surface, and then there is a passing explosion of wrath.

That is what happened just now. The Vatican for years has been trying to stamp out the institution of mixed marriages in Malta, where their prevalence has had the effect of greatly relaxing the authority of the church over the population. Lord Salisbury last winter sent an accredited special envoy to the Vatican, with the result that it has finally been arranged to give Catholic prelates power to declare these marriages invalid.

Mr. Gladstone attacked this unprecedented concession in a powerful speech on Wednesday night and the tories are so nervous about its evident effect on public feeling that the following day in the Commons they brought up the question of his own former dealings with the Vatican in the days when he was fighting Ireland and getting help from Rome through the medium of Sir George Errington. Mr. Gladstone admits the impeachment, but makes the intelligible distinction that Errington was a purely private intermediary, whereas Lord Salisbury had been dealing with the Pope through an officially appointed envoy.

Nothing of immediate importance will come out of all this, but the discussion of it is attracting widespread attention throughout the three kindoms, and the net result must be still further to weaken the ties which bind the Irish to Italian churchmen in the Vatican.

Unquestionably London during the week has cared much less for the papal pretensions or Russian menace or Argentine bloodshed than for the Dunlo divorce case. It would be difficult to convey an idea of the depth and universality of the existing delight over the fact that Belle Bilton is to remain in the peerage. Fven the Times devotes a leading article to outspoken condemnation of the selfish and unfeeling way in which Dunlo's father, the Irish Earl Clancarty, has throughout behaved toward her, and it is this feeling which has made the Bilton girl a sort of popular heroine. Not Sir James Hannen himself was able to escape its influence. His charge was unique in the annals of British jurisprudence in that it contained a long philosophic study of the ethics of actresses and the Bohemian classes associated with them, and warned the jurors that these were people whose life was quite foreign to jurymen's ordinary notions, and must therefore be judged from a different point of view.
