Mix the following by shaking well in a bottle, and take in teaspoonful doses after meals and at bedtime:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Sarsaparilla, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. A local druggist is the authority that these simple, harmless ingredients can be obtained at nominal cost from our home druggists.

The mixture is said to cleanse and strengthen the clogged and inactive kidneys, overcoming Backache, Bladder weakness and Urinary trouble of all kinds, if taken before the stage of Bright's disease.

Those who have tried this say it positively overcomes pain in the back, clears the urine of sediment, and regulates urination, especially at night, curing even the worst forms of bladder weakness.

Every man or woman here who feels that the kidneys are not strong or acting in a healthy manner should mix this prescription at home, and give it a trial, as it is said to do wonders for many persons.

The Semanton (Pa.) Times was first to print this remarkable prescription, in October of 1906, since when all the leading newspapers of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburg and other cities have made many announcements of it to their readers.

Two Highland farmers met on their way to church. "Man," said Donald, "I was wonderin' what you will be askin' for yon bit sheep over at your steadin'?"

"Man," replied Dougal, "I was thinkin' I would be wantin' fifty shullin's for that sheep."

"I will tak' it at that," said Donald, "but och, man, Dougal, I am awful surprised at you doin' business on the Sawbath."

"Business!" exclaimed Dougal. "Man, sellin' a sheep like that for fifty shullin's is not business at all; it's just charity!"

Lump Jaw

The first remedy to cure Lump Jaw was

and it remains today the standard treatment, with years of success back of it, known to be a cure and guaranteed to cure. Don't experiment with substitutes or imitations. Use it, no matter how old or bad the case or what else you may have tried—your money back if Fleming's Lump Jaw Cure ever fails. Our fair plan of selling, together with exhaustive information on Lump Jaw and its treatment, is given in Fleming's Vest-Pocket Veterinary Adviser. Most complete veterinary book ever printed to be given away. Durable bound, indexed and illustrated. Write us for a free copy.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Miscellaneous.

SALIVATION IN COLT.

1. Would you prescribe for my colt? It is nine months old, and slavers so badly that his oat-box is half full of water; the slaver is water—no foam. The colt has not lost any flesh, and is feeling well.

2. Would it be advisable to give oil to a mare in foal about four months, and how much? She is a heavy mare and suckles a foal.

Ans.—1. Slaving is generally due to some uncomfortable condition of the teeth or mouth. Have the colt's mouth and teeth carefully examined, and remove the cause, if discovered.

2. Raw linseed oil is the safest purgative for an in-foal mare. From 1½ to 2 pints is a safe dose.

RAISING WATER TO HOUSE.

My well is situated about thirty yards from my house; it is down a slope. The bottom of the well is about twenty-five feet lower than the ground at the house.

1. Will you please tell me if I could bring the water to the house by a pump, or what would be the best and cheapest way of getting it to the house?

2. What size pipe would be required, and what kind?

I have been a subscriber to your paper for quite a time, and I am very much interested in it. Wishing you a Prosperous New Year.

New Brunswick.

Ans.—1. Yes, by putting down a dry well, about five feet deep, near the house, covered with a platform, and putting pump cylinder at bottom. If supply is for house alone, you can pump by hand; but if for stock, a windmill would relieve your elbow, and save valuable time.

2. Use 1½-inch galvanized-iron pipe.

NON-TRANSFER OF PEDIGREE.
A has an auction sale of pure-bred cattle. B buys a cow. The cow is sent to B, and, also, the pedigree; but the transfer of the pedigree is not signed to B, and A refuses to do so. How is B to get her calves registered?

SUBSCRIBER.

Ans.—Our correspondent does not state which breed of cattle he has reference to, although it makes little difference, as the point raised is covered in some way or other in the constitutions of the different record associations. If "A" is a member, he may be expelled for conduct prejudicial to the interests of the association, and thereby forfeit right to do further recording, or a transfer of ownership may be made under the following clause: "In case of neglect or refusal of the seller to give a certificate of transfer, the record of transfer may be made upon the written approval of the majority of the Executive Committee on evidence of the sale and delivery of the animal." This clause applies to members and non-members alike.

TANNING SKINS.

Would you please publishing in your paper a recipe for tanning muskrat and black squirrel hides—one for tanning and leaving hair on, and the other for tanning and taking it off?

Ans.—Soak well in soft water for two or three days to make it perfectly soft, then scrape off all flesh and fat. When thoroughly cleansed, put the hide into a tan composed of equal parts alum and salt dissolved in hot water, seven pounds of alum and salt to twelve pounds water, or in these proportions. The skin can be left in the brine for two days, after which it should be hung up and well scraped or shaved to soften it. After shaving well, put the hide back into the brine for a day or two; then hang up till quite dry, and shave or scrape again. After this, apply a coat of oil, roll up in damp sawdust, and lay away till dry. Apply a good coat of soft soap, and lay away again in sawdust. As scraping is the main operation in softening the skin, it should be well worked again when dry. Drawing the skin back and forth over a round pole will impart pliability. We have no recipe we feel safe in recommending for the tanning of muskrat skins that will remove the hair.
