Thursday last, in the form of a gunning party with their guns on their shoulders, composed of both ladies and gentlemen. The ladies looked perfectly at home with their guns on their shoulders, and seemed to handle them with as much skill as did the gallant young men at their sides. Each face beamed with delight as they held aloft the string of partridges so lately brought low. The gentlemen were laden with bunches of brilliant autumn leaves and bright red berries gathered from the woods near by, and as the party tramped along, followed by the beautiful bird dogs, Beppo and Leo, belonging to Dr. Carroll, it looked quite picturesque, and far outrivalled the gypsies who have so lately been among us.

A King With Thirty Queens.

All the greek Play.

A master mariner who makes periodical trips to the Gilbert Islands, and who recently arrived in port, says that King Timbanoka is a very large man, weighing nearly three hundred pounds, and he is a regular despot. He has thirty wives, and has several times had them all down on board the vessel. They were almost all young, but very homely. They have very long hair and regular features. The chief treats them well, and often takes them in a lot on board a trading schooner and buys for them anything that takes their fancy. He lives in a so-called palace made of cocoanut trees, thatched with palm leaves, and he has it furnished with chairs, lounges, pictures, cutlery, crockeryware, etc., imported from this city. He is very fond of champagne, and always has a good supply of that and other wines on hand, and quantities of canned mrats and fruits. He buys anything he sees on the schooners that takes his fancy; he has a number of gold watches and chains and lots of jewelry. Sometimes he would come on board dressed in a handsome silk gown, looking like a fat old lady; at other times he had on a full admiral's uniform, with sword, epaulets and cocked hat.

He will not allow a white man to live on his the same experience.

A Rind Husband.

From the Arkansaw Traveler.

A man who was traveling along a country road in Arkansaw was overtaken by a gaunt fellow who saked:

"How fur yer goin' on this road?"

"About two miles."

when yer get ter Dr. Gillum's—big white home on the right—stop an' tell him that Bill Hehley's wife is powerful sick an' wants him right now."

"I'll do so. Are you Mr. Henley!"

"Yes, sir."

"I'ls fortunate that you saw me, for instead of going all the way to the doctor's you can now go back and stay with your wife.

"Yes, but you see I wanter go to the circus. That's the reason I can't go all the way to the dock's. They tell me that they've got ten monkeys an' er b'ar. Wall, here's whar I turn off. Don't forgit ter tell the dock."

The great lung healer is found in that excellent medicine sold as Bickle's Anti Consumptive Syrup. It soothes and diminishes the sensibility of the membrane of the throat and sir passages, and is a sovereign remedy for all coughs, colds, hearseness, pain or sore mess in the chest, bronchitis, etc. It has cured many when supposed to be far advanced in consumption.

How They Fixed It.

From the Minneapolic Tribina,
Our the silent, slumbering city,
Night had spread her sable pall,
And a dense funeral blackness
Left its shadow over all.
Smith and Jones and Brown together
Chanced to be that sombre eve,
And the darkness brooding o'er them
Could not fail by make them grieve.
"Ah, it's sad to see this blackness
Qer our town," they softly said.
Then they pitt their heads together
And agreed to paint it red.
