G. W. STEPHENS MONTREAL.

November 20, 1909.

Dear Sir:

In reply to your letter of 18th re the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act and its usefulness, my only experience in connection with it was as a member of the first Board of Arbitration that sat under this Act in the settlement of the Dock Labourers Strike in the Spring of 1907. In this instance, the law, as it stands, seemed to meet in fair way the needs of that particular case, since which time I have had no opportunity of knowing in what way it might be improved.

Regretting that I am unable to give you any further information in the matter, I beg to remain,

Yours faithfully,
