A certain Edinburgh organist, who "posts up" his Sunday service lists at the church door, had recently a very practical illustration of the risks that may attend the shortening of another ities. The late Dr. E. J. Hopkins of the City Temple wrote an anthem, "I Will Wash My Hands In Innocency."

The organist in his haste no doubt set this down as "I Will Wash—Hopkins," and was surprised when next day some wag sent him a cake of soap "to help wash Hopkins!"—Glasgew News.

FIRE AT WEYMOUTH

Mill Property Destroyed and There Was Only $500

WEYMOUTH, N. S., Aug. 30.—Fire which broke out in the barn of Henry E. Oakes this evening destroyed that building and communicated to the adjoining wharf property owned by the Campbell Lumber Company, destroying their small grist mill electric light plant, box factory, lath mill and blocksmith shop, entailing a total loss of $16,000 on which there is but $500 insurance. Mr. Oakes' barn contained his season's hay, several carriages and wagons and other articles. His loss is about $1000, on which he had $500 insurance.

The wharf property had been carrying an insurance of $8000 but this was allowed to run out about two weeks ago. The mill was originally built by Henry E. Oakes, but was acquired by the Campbells several years ago. Pier No. 4, on which the mill was situated, was built up with sawdust and edgings, is on fire. The nature of its construction is such that it will be hard to extinguish the flames, and it will probably burn for several days. Strehuous work on the part of the bucket brigades saved the c ook house and tenements situated on the pier. The steamers Westport and Ida Lue rendered valuable assistance with their pumps, but everything was as dry as tinder and burned like paper.

WILL LIKELY REGOVER

A telephone message from Hartland last evening was to the effect that Benjamin McIsaacs, although in a critical condition, would likely recover unless some unforeseen trouble sets in.

Mr. McIsaacs, who is the son of a well known fruit dealer of East Florenceville, met with an unfortunate accident at Hartland yesterday. Shortly before noon he was working on the roof of his house when he suddenly lost his balance and fell to a lower roof, landing on his back and dislocating his shoulder and fracturing his spine. Yesterday afternoon an operation was performed on the unfortunate man by Drs. Rankine, Ross and Hagerman. A broken bone was removed.

Governor-General Lost in Danse Fog in

TORONTO, Aug. 30.—Carada nearly lost its Governor Gereral Saturday, according to a despatch received here from Vancouver, B. C. On his return from Dawson he called at Jervis' inlet and went hunting accompanied only by his dog. Failing to return in time, a number of search parties were organized from his steamer the Quadra, fires were lighted along the shore and gun signal fired from the steamer. The fog, however, was very dense, and for five nours and a half the search went on. He was event-

DEFENCE PLANS LONDON, Aug. 30.—The Globe thinks that in war time the same difficulty would assail the commander of the British fleet as faced Washington in the formation of his American army out of the militias of the disunited states. CURIOUS PRAYERS.

Of curious prayers a writer says: 'I have heard a layman utter this petition during his prayer: 'O Lord, be thou with us in our upsittings and our downrisings — a variant of the text in the Psalms, 'Thou knowest my downsittings and my uprisings. A minister occasionally introduced a Latin sentence into his prayer and forthwith proceeded to translate it. Another minister in his early days experienced considerable difficulty with the long prayer before the sermon. In nonconformist churches this usually occupies a quarter of an hour, but long before this period had been reached he was wound up. On one occasion, while in this dilemma, he startled his hearers with the words, 'And now, O Lord, I will relate unto thee a little anecdote!' "—London Standard.

From the inception of the strike at Glace Bay the department, while not actively intervening, has kept in close touch with parties, and whilst no re quest has been received for government should have the fullest possible information in regard to the situation.

Lena Christopher drank carbolic acid tonight and died in an hour. She was a maid in the employment of Joseph Kavanagh and was seen at eight o'clock on the steps of his house talking in an excited way to a man. As he turned from her she was seen. As he turned from her she was seen hy a cabman to put a phial to her lips and fall. He detected the odor of a carbolic and hurried her to St. Luke's Hospital but relief measures were unsuccessful. She was a native of Gloucester township near Ottawa and was an unusually pretty young woman.

At the Opera House last evening the great Clivette and his company presented a very attractive program of magic and mystery. The audience was large, and the work of the different performers was well received. Clivette himself was naurally the main attraction. In the sleight of hand work and in several of the standard tricks of a more elaborate nature his performance was highly creditable, but most interesting of all his work were the silhouettes which were really very clever.

The Pantzers, gymnasts and contortionists are equal to any ever seen here, and were indeed deserving of the hearty applause which greeted their performance.

"THE VOLUNTEER ORGANIST

"THE VOLUNTEER ORGANIST."

"The Volunteer Organist," which comes to the Opera House the first three nights of next week, was written for the express purpose of exposing hypocrisy, especially with its dealings with the liquor question. "Urlah Heap," as portrayed by Dickens, has nothing to say except being so "umble." The skill of the novelist has made this character famous, not to say immortal, because of "Urlah's" rampant hypocrisy masquerading under the name of humbleness. William B. Gray surely most have had this character in mind when he drew the pen picture of "Hubbard Griffin" in "The Volunteer Organist." The American public, quite rightly, has always held in detestation hypocrites, liars and drunkards. There may be some sympathy extended to one addicted to strong drink with the hope that he will reform and be a better man, but with the hypocrite we lose all patience and feel that to regenerate him it will be necessary like Nicodemut that he be born again.
