"A Little Nonsense Now and Then"

A colored drill sergeant is reported as saying to his squad: "Now when I gives de word of comman', 'Eyes right!' I wants to heah every niggah's eyeballs click."

"Don't you want to lend a hand to our soldier boys on the other side?" asked the orator at the women's meeting. "Lend a hand?" piped out one of the sweet young things. "Why, I gave my hand to one before he went over!"

Medical Lieutenant (in Judge)—And what is your ailment? Aviation recruit—The roof of my mouth is sunburnt, sir. Medical Lieutenant—The roof of your mouth? Aviation recruit—Yes, sir, I've been watching the airships.

"Bobby," said his mother, "you haven't been begging cookies from Mrs. Nexdore again? You know I told you you mustn't do such a thing when you went in there." "No, mamma, I didn't," answered Bobby. "I just said: 'This house smells as if it was full of cookies, but what's that to me?'"

"Two penn'orth of bicarbonate of soda for indigestion at this time of night," cried the chemist, who had been aroused at two a.m., "when a glass of hot water does just as well!" "Weel, weel," returned Sandy hastily, "I thank you for the advice. I'll no bother ye after all. Gude night."

A woman left a baby in its carriage in front of a department store, reports the Boston Transcript. A policeman found it there and believing it was abandoned he wheeled it to the station nearby. As he passed down the street, a gamin yelled: "What's de kid done, officer?"

A black woman halted in front of a produce store in a Georgia town, says the Saturday Evening Post, and addressed the proprietor, who was also of color: "Is dese aigs fresh?" "I ain't sayin' dey ain't," he answered back. "I ain't axin' you is dey ain't," she snapped. "Ise axin' you is dey is. Is dey?"

A London "Tommy," lying in hospital, beside him a watch of curious and foreign design. The attending doctor was interested.

"Where did your watch come from?" he asked.

"A German giv it me," he answered.

The doctor inquired how the foe had come to convey his token of esteem and affection.

"'E ad to," was the laconic reply.—London Nation.

Passing through a military hospital, a distinguished visitor noticed a private in one of the Irish regiments who had been terribly injured.

To the orderly the visitor said: "That's a bad case. What are you going to do with him?"

"He's going back, sir!" replied the orderly.

"Going back!" said the visitor in surprised tones.

"Yes," said the orderly. "He thinks he knows who done it."—Tit-Bits.

First bluejacket: Hullo, mate! I thought you was ashore with the captain, playing golf.

Second bluejacket: Well, so I was. It's like this 'ere. 'E gives me 'is sticks to carry, and then takes one and puts a li'l white ball on top of a bit o' sand, and, my word! he catches that ball a fair swipe. Must 'a' gone miles. Then 'e turns to me and sez, "Did yer see where that went to?" So I sez, smart like, "Out o' sight from the moment of himpact, sir," an' 'e sez, "Go back on board, ye blinkin' fathead!" —Punch.

The Irishman and the Scotsman are usually very good chums in the trenches, although they are miles apart in the matter of temperament. The Irishman is all for the present and let the future take care of itself, but the Scotsman is full of care for the future and in every way cautious and canny.

Pat and Sandy, reconnoitring round an old farmhouse, found a war-weary chicken. Pat was overjoyed. He was sick of bully and biscuits.

"That's a bit of luck," said Pat. "Sure we'll have a decent supper to-night."

"No, no," said Sandy. "Let's keep it till to-morrow. It may lay an egg."—Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph.
