FROM ALL OVER THE MARITIME PROVINCES

ROTHESAY

Rothesay, Nov. 8—Netherwood was the scene of a most enjoyable Hallowe'en celebration on Saturday evening last, when the principals, Misses Pitcher and Ganong entertained the pupils and a few Rothesay friends. The recreation room was prettily decorated with green vines, Japanese lanterns, class flags and Jack-o'-lanterns and large red apples, and presented a very gay appearance. Half past seven was the hour for "the party to begin," and everybody received a cute programme, appropriately decorated in water colors, with either a Jack-o'-lantern, a tub with red apples floating on the water, or with strings of red apples. First came a guessing contest. Advertising pictures cut from magazines were fastened on the walls about the room. There were twenty-five of these, and the answers were written on cards provided for the purpose, and a prize was given for the best. Next came a waltz, two-step and lancers; then a candy pull, in which everybody took part. The candy was made by a professional from the city, and was fine. Another waltz, and country dance brought a delightful evening to a close.

Rothesay, Nov. 9—It is to be regretted that there was not a larger audience to hear the address of Duncan Anderson on agricultural matters in the church hall. Ormond Wetmore, of Clifton, was in the chair and Messrs. Anderson, of Orilla (Ont.), and Dow, of Woodstock, were the speakers.

Mr. Anderson, while he talked a good deal about the rotation of crops made clover as a fertilizer his principal topic. He contrasted the conditions of farming here and in Ontario and pointed out the reasons why in his opinion farming was not a greater success in some districts.

Mr. Anderson spoke also of the value of raising and feeding roots instead of buying expensive heavy feed and bran.

He also talked entertainingly upon the different ways of curing clover and its value as feed, of the uses of different kinds of harrows and the value of manures of different age, maintaining that there is greater strength by far in the green manure.

Mr. Dow spoke upon dairy matters from the standpoint of an expert.

A large party of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Sayre drove out in buckboards yesterday afternoon to Mr. Sayre's summer residence, Kinghurst, and had a pleasant time.

Some of the boys of Rothesay College took advantage of J. Simeon Armstrong surveying some lots for summer residences to take a lesson in the work. Some of them are looking forward to an engineering course and this instruction will not come amiss.

On Wednesday eevning the Do-Say Comedy Company presented A Wife's Advice, a four-act drama, under the able management of its author, Mr. Theodore A. Doucet. Little Miss Bessie Rogers and Master Charlie Kennah appeared very much at home on the stage and delighted the audience with the natural manner in which they performed the parts assigned them. Miss Gussie Doucet as the heroine maintained the reputation she has already established by her excellent acting. Misses Mary White and Irene Doherty won hearty applause for the capable rendering of their difficult parts. Mr. John Petre as the villain did excellent work. Mr. Frank Melanson in the part of Clifford Wallace was exceedingly good. Mr. Arthur Melanson appeared at his best as Bert Wallace. Mr. William Robertson in his acceptation of the part of Hank Jordan caused much laughter. Mr. Edmond White made a capital letter carrier, and did the part full justice. Needless to say Mr. Doucet performed in his usual brilliant style. Special scenery was painted for this play by Mr. Doucet. Congratulations are extended to him for the success of the entertainment.

Miss Annie Power, who sang very sweetly The Song the Choir Sang, pleased the audience greatly. Mr. Frank Power also sang very well between the acts.
