Continue transplanting evergreens and strawberries. Prepare ground for transplanting and fall sowing. Propagate plants by cuttings. Remove all plants to the greenhouse, for the winter, during this month. Take up onions, &c., as they ripen. Collect seeds as they ripen; choose a dry day for gathering them, if put away in a damp state they are apt to decay; from carelessness in this respect, great disappointment often accrues. Some seeds ought to be gathered a little before they are ripe, otherwise, they will be entirely lost. Begin to prepare composts for spring use.
